DOES SUSPENSION SUSPEND?

A Lively Row-Welchans' Office has Police men for Door Posts.

Last night as soon as the resolution suspendingCity TreasurerWelchaus from office had passed councils, the finance committee called upon the mayor and asked him to detail officers to protect the city treasurer's office. The mayor detailed Officers Swenk and Gilen to that service, and one of them stood guard at the front door and the other at the back door all night. About 6 o'clock this morning Treasurer Welchans called at his office and attempted to enter. The police, under instruction, refused him admittance and the treasurer went home. At give a sociable at the residence of James the treasurer's office, and after waiting music. there for some time sent Officer Swenk to the treasurer's residence with a request that he meet the committee at the treasurer's office. The treasurer sent word back that he was acting under advice of counsel and would not meet the committee until he had consulted counsel. Some time afterwards the city treasurer, accompanied by his counsel, ex-Mayor Atlee and J. Hay Brown, esq., called at the treasurer's office, and Mr. Atlee asked what "these people" were doing there. He was informed that the finance committee had taken possession under authority of a resolution passed by city councils. Mr. Atlee told Treasurer Welchans to take possession of his office, and requested Alderman Barr, the clerk of the finance committee, to retire from the treasurer's desk at which he was sitting. Alderman Barr said he was acting under orders of the finance committee and the city solicitor, and declined to leave. Mr. Atlee then asked the city solicitor by what authority he had asked the mayor to place policemen at the doors of the treasurer's office and prevent the treasurer from entering. solicitor answered that it was by the authority of the finance committee. Mr. Atlee asked the city solicitor to produce the law under which the finance committee assumed such authority. The city solicitor did not produce the law. Mr. Brown, of counsel for the treasurer.

requested the city solicitor to go into court and have the legality of the proceedings tested. The solicitor declined to do so, affirming the legality of the suspension of the treasurer and the legal possession of his office by the finance committee. Mr. Brown thereupon told the treasurer to protect the safe and the books and papers of the city, from any quarter, to the ex. place, a member of the board of officers to tent of shooting, if necessary Treasurer Welchans said he would do so, and placing himself in front of the safe, drew a revolver from his pocket, and laid it on the desk in front of him. The treasurer's counsel then retired, and as laws. The appointment is quite a compli they were going out of the door the treas | ment to Captain Case, who is the only urer inquired what he should do with the officer appointed from central Pennsylvamob in his office. His counsel told him nia. to order them out, at they had no business there, but as his office was a public one, open to the public, he had better not use ing: Elders, L. C. Oberlin and John Sterford and the public of the public one, open to the public of the public one of the E. E. Lutheran church were elected last evening: force, unless they interfered with him. After Messrs. Atlee and Brown had left the office, the city solicitor demanded the keys, books, papers, &c., from the treasurer. The treasurer refused to give them up. The solicitor then ordered the treasurer to leave the office. The treasurer smiled blandly and declined to go.

Thus matters remained for some little time, the treasurer holding the committee at bay by force of arms, solicitor and committee putting their heads together and consulting occasionally in the back office, Alderman Barr quietly occupying a seat at the treasurer's desk, the reporters alert to catch at anything of interest, the police on hand to keep the peace, and a few interested spectators seated on the office settees. The happiest looking man in the party was Select Councilman Boring, of the Ninth ward.

About 11 o'clock Messes. Atlee and Brown returned to the office and stated that as the city solicitor had refused to go into court, as they thought he ought to do. they bad, after consultation, determined to go into court themselves, and as soon as they could do so, which would not perhans be more than two hours, they would prepare and file a bill in equity asking the court to restrain and enjoin the finance committee from furter interference with the duties of the city treasurer. In the meantime they cautioned the treasurer to hold the fort, and neither to take away from the office any books, papers or other valuables, or permit any one else to do so.

After a rather angry coloquy between ex-Mayor Atlee and Select Councilman Eberly the party separated, leaving the treasurer and Alderman Barr on guard. The Legal Proceedings.

Lawyers Atlee and Brown presented Judge Livingston in chambers a petition setting forth the above facts and asked for an injunction against the city and all or any of its agents, to prevent them or any of them from interfering with the city treasurer in any way in the discharge of his duties. A preliminary injunction was granted. City Solicitor Landis and Attorneys D. G. Eshleman and G. M. Kline, engaged to assist him, moved to dissolve the injunction and this motion will be argued next Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Until then affairs will remain in statu quo ante bellum.

The Law. The act of April 5, 1867, Sec. 25, as altered by the act of May 22, 1878, under which the finance committee act, says:

"The said treasurer shall verify his cash account at least once in every month, to the satisfaction of a standing committee of councils, and upon the affidavit of a majority of such committee to any default therein, the said treasurer may be suspended from office, and another appointed until the further action of councils; and the said treasurer, at the expiration of his term of office, shall deliver all moneys, books and papers in his hands belonging to the said office to his successor in office.

Episcopal Convocation. The missionary meeting at St. James church last evening was quite a large one, considering the inclemency of the weather and the almost impassible condition of the

A THAW.

