LANCASTER DAILY INTELLIGENCER FRIDAY NOVEMBER 19, 1880

fair will continue open until Saturday even ing of next week.

St. Anthony's Fair.

The fair for the benefit of St. Anthony Catholic church continues in successful operation at Grant hall, and the attendance and receipts are very encouraging. Last evening a bountiful chicken supper was served. The books for the more valuable articles to be chanced off are not yet full, so that there yet remains for those who have not yet ventured the opportunity and this is probably the secret of the proof securing a handsome prize at a small posed demolition. The furnace, for a cost, and at all events the outlay is for a worthy cause. The fair will terminate on Monday evening when the results of the voting on different articles will be announced. The fair will be open to-moriew afternoon

ORDINATION OF A MINISTER.

Interesting Services at the Presbyterian Chapel.

A large and attentive audience assembled in the Presbyterian memorial chapel last evening to witness the ordination of the Rev. Jas. C. Hume as a minister in the Presbyterian church. An encouraging feature of the audience to the workers of the mission was the fact that it was largely composed of residents of the neighborhood in which the chapel is isituated. After the usual presbyterial business which attend these services, Rev. J. McCoy preached from 19th chapter Luke, 42d verse, "This thy day." He endeavored to show that the matter of living pure or impure lives, or accepting Christ or rejectingChrist, lays entirely with ourselves. We are free agents in the matter and our rewards or punishments hereafter rest with each one of us. Experience, living examples and testimonies benefit of the church. of men we had known ; conscence and the Bible showed us that it was better to accept Christ than reject him, and concluded with the question to the congregation :

"How will you all spend your day, with or without Christ?" After the sermon Rev. W.L.Lcdwith propounded the presbyterial questions to Mr. Hume, after which Rev. J. Y. Mitchell, D. D., made a prayer, during which the ministers present ordained Mr. Ilume by laying their hands upon his head, he kneeling in front of the pulpit.

Rev. C. W. Stewart, D. D., followed the ordination by charging him in regard to his duties as a Christian minister, the principal points of which were that he must be careful of his walk and conversation, careful in the preparation of sermons as he was speaking for eternity, that he must pray carnestly for the guidance of God's holy spirit in his work.

A Hard Fall.

This afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock, as Peter Diffenbaugh was crossing the railroad at the Walnut street crossing, an approaching train induced him to quicken his pace, and not noticing that there was a descent of two steps on the west side of the crossing he pitched forward down the steps and fell heavily to the pavement, severely cutting and bruising his face and badly spraining if not fracturing one of the bones of his left arm. A carriage was sent for and he was taken to his home, No. 237 East Orange street, where Dr. Atlee attends him.

Won a Rooster.

Mr. Levi B. Brubaker, of Millway, made an election bet with Mr. Albert Lewis, conductor on a Reading & Columbia passenger train, on the election result. If Garfield was elected Mr. B. was to have a rooster, and if Hancock was elected Mr. L. was to have a coon. As Hancock was defeated, Mr. Lewis fulfilled the promise by presenting to Mr. Brubaker a very handsome Plymouth Rock rooster weighing 12 pounds .-Lititz Record.
