THE GAS.

Not Yet in Good Condition. The gas was better last night than on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, but yet far from good; and many persons insist that they will not pay their bills this quarter without abatement. They are ready to test it in the courts, whether they are eatirely at the mercy of the consolidated corporation.

Dr. M. L. Herr says the stuff now being poured into Lancaster houses is villainous, and that in his practice he has had a family almost poisoned by it. Dr. H. E. Muhlenberg attributes hemorrhage experienced by his patient, Mr. Michael Zahm, to the noxious gases inhaled by him. Dr. C. A. Greene writes to us to-day from the Stevens house as follows: "The quality of the gas has somewhat improved in the last forty-eight hours. Yet there is escaping from the gas jets while burning non-inflammable noxious gases, that have no business in a rightly made illuminating hydro-carbon vapor. Sulphurous fumes have passed off so largely that there is a deposit of sulphur on all the silver and silver-plated utensils all over the hotel."

A large number of consumers of the gas manufactured at the old works were called upon by a representative of the INTELLI-GENCER this morning and the general verdict was that the gas last night was much better than for several nights preceding, but that it was yet bad both in odor and illuminating power. A few consumers still refuse to use it and others who shut it off for two or three nights say they will try it to-night again. Two or three physicians, who are attending patients with weak lungs, have forbidden the use of gas in their patient's rooms.

COL, SANFORD'S ELOQUENCE.

The Talisman That is Said to Inspire it. The Altoona Sun in a rather extended notice of Col. J. P. Sanford, the distinguished traveler and lecturer, well known in this community, is responsible for the following: "The gentleman has piece of pavement from the villa of Cicero, which that great orator's own feet trod upon as struction and composition of this wonderleast idea as to what it is made of. It is related of Colonel Sanford that he never appears upon the rostrum without this piece of pavement in his pocket, from which he claims to derive the inspiration that animates his eloquent lectures,

Birthday Celebration

Yesterday being the thirty-eighth birthday of Mr. John Spangler, quite a number of his friends, including the Liederkranz, of which society Mr. Spangler is vice president, assembled at his residence to present him their good wishes. After congratulatory speeches by Prof. Haas in German, and John A. Coyle, esq., in English, the party sat down to a sumptuous repast, which, together with the very excellent singing of the Liederkrauz, were thoroughly enjoyed. After spending several hours in social intercourse, the party separated with best wishes for many happy returns of Mr. Spangler's natal day.

Unmaliable. In the letter rack at the postonice is a letter addressed to "John Bausman, Cum berland county, Pa." Cumberland county covers a great deal of territory and there are a great many postoflices therein, and our postmaster don't know to which of them to send Mr. Bausman's letter. If the writer of the letter will inform the postmaster where Mr. Bausman lives, the letter will be forwarded, otherwise it goes to the dead letter office.

Difficulty of Obtaining Port Winc. The difficulty of obtaining a pure Port Wine for sickness is one great cause why physicians refuse to prescribe it where they know it would benefit their patient, because they fear that some poisonous mixture will be given them instead of Port Wire, and the injury be irreparable. California wines are being terribly mixed and adulterated with alcohol and water and other ingredients to make it cheap, so as to bring a greater profit from the sales. The most excellent and finest Port Wine is made in New Jersey, from the Oporto Grape, by Alfred Speer, and has become the most reliable wine for Hospital and Communion purooses. This Wine has been thoroughly anayzed, and is pronounced by chemists to be the pure juice of the grape, and to contain the nost valuable medicinal properties. It is sold by druggists, who purchase direct from Mr.

Speer's Vineyards in New Jersey.-Eccning Post. The above wine has become in great demand in New York and Brooklyn for communion and hospital use. This wine is recommended by Drs. Atlee and Davis, and for sale by H. E. Slaymaker,