Snow Slides and Slushy Streets. The heavy rain and sleet of last night followed by the mild weather this morning, have left the streets in a shocking condition, much of the snow being melted only in boxes. and forming a slush shoetop deep. The gutters in many places are clogged with snow and ice, and the melting snow is running in all directions through unaccustomed channels. The weight of the snow on roofs and awnings is so great that there is danger of some of them being crushed in, and all over town people are engaged in removing the snow from them. A great many heavy slides of snow from housetops have fallen upon the sidewalks, endangering the life or limb of passers-by, but thus far no serious casualties are re-

The Gas.

Complaints continue loud and strong against the bad gas. The Moravian church on account of it; Hager & Bros. and other stores closed soon after dark for the same reason; and many private families are using coal oil and candles to save themselves from poisoning and suffecation. In the Trinity Lutheran church Dr. Greenwald dismissed the congregation last evening on account of the impure gas. The Episcopal convocation suffered greatly. C. A. Heinitsh, druggist, put out gas and used lamps; C. H. Barr, book store, Hoar & McNabb, dry goods, and Aug. Barnwell's Art Entertainments This interesting series of Art Entertainments, to be given at the Court House, for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian association, on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week and next week, will comprise London, the great metropolis; India, the Paradise of the East: Pompeii and the wonders of Italy; and Egypt and Palestine, the Bible lands. The exhibition of statuary from evening to evening will also be very fine, the selection of pieces being those which are regarded the finest in the world. No similar exhibition has been given in Lancaster since the Sun Course of Prot. Cromwell, some seven or eight years ago, which is even yet spoken of with pleasure by all who had the good fortune to attend those grand entertainments. In an exhibi tion of this kind, with large canvas and the oxy-hydrogen light, objects stand out in bold reliet on the canvas, as seen through the best stereoscope, with the advantage that they are much larger and seem more real. Indeed, one can hardly realize at times that he is not looking at objects of solid masonry, architecture and statuary, and any person can form almost as correct a conception of the objects repre-sented as he could from their actual presence. This is one of those rare entertainments that

Difficulty of Obtaining Port Wine. The difficulty of obtaining a pure Port Wine for sickness is one great cause why physicians refuse to prescribe it where they know it would benefit their patient, because they fear against the bad gas. The Moravian church that some poisonous mixture will be given services had to be adjourned last evening them instead of Port Wive, and the injury be irreparable. California wines are being terribly mixed and adulterated with alcohol and water and other ingredients to make it cheap, so as to bring a greater profit from the sales. The most excellent and finest Port Wine is made in New Jersey, from the Oporto Grape by Alfred Speer, and has become the most re-liable wine for Hospital and Communion purposes. This Wine has been thoroughly analyzed, and is pronounced by chemists to be the pure juice of the grape, and to contain the most valuable medicinal properties. Cramps, Cholera Morbus, Pain in the Stomach and Bowels, twent; to thirty drops diluted with water.

The following certificate speaks for itself:
Cure of Chronic Neuralgia—It gives me pleasure to add my testimonial to others in favor of the "Celebrated II II. II. Horse Medicine—D. D. T., 1808," as a remedy for both men and beast. For nearly 3 years I was afflicted with the chronic neuralgia, and tried various remedies with only temporary relief, until at with the chronic neuralgia, and tried various r. medies with only temporary reief, until at last after being confined to my bed nearly eight weeks I was induced to try your valuable medicine and with the most satisfactory results, as I grew better from the time I commenced using it, and after using but four bottles the pain all left me, and for the last six months I have felt nothing of it. I have seen it used in cases of rheumatism with the same good effect, and can cheerfully say that I fully believe that it will do all that you claim for it. Yours truly, JOHN B. KIRKBRIDE, Bustleton, 23d Ward, Philadelphia.

This medicine is as effectual in the treatment This medicine is as effectual in the treatment of the horse as well as persons. No norseman should be without a bottle in his stable or house, in case of accident, as it is a sure cure for the following diseases of horses:

THIRD EDITION.

THUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 6, 1881.

THE GALLOWS.

TWO DOUBLE HANGINGS TO-DAY.

Execution of Hayes and Sullivan in Phil-adelphia and of Mrs, melerhoffer and Frank Lammens at Newark.

The Philadelphia Hanging. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—Sullivan and Hayes were hanged in the county prison at 10:37 this morning.

Both men passed a calm, though almost leepless night. The priests arrived at the prison early, and religious exercises were kept up until the time for their execution. At 10:25 a. m. Sullivan was brought down from his cell on the upper tier to the door of Haves's cell on the ground floor, and immediately after the procession formed and proceeded to the gallows near the end of the same corridor. Both men walked firmly, Hayes being accompanied by Rev. Fathers Daily and Masterson; Sullivan followed, accompanied by Rev. Father Neal.

On the scaffold both men knelt and prayed, the priests kneeling between farmers in the district. them, and when they arose Hayes laid aside the beads upon which he had been had left behind was growing to years of talling his provers and attempted to adtelling his prayers, and attempted to address those present, speaking in a wild and incoherent manner. Two of the priests ter 1870, the last one stating that her reasoned with him, persuading him not to mother and a sister, who was born in the speak, but he continued in spite of remonstrance to talk in a rambling manner. He seemed anxious to narrate the history of his married life, but at last yielded, as he himself said, to the request of his pas tor, at the same time protesting that he was not afraid of the gallows.

