Farm Notes.

The White Willow as a Hedge.

Some people are recommending this variety of the willow for hedging purposes, and say it will, in its fourth or fifth year, "turn any stock ever kept upon a farm."

There is some truth in this. We have some little acquaintance with the article. We think in about its sixth year all told, or fourth or fifth from the nursery, it will turn cattle or planted sufficiently close together—say from fifteen to twenty inches.

It is a rapid grower, and in early spring its early blooming is very beautiful. But we do those who plant it within fifteen feet of a well or drain! The roots wander in every direction and will water, we believe, at twenty feet or more. They exhaust the soil also for many feet on either side of the line quite as completely as the Osage orange without being nearly so valuable as the latter for hedging.

Some years ago we planted two specimens as ornamental shrubs, about eight feet from a stone spring conductor, eight inches square, four feet high, and about four or five years after planting the spring stopped running. Suspecting the cause the conductor was unearthed, and it was found for a distance of fifteen feet completely choked with the roots! They were so crowded that it was with some difficulty that they could be removed. That was the last of the white willow seen about our premises.

Cattle at the Fair. Any one attending the late state fair and noticing the number of contributors in the cattle department, must have been struck with the very few farmers and owners of fine stock who felt enough interest in the exhibition to counterbalance the trouble and expense of aiding in the display of cattle that always attracts so much attention.

It is one of those parts in a farmer's exhibition that more than any other involves an amount of interest that even the very children are brought up to estimate and regard as something particularly worthy their attention. No doubt the extremely warm weather for some ten days previous to and immediately up to the opening of the state fair kept many away on account of the risk—as two valuable animals died as it was—but this was not altogether enough as the actual cause of the deficiency. One prime cause was the labor and expense of driving the cattle a long distance, or of transporting them by rail; another was dissatisfaction with the awards of previous exhibitions. Another in disturbing the milk or butter arrangement with customers. For, it is clear that if the contributions were to be confined to only Montgomery, Bucks, Lehigh, Lancaster, Chester and Delaware counties, the display of cattle ought to have been five times what it was. Without an extensive display of cattle at a "cattle show," it seems to detract from everything else.

Big Horses. Within the last ten to twelve years there have been a considerable number of Percheron horses imported into this country, and not a few Clydesdale. The first is a gray or mottled animal of great weight and heavy proportions, and sometimes as much as 17 hands high. Few indeed are under 16 hands. They are broad-backed animals with stupendous legs and quarters, and some of them—contrary to their appearance—are quite active upon their feet, being very good steppers. Yet people would not be inclined to regard them as roadsters; but for teams and farm work generally, one would suppose them to be a rare acquisition, drawing heavy burthens and enduring great hardships.

The Clydesdale horse is generally a very dark bay, with black points, and is perhaps fully as heavy as the Percheron, but not so high. They are Scotch, while the other is French, but resemble each other very much in form. The Clydesdale has been very much in demand for heavy work in London and other large cities up to a very recent period; but strange to say its popularity is waning. At a late public meeting in relation to them as well as to use of all very high and heavy horses, after a full discussion of the question, a resolution was adopted in opposition to their use as street draught horses, and an agreement was reached to introduce a lighter animal not over 16 hands in height as being more available for street and rural service generally.

Feels Young Again. "My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system, with nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physician or medicine did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady, in Providence, R. I.

A Word to Our Readers. When you read of a remedy that will cure all diseases, beware of it; but when you read of a pure vegetable compound which claims to cure only certain kinds of the liver, and which has high proof that it does this, you can safely try and with the assurance that it will help you. This is just what Hop Bitters does. It cures all troubles of the lower portion of the body and none others. It will not hurt the stomach, cause no consumption, but it will put your body in a vigorous and healthy state when you can enjoy life and appreciate its good things. Try it.

HOP BITTERS. If you are a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain and nerve waste, take HOP BITTERS!

HOP BITTERS! If you are young, and suffering from any indigestion or dispepsia, take HOP BITTERS!

HOP BITTERS! If you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, take HOP BITTERS!

HOP BITTERS! Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take HOP BITTERS!

HOP BITTERS! Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, indigestion, or nervous prostration, blood, liver, or nerves? You will be cured if you take HOP BITTERS!

HOP BITTERS! If you are simply sick, are weak and low spirited, try it, and it will supply you. Your druggist keeps it. HOP BITTERS! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds. HOP BITTERS MANUFACTURING CO., Rochester, New York and Toronto, Ontario.
