COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

The farmers about here are all more or less busily engaged in stripping tobacco. Very few buyers have been around as yet. Miss Mary Bowman, of Marietta, was visiting in town to-day, the guest of Miss Marie E. Purple.

Engines 314 and 324 are in the shop at this place for repair, the former with a cracked fire box, to repair which will take about a week. The engine may possibly be sent to Altoona for a general overhauling.

There is a splendid sheet of ice before the town and the dealers are only waiting for a favorable temperature to commence cutting.

Postmaster Harry Hullen, in his Grand Army uniform, left Lancaster for Lancaster at 1:30 to-day.

The Vigilant fire company at its next meeting will elect officers for the year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Columbia fire company will be held this evening in the engine house parlors.

The Citizens will participate of good things to-night—'Mare anon'.

Henry Kneesteeper is building a small tobacco warehouse on his property at Sixth and Walnut streets.

The roof of a shed, under which new bricks were piled, at S. W. Parple's brick kiln, was broken down by the weight of the snow and water together.

Freeman's Election. At the regular monthly meeting of the Shawnee fire company, held in the engine house parlors, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing term of one year:

President—Michael Thomas. Vice President—Charles Cassidy. Secretary—John P. Frank. Treasurer—John G. Golin. Chief Engineer—Aron Gilbert. First Assistant Engineer—Michael Thomas.

Foreman—Peter Book. Trustees—Edward A. Bessell, Andrew Harnden and William Rankly. First Assistant Director—Edward Tracey.

The officers will take their seats at the next meeting of the company to be held on the first Thursday evening of January, 1881.

Diphtheria Scare. It is reported about town—and the report has reached the ears of several school teachers—that at the next meeting of the school board, which will be held on next Thursday evening one of our physicians will appear before the board and ask that the schools be closed while diphtheria remains prevalent. The disease is considered very contagious, and it is thought its continued prevalence is owing to a great extent, to the mingling of the school children in the school rooms.

A Columbia M. D. is reported as having said that a person inhaling the breath of a sufferer with diphtheria will either be taken with the disease himself or carry it to another. Whether this be true or not, the contagiousness of the disease is undoubted and the children, who are the principal sufferers by it, have an excellent chance of communicating it, one to the other, in the heated schoolrooms, where, in some cases, as many as thirty are together, sitting two and two to a desk and going by the dozens to recite in their classes. It is further reported that the school board, failing to order the closing of the schools, will be asked to remove the tinuops and benches from the school building, and to have the children leave a month's schooling than have them study where their lives are endangered.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS. Before Judge Livingston. The case of the Hanover Junction & Susquehanna River railroad company vs. Michael Moore is on trial upstairs. The evidence is the same in the case as when it was tried in February.

A motion for a new trial was made in the case of Roland vs. Grubb, before Judge Patterson.

In the case of Thomas D. Kelly vs. James Trimble & Co., the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Frank A. Ricker vs. the city of Lancaster and the county of Lancaster. This was an issue to ascertain the amount of damages sustained by the plaintiff by reason of the extending of North Pine street, from West King street to West Orange street, in the city of Lancaster. After the jury was sworn they were taken to view the premises; the city engineer and the plaintiffs opened their case. The defendants objected to the manner in which the case was to be tried, as they claimed that one verdict could not be found against both defendants by the jury. The court sustained objection and the plaintiff's case was taken on only and the issue made against the county only. The county solicitor filed an affidavit of surprise at this, but afterwards withdrew it.

The court then framed two issues, one against each defendant, and ordered that the cases both be tried at once, with the same jury. This the defendants were agreed to, but the plaintiff would not consent, but they filed an affidavit of surprise. A juror was then drawn and the case continued.

"ROTTEN INSURANCE" RISKS. The Record "Man in Town." H. M. Hunt, of the Philadelphia Record, who has done the admirable "rotten insurance" work recently appearing in that paper, was in Lancaster to-day. He finds less symptoms of this sort of fraud in this city than in any other section of Eastern Pennsylvania, but there are indications that the rascals were beginning to "get their work in" here.