Meanwhile Sullivan stood calmly kissing his crucifix and listening to the exhortations of the third priest.

Finally Hayes expressed his hope for forgiveness, forgiving all himself. The priests retired to the top step of the gal lows, where they knelt, the nooses were adjusted, and at 10:37, while the priests were reciting the De Profundis, the drop fell. Both bodies received a fall of four Hayes appeared to die without a struggle, and in 21 minutes the beating of his were cut down, when it was ascertained ing for a certificate of birth. This n that both had died of strangulation.

AT NEWARK.

Mrs. Melernoffer and Her Paramour Hang-ed for the Murder of the Former's Husband-Lammens Dies Pro-testing His Innocence.

NEWARK, Jan. 6 .- Mrs. Meierhoffen and Frank Lammens, her paramour, were hanged here this morning for the murder of Mrs. Mcierhoffer's husband. The woman was very pale and deeply affected, but walked to the gallows without assistance and died without uttering a word. Immediately afterward Lammens was hanged from the same gallows. Declaring his innocence, he asked to see the jury that convicted him, but they were not present.

HENRIETTA, Tex., Jan. 6.-James A. Curtis, a prominent cattle man of Northern Texas, was shot and killed in a saloon at Cambridge on Tuesday night by Van Rice who had formerly worked for him, and had been discharged. Rice also received three shots from Curtis before the latter died, and as he (Rice) was having his wounds dressed at the doctor's office some unknown person, supposed to have been some friend of Curtis, fired a shot through the window, striking him in the breast and inflicting a mortal wound. THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Her Majesty on the Condition of Her Do-LONDON, Jan. 6.-The Queen's speech was delivered to Parliament to-day. It notes a gradual though not very rapid development in the trade of the country. The social condition of Ireland has assumed an alarming character, and agrarian crimes have been greatly multiplied. The administration of justice has been frustrated and terrorism has been established in parts of Ireland. Proposals will therefore immediately be made to Parliament to entrust the crown with additional powers necessary for the vindication of the law. At the same time the queen desires the pacification of Ireland and recommends legislation suitable to the special wants of Ireland.

PHILADELPHIA AND READING. The Question of Postponing the Election in the Courts.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 6.—The application of the directors of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad company for a postponement of the annual election from Monday next until the return of Franklin B. Gowen from England, came up in the United States circuit court this morning, on the confirmation of the report of the masters who recommend that the petition be dismissed first, for the want of jurisdiction; secondly, because the charter imperatively fixes Monday next as the day, and thirdly, the call for Musical Fund hall has been virtually approved by the directors in their testimony before the masters, no office of the company being sufficiently Beavily Laden With a Welcome Cargo. On a truck patch at Sixteenth and Dick-inson streets, Philadelphia, lives a family named Glen. They are in rather poor cir-cumstances. The husband works the truck farm and sustains a family consisting of a wife and four children. Recently the wife was notified that her father had died in Melbourne, Australia, leaving $1,500,000 to her. The story told by the Glen family is this: Somewhere about thirty years ago James Boyle, his wife and two children were living upon a farm in Laghtnagallagh, county Donegal, Ireland. Years of hard toil and struggling with the impoverished soil had failed to place the farmer in a comfortable position, and fin-ally, when his lease expired he determined to seek his fortune elsewhere. A home was found for the children—the girl Mary, who was then a babe, being placed with her grandparents—and Boyle and his wife took passage for Victoria, Australia. On arriving at the colony he obtained employment, and by care and industry saved enough in a few years to have a farm. nough in a few years to buy a farm. Prosperity continued to attend him, and eventu-ally he became one of the most extensive

Meanwhile the baby daughter whom he brought words of good cheer from her pa-rents, but the welcome missives ceased afcolony, had died, and that her father had given up farming and was investing heavily in gold mines near Ballarat. In 1871 Miss Mary married Glen, and imme-diately afterward the couple embarked for this country. They are now living with their children on a truck farm, in a three-story brick house at Sixteenth and

Dickinson streets. For nine long years Mrs. Glen had mourned her father as dead. Often, almost hoping against hope, she wrote to her fardistant home, but none of the letters elicited a response. A few months ago, however, a letter with the Irish postmark reached the house. This proved to be from an uncle, and contained the information that her father had died leaving an estate of 9885,000, nearly $1,500,000; that her only brother had also died in 1874, and that therefore she (Mrs. Glen) was the sole surviving legatee to her father's wealth. This information seemed almost incredible to the Glens, who could not realize the possibility of being raised beat for sixteen minutes. Sullivan strug-gled violently, and it was seventeen pair gled violently, and it was seventeen min- ters were sent to the Australian ntes before the physicians pronounced him dead. After hanging 27 minutes the bodies a letter from solicitors in Melbourne askbe obtained from Ireland, and the whole charge of the matter has been placed in the hands of Lawyer John Austin Purcell, who will take the necessary steps by which the family can come into possession of the enormous fortune .- Record.
