THE QUESTION
That Confronts the American People.

For President: A Man whose Reputation is Secure With Respect to the Renowned Soldier and Upright Statesman Who will Restore This Country to its Early Purity.

A RINGING APPEAL FOR HANCOCK.
Soldiers and Citizens! Read and Cast Your Vote Accordingly.

To the Veteran Soldiers and Sailors of the Union:

The peaceful maintenance of the Union for which we fought is endangered by a combination of parties and selfish interests which attempts to renew the hates and contentions of a past conflict, in order to divert attention from the great issue presented to the people at the coming presidential election.

An immense army of officeholders, entrenched in governmental positions, which they use for their private and personal advantage, levying enormous contributions on the confederate beneficiaries of corrupt administration, struggle to obtain a new lease of power by appeals to the passions and misrepresentation; by fraudulent misrepresentation, and the usurpation of administrative functions. They endeavor to stir up sectional jealousy to array one portion of the country against the other, so that they may fatten on strife as they did during the civil war that ended nearly sixteen years ago.

Our misguided opponents in that war submitted their case to the stern arbitration of arms, and the decision being against them, they accepted the result in good faith, and are now staunch and patriotic supporters of the reunited nation. In his final report of operations at the end of the war, the General of the army expressed a "hope for perpetual peace and harmony with that enemy, whose manhood, however, mistaken the cause, drew forth such heroic deeds of valor." Within the past few months when he supposed that he was to become a candidate for the presidency, General Grant expressed the fulfillment of this hope of fifteen years before in the following language: "We have no reason to doubt that those who won the war will fulfill all they have promised in loyalty to the flag and the nation." The war having ended a long time ago, and there being no doubt of the "loyalty to the flag and nation" of those who were once arrayed against us, why should the hatreds of the civil war be revived now, when the healing touch of time has closed the wounds of strife, and we are once more a peaceful and prosperous people, united in fraternal, charity and loyalty to the Union as restored by the indomitable process of union arms, let us maintain it by the irresistible force of Union votes.

We fought for the Union, the whole Union, and nothing but the Union. Let us sustain what we fought for; let us insist on the preservation of the existing amity between all parts of our common country, which the officeholding party endeavors to disturb for purposes of plunder and spoliation. We want no political sectional divisions; we want no solid North and solid South, for the sake of other political divisions. We want no other political divisions. We want no other political divisions. We want no other political divisions.

Let us have a solid East, a solid West, and a solid Union. What we demand is a solid Union, North, East, South and West. To secure this we intend to elect Hancock.

The present party of disunion flout the noble rage of battle, nor are they unmindful that when the contest ended he scorned to trample on and insult the unarmed and defenseless vanquished.

He left that for the theorists who were not found in the field when the war was in progress, but who now, in the safe remoteness of legislative halls and lecture platforms at their rail in denunciations of those whom they failed to meet when the battle raged. The most vindictive are those who served their country, not with sword and rifle, but with profitable contracts for inferior supplies.

The bloody shirt of vindictiveness and hate. Let us wave our bloody shirt, which will be to us a victorious ensign—the bloody shirt worn by Hancock when he was carried off the field wounded by the fire of Longstreet at Gettysburg. Under that standard, in Hancock's great name we shall conquer.

Comrades! Vote as you fought—with Hancock for the Union. If our liberties are worth fighting for, they are worth voting for, and if we fail to protect them now it may be too late when an clutch of the officeholders and mammoth corporations is firmly fixed on the throat of the people.

Comrades! Guard the ballot-box. Permit no man to be coerced or intimidated in your presence. Your valor abolished negro slavery—let your firmness prevent the institution of white slavery by monopolists. Demand a free ballot! Demand it in the name of the American people, in the name of the Union which you saved! Insist that every elector shall have a right to vote without espionage or intimidation. Let every man who supports Hancock stand at the poll from sunrise to sunset on the second day of November, ready to do his duty as he did it when the Union was endangered before. Mount guard, Veterans! We fight for a free ballot, free count, honest canvass.

Chinese Cheap Labor.
A Protest from California Against the Principles of James A. Garfield.

The following address of the workingmen of California has been received by the National Democratic committee by telegraph:

"SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The Workingmen's party of California heretofore has been a party of other political party, but now having unanimously resolved to support Hancock and English, and send greeting to their brethren and sisters of labor throughout the East, North and South of their common country, without distinction of party, with respect to their relief. The toiling masses of California, once occupying the proud position of being the best paid and most prosperous of any in the Union, are reduced to want and in many instances beggary, by a horde of Chinese who have intruded themselves into every industry. The Chinese come without families, know none of the attachments of home or domestic surroundings, live in holes and sleep on shelves, subsist on rice and other Asiatic food, and do not assimilate with the civilization on the Pacific coast. The work of the factory and domestic service is in a great measure monopolized by them, so that the interests of the laboring women and children no less than those of the men are involved in the disastrous and unequal contest between the two races, the one of a higher, the other of a lower civilization. They have almost entirely driven the whites from the cigar, boot and shoe and clothing factories. They are also exclusively employed in the various branches of the laundry trade, and the canning of fruits and fish. The laundry work is completely in their hands, and in fact there is scarcely any employment or manufacture in which they have not entered and supplanted the Caucasian.

