Christmas at Columbia. Our Regular Borough Correspondence. Fatal Accident—Stores and Banks Closed—Obituary—The Holiday Season.

The Christmas festivities were begun long before daylight by a band of colored citizens who—as has been the custom for years—marched through our principal streets singing their Christmas songs as only darkeys can. Next came early mass at St. Peter's and Holy Trinity Catholic churches...

Placed of business, except candy and cigar stores and saloons, were closed; the postoffice kept Sunday hours; the Christmas whisky seemed soiling and even drunken men were scarce. The Satchemman rolling mill hands were paid for two weeks; the snow shovellers had plenty to do; Helen Potter Pleades entertainment at the opera house on Christmas evening was a grand success.

On Christmas morning Mrs. Conrad Rowan an aged lady, was returning home from early mass she slipped on an icy pavement and, falling, struck her head against a stone step and almost immediately expired. Deputy Coroner John P. Frank held an inquest and rendered a verdict that deceased came to her death from "conclusion of the brain caused by striking her head upon a stone step, &c., &c., as above."

Died at her late residence on Chestnut street, Miss Catherine Cole after a lingering illness. The funeral took place this afternoon, and remains to be interred at Maricotta.

On Friday morning Miss Peart, residing on North Third street, slipped and fell down a cellar stairway and sustained a fracture of the wrist. This lady had her arm broken by a fall about five or six years ago.

Quite a long list of Columbia boys spent Christmas at home. Among them: C. Taylor Auwerter, Andrew S. Beiter, Geo. B. Beneman, Jeff Gillman, Charles Kerr, John Kerr, William A. Joseph, Joseph H. Krummer, Jos. McLaughlin, Harry Pablar, Charles Haldeman, Will H. Fenrich, Elias H. Sneath, All Ames, James Zenger, Senor Bletz, Nat Baker, Will Shuman and Dr. D. Emmett Weiss—mechanists, clerks, school boys and professional students. Among the visitors we noticed DeWitt C. Denny and George King of Harrisburg; Walter Barr, of Philadelphia; John Barr and Will Steiman, of Lancaster; Morris Glover, of Harrisburg; Will Wells, of Altoona; Will Krieger, of Carlisle; Will Strook, of Harrisburg.

Here and There and Everywhere. Mr. Haas has died at Middletown from injuries received by the fall of the wall at the car shops.

Twenty prominent gentlemen friends of W. E. Wier, esq., of Middletown, presented him with a gold-headed cane on Friday. There were speeches and a handsome entertainment.

While Mrs. E. H. Kauffman, residing on the Harrisburg turnpike was putting the Christmas turkey into the stove, she upset by pulling water, terribly scalding her head and face.

W. A. Bell, aged 50, a contractor of Dauphin, Pa., well known here, died yesterday.

Henry Shuber has sold the property of Mrs. Emma L. Smith on the north side of West Chestnut between Charlotte and Mary to John F. Keller for $4,000. Value improved lot, corner of Duke and Green, to be offered for sale at the Cooper house to-night.

Some one has blocked the railroad somewhat. Some of the P. R. R. trains have difficulty climbing Water street.

Nine police arrests on Christmas morning and the same number this morning were disposed of by the mayor with discharges and terms in jail of from five to thirty days "according to merit."

On Friday, Mrs. James K. Alexander surprised her husband, mine host of the Railroad Hotel, Quarryville, with a splendid birthday dinner, largely attended by his friends from town and country.

Friday evening as two boys were driving a blind horse attached to a sleigh, on South Queen street, they ran into another in which were T. C. Myers and Levi W. Groff, breaking the sleigh, throwing out both occupants, and severely injuring Mr. Groff, who was struck in the breast with one of the shafts.

Court met on Christmas day at 10 o'clock in the morning. The judgment docket was called and 17 judgments were entered. For contempt there was a meeting this morning and the cases in opponents' court are being argued.

Among the Mount Joy boys who spent Christmas in borough are, Lincoln Good, Budd Cunningham, Frank Sholl, of Philadelphia, George Doyle and C. E. Geyer, of Lebanon Valley college, and Clayton Hoffman, of Millersville normal school.