Besides the suspicious insurance of $3,000 on the life of David B. Smith, heretofore noticed in the daily papers, and an insurance of $7,000 to the benefit of A. E. Keoperts on the late Mrs. Barbara Clements, another comes to light. John Gunnison died in this city about six months ago, aged 85, having been in invalid, confined to his bed for about five years previously. His relatives discover, greatly to their surprise, that Geo. Dush and Henry Lair, of York, who had no other interest in him, had his life insured for $3,500 in a company at Richmond, Pa. The insurance was effected when he was 83 years old, bedridden and unconscious. There seems to be a hitch in the payment, as the company officers want to "settle" it, while his relatives here indignantly repudiate all knowledge of or responsibility in the matter.

Reading School Directors. Messrs. Ancona and Habster, of the Reading school board, visited the meeting of the Lancaster school board, and this morning, in company with President Warfel, City Superintendent Buehrle, Musical Instructor Keviski, and a few others, visited the boys' and girls' high schools, Mr. Levergood's and Misses Dandell's, and Huber's secondary schools and Miss Zag's primary school. The object of the visiting school controllers is to ascertain the working of musical instruction in the public schools with a view of introducing music in the schools of Reading. At each of the schools visited the pupils sang for the visitors, who expressed themselves greatly pleased and astonished at the proficiency of the pupils. The party afterwards visited Franklin and Marshall college and other points of interest in the city.

THIEVES ABOUT.

Dwelling House and Tobacco Warehouse Entered—A Supposed Thief Arrested. F. B. Buch, of Litzitz, went out sleighing the other night, and while his horse was tied on the Litzitz turnpike, a prairie wolf skin robe worth $35 was stolen from the sleigh.

Lexington village has been visited by thieves. Joel Hibbet's shoe shop, Thos. Sand's hotel, Henry Eck's wagonmaker shop, and the East Lexington school house were victims of the spoliators.

Four weeks ago last Sunday night the store and postoffice of J. F. Kern's, Muddy Creek, Brecknock township were broken into and robbed of revolvers, shoes, clothing, stamps, &c. One of the thieves cut himself badly in getting through the door.

On Wednesday night a thief broke into the residence and private school of Mr. Abr. R. Beck, at Litzitz, and stole from the trunk room several pairs of pants and other clothing. Master Harry Reed, son of Geo. K. Reed, of this city, lost a pair of pants, Master Holl two pairs, and Master Sutton a pair of gold sleeve-buttons.

The thief entered the house by breaking open a window with tools that he stole from a blacksmith shop in the town. He ransacked the trunks of some ten boys, but took only the best clothing.

On Wednesday night 100 pounds of tobacco was stolen from Tobias Landis's warehouse. It belonged to Daniel W. Boat of West Willow; no clue to the thieves.

Matrimonial. On Wednesday at noon Edward Ingberich Smith was married to Mary Eleanor, daughter of Thos. J. Diehl, at the residence of the latter, on Walnut street above Nineteenth, Philadelphia. Both families are well known in Lancaster, and Miss Eleanor is a relative of the bride.

The bride, served as bridesmaid on the occasion. Mr. Smith is the grandson of Mr. Ingberich, who many years ago was a resident of this city, whence he removed to Philadelphia, to engage in the wholesale grocery business, in which he amassed a large fortune, in connection with his son-in-law, Mr. Smith; the firm finally going into business as bankers and brokers.

A Beautiful Afghan. We were to-day shown one of the handsomest afghans we have ever seen. It was made by Miss Katie Neidigh, of No. 44 East Vine street. It is two and a quarter yards long and is of the same width. The material used in its manufacture is zephyr, the principal colors being maroon and orange.

The large centre piece is of black tulle, and is surrounded by a border of iron gray braid, which, with the ground work, is of five different shades. The letters "C. W. S." are worked in the top of the centre piece. The afghan will be sent to Philadelphia, but persons desiring to see it, call on the artist, at No. 44 East Vine street, where they can see it, and who has seen it pronounced it a beautiful piece of work, and it certainly is.

District Deputy Grand Master E. J. Erisman has received information that the officers of the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. will visit this city next Tuesday for the purpose of examining the revised and rewritten work of the order. They will hold meetings at 3:20 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening. Lodges in the county will be represented by delegates.

At a meeting of lodge No. 67 I. O. O. F. last evening a report for the ensuing year was elected. The candidates were H. L. Frailey, the present janitor, and John Vackly. Mr. Frailey was re-elected.