"Our skilled laboring men, who have spent years in learning trades, walk the streets without employment during the day, and return at night in despair to their impoverished homes and destitute families. Our boys are no longer apprentices, and are growing up in idleness without any of the noble trades. Our girls are driven from domestic service. No one can hope to compete with the Chinese in any branch of labor in which they choose to enter unless he sinks to the level, gives up all home and family ties, lives as the Chinese do, becoming as they are, a mere human machine. The Mongolian evil has reached us and is now destroying it. It will soon be upon you. It is not so far from New York to San Francisco as it is from Hong Kong to San Francisco.

"The 400,000,000 of Chinese have awakened from the slumber of ages, and unless their influx is checked they will flood the eastern states as they already have the Pacific coast. We can hope for no relief from the Republican party. That party, and especially Garfield, has always worked to promote Chinese emigration to this country and to give the Chinese the right of suffrage. In 1869 Garfield showed by his vote in Congress that he favored the Chinese suffrage; that he was, in 1874, for displacing whites with Chinese upon the work at the Mare Island navy yard, and in 1879 he voted to sustain the president's veto of the Chinese passage bill; a measure introduced and passed in Congress by Democrats, and which could have solved this great and burning question. Our only hope is the election of Hancock and English. The platform on which they stand speaks in no uncertain terms.

"We are not political agitators or malcontents, but the representatives of mechanics and other toilers who have been schooled and made to understand the Chinese problem by suffering and and want. This appeal is made not only for our sakes and our families, but for your sakes and your families. Heed it.

J. H. GRADY,
Chairman State Central Committee
Workingmen's Party of California.
D. J. GORDON,
Secretary Workingmen's Party."

The Truth is Not Liable.
New York star.

James Noah Davis lays down the law of libel thus: "If a public newspaper charges a man with being a liar, felon or forger, the editor is guilty of libel, unless the charges are true."

It is this qualifying clause that saves half the Republican newspapers of the country from being prosecuted by James A. Garfield.

On February 18, 1873, a Republican congressional committee formally proclaimed Mr. Garfield to be a bribe-taker and a perjurer. He has never instituted proceedings against any member of that committee for libel.

On February 19, 1873, the New York Tribune proclaimed Mr. Garfield a liar. He has never prosecuted the Tribune for libel.

On February 20, 1873, the New York Times proclaimed Mr. Garfield a perjurer. He has never prosecuted the Times for libel.

On March 15, 1873, Harper's Weekly proclaimed Mr. Garfield a disgraced fraud. He has never prosecuted Harper's Weekly for libel.

On February 21, 1873, the Buffalo Commercial and five days later the Indianapolis Journal, solemnly declared that Mr. Garfield, "certainly handled the stock and as certainly lied about it." He has never prosecuted either of these loyal Republican organs for libel.

We might expect the list, but it would be superfluous.

After Mr. Garfield has patiently rested for seven years under the stigma of fraud and perjury with which these radical organs branded him, and he has squared accounts with them and with Judge Poland before taking issue with a new and comparatively less dangerous antagonist?

Wanamaker & Brown.
OAK HALL, PHILADELPHIA.

Worth Knowing.

There is a place in Philadelphia where a stranger may buy his clothes, and fare as well as if he knew the whole city by heart; and if he knows nothing about the value of clothes, or of clothes, he is as well off as if he were a good judge of both.

The reason is that everything to be found there is made there—made and sold under a system which rarely allows mistakes to occur, and which corrects them if they do occur.

OAK HALL is the place; and its practice may be summed up in a few words. If you get there what you don't want to keep at the price, you return it, and get your money back.

This means a great deal more than appears on the surface. It means that you are not going to get what you will not want to keep at the price, if the merchant can help it. It means that the clothes you get there will be of honest cloth, honestly made; and that they will cost you less than as good clothes can be got elsewhere. It means that they will be every way better worth your money than you can get elsewhere for the same money.

If it means anything less than these things—if it means poor cloths, trimmings, cutting, sewing, or in any way dishonest or illiberal dealing; the return of his goods will plague the merchant, injure his credit and dissipate his trade.

If it means these things—if it means liberal and honorable dealing, valuable and trusty clothing, ease and safety in getting it, OAK HALL is the place for you to go to; or to send to; and it is worth your while to know how you can send, if it is inconvenient to go.

Write: say what your occupation is; say what sort of use you intend to make of the clothes you want; whether for everyday wear or otherwise; what color you prefer, or what color to avoid; say about what you want to pay; say everything that you think may aid a stranger in choosing for you. You will get in reply samples of cloths and prices of whatever you want made from these cloths. You will get also the means of having your measure taken by an unskilled person.

There is only one difficulty left. Somebody has got to take the risks of the dealing; for there are risks. Send your money along with your order. That covers the risk as to your good faith. We risk everything else; the fit and your satisfaction every way.

Our trade by mail amounts to half a million dollars a year; there's no reason why it shouldn't amount to five millions.
