order to get to the rear of the ware-house of the firm, it was necessary to drive the wagon into Cherry alley from Orange street. At the entrance to the alley at that time there was a rather deep gutter, and as the front wheels of the wagon went into it one of the cases slipped, and Kissinger, who was riding on the wagon, was in danger of being killed. To save himself he jumped upon the tongue

ed in filling the boilers of the engines at the Henry Clay furnace. of the wagon. The horses frightened and ran away and he fell under the wagon, Reformed Church. which passed over him. He died of his injuries five days after the accident. It is claimed by the plaintiff that this gutter was in an almost impassable condition at the time, and this suit was therefore county fair, brought against the city, whose duty it is to keep the streets in repair, for damages.

On next Monday morning at 9 o'clock A large number of witnesses testified to the nature of the accident and to the con- jurors will be drawn in the commissioners dition of the gutter, which was 15 or 18 office.

Illumination

Democratic residents of the city gener ally propose to illuminate on this occasion, not only along the route, but in all parts, as the thoroughfares will be crowded everywhere. Chinese lanterns, flags and portraits of the candidates are attainable and can be most effectively used.

The Sixth Ward Walk Around.

About 120 members of the Sixth ward club had a walk around last night, to try their new uniforms. Two companies of the Veterans and a drum corps marched at their head, and every quarter of the ward was visited, and there was a very general he lost his balance and fell forward to the illumination of Democratic houses and cheers from enthusiastic crowds on the street corners and sidewalks.