G. A. B. This evening George H. Thomas post G. A. B. will elect officers for the ensuing year, after which they will sit down to a bean-bake to which all members of the order are invited.

Miss Leonard Gone. Miss Agnes Leonard, who has been ill at the Stevens house since her appearance in the opera house on Tuesday evening, had so far recovered yesterday as to be able to leave her company. She left in the afternoon at 3:35.

E. L. Hambricht and Adam Dietrich (Goon) went to Stanton, Va., to-day, to go from there to Robert Glendarr's hunt deer and other large and small game.

Obituary. Carolina Mills Glassman, wife of Daniel F. Glassman, who was born in Lancaster county, January 29, 1824, died in Condersport, Pa., November 18, 1880.

TRIASURER WELCHANS' VINDICATION. He Appeals to the Citizens of Lancaster. To the Citizens of Lancaster: A committee of councils, of which Mr. Robert A. Evans is chairman, has presented to councils a report calculated to mislead you and to injure my reputation. Valuing that reputation and feeling grateful for the confidence you have reposed in me, I address this communication to you.

The interest glances at the report, candidly and impartially as it is drawn, will show that no money collected by me has been unaccounted for, but that the committee has reported a resolution to councils instructing the city solicitor to sue out my bond for the neglect of duty of the city, and that there was my duty which Mr. Evans was at the time chairman. On page 153 of the city ordinances, sec. 17, you will see "That it shall hereafter be the duty of the receiver of taxes of the city of Lancaster to place the duplicate of the list of each ward of each ward in the hands of the mayor of said city as soon after the first day of December annually as the proper committee of councils of said city shall have ascertained and reported to said councils the amount of tax due and collected on the same, on and up to first day of December; whereupon said mayor shall, &c." You will see by this that it was the duty of the finance committee to audit my accounts, to ascertain and report to councils the amount of tax due and collected, and that there was my duty to hand to the mayor the duplicates for collection. I am in no way responsible for the non collection of the tax; the finance committee should have reported the amount of delinquencies, and the mayor should have handed the list to the several collectors. May I not say that it is shameful for that very finance committee under the lead of one who was chairman at the time this duty was neglected to hold me up as criminal when the neglect of duty was theirs, not mine? The committee also intimates that I created difficulty in the examination of my books. This is, to state it mildly, incorrect. My books are numerous and heavy; to properly explain them may require reference to papers, and documents kept on file in the city treasurer's office. I, therefore, when the committee asked me to bring my books up stairs into the council chamber, told them this, and asked them to meet in the treasurer's office, when I would lay open every thing to them. Would they not have accepted of this? They did not. They did not treat me fairly? Does it not show some personal motive when they lead you to infer that I concealed from them information?

The report of the finance committee states that I declined to state where I kept my account and what was the amount deposited. You will observe that this committee is the tail of the special committee actuated by the same motives. Everybody who gets a check from me knows where I keep my account, but I thought the question impertinent and so treated it.

I will here say to you that my account is kept in a national bank in which you all have entire confidence, and my bail is sufficient to pay much more than the amount for which you are so anxiously seeking it. This protects you against loss, even if I do not do my duty, but it does not protect me against personal malice. I might protect myself from this by removing the city deposits from where they are and depositing elsewhere. My sense of duty does not permit me to do this and I must bear the consequences.

I have been, am, and shall continue to be your faithful servant, EDWARD WELCHANS.

THE GALLOWES.

A Young Man Hanged for Murder. CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 3.—John Callahan was hanged at Wooster to-day for the murder of Benjamin Jarmil, October 20, 1879. Callahan was one of a gang of roughs at an agricultural fair who set upon a young man named Frank Martin. Jarmil went to Martin's rescue, when Callahan turned on him and stabbed him in the back, inflicting mortal wounds. Of the rest of the gang James Sadtler has been sentenced to the penitentiary for 19 years; Alexander McGowen, senior and junior, 12 years each, and Michael Burke and Michael Mulready were never arrested, they having fled.

Callahan, though only 23 years of age, bore a bad reputation and was regarded as a desperado. He was calm during his last days. Last night his spiritual advisers remained with him till 10 o'clock, and his parents until 1 o'clock, and the sheriff till 2, after which he retired and slept until morning. He ate a hearty breakfast with apparent relief.
