TUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 11, 1881. Sleighing on the Susquehanna.

For the INTELLIGENCER. Of late years it is a very uncommon thing for the Susquehanna to be frozen so that it can be driven across at Peach Bottom. It is in that condition now and the passengers are quite numerous, and the novelty of the ride adds another charm to the charms of sleighing. Last Sunday your correspondent, in company with Messrs. 11 UMAUI I. C. Arnold and David Weidley, drove to the river at Peach Bottom, found a canoe doing toll-gate duty at the ferry landing, which swung on its imaginary hinges upon the application of a Silver key, and settled back to stop the next who came, as we slid through and out of the frozen stream, that recognizes no fetter but the ones of old Jack Frost. As he glides over the ice with his horse stepping to the tune that the sleigh bells ring, and sees the picturesque rocks and islands covered with ice and snow, with the trees standing on the islands looking like giants stuck in a drift, and the bushes that seem like mortals laden with care, bending down with their weight of snow, which they could easily shake off if they would only "make an effort," as Mrs. KIDNEY DISEASES Dombey's sister-in law would have put it: as he sees all this, with the hills on the shore looking out over the frozen field, like old men with snow-covered heads, their great white beards frozen into icicles and hanging down from great caverns of mouths, round which no smiles play, for their smiles settled into hard lines when the voice of their darling river was won from them by the wiles of the cunning frost. In grim silence they look down upon the beautiful frost work, as the sleighs go jingling by, with the most ursympathizing air, and gather frowns around their brows at the nonsense, as we have seen frowns form upon the brows of stern parents, as they have seen their daughters waltz away with young ous humors that develop in Kidney and Uri-nary Discases, Biliousness, Jaundice. Consti-pation, Piles, or in Rheamatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Di-orders and Female Complaints. men at picnics. As I said, when he sees imagines all this (we would seen and imagined a great more, no doubt, if a driving snow had not been striking us in the faces and somewhat dampened our poetic ardor) one almost forgets that he is gliding above rocks and rapids, clear of which the boats always try to steer, and only remembers that he might break through when he sees only a few feet before his track a pile of tree branches as a warning that a horse and sleigh did go in there only two days before. We are often plunged into great dangers by trying to see how near we can go to them safely, NERVOUS DERILITY. And as one looks miles and miles up the river of ice and sees the great distances between the shores, and turns to look miles and miles down the river of ice, where he sees it he naturally thinks, if he is as practical a chap as your scribbler, "What a wonderful waste of land. Here are almost numberless acres of Lancaster county land upon which millions of pounds of "thirtycents all-round" tobacco might be grown, laying idle, or if not exactly idle, only useful to carry off a great, monstrous, wayward, useless river of water to the ocean, that has plenty without it, and doesn't thank us for our unruly representative." Of course such utilitarianisms do not occupy our minds for any length of time with new and beautiful scenes continually presenting themselves as we follow the tortuous track, that, after a two miles drive, brings us to the York county shore Only Vegetable Compound that -the petal of the white sister of our "red DRUMORE.

Brandy as a Medicine

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physi-cian of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those af-

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which ween away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we pre-sent to the favorable notice of invalids—espe-cially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debuity, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

Reigart's Old Brandy,

In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the sound by taken hear appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which helchose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a lit-tle occasionally; and since he has this medi-
