COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORKESPONDENCE The funeral of Witmer R. Daily, son of James H. Daily, dispatcher at the Pennsylvania railroad office, at this place, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his father on Walnut street, above Fourth, and was largely attended. The remains were interred in Mount Bethel cemetery. (Daily, it will be remembered, was the victim of the railroad accident at Parkesburg on Sunday, January 16.)

We inadvertently erred in our letter of yesterday in saying the Shawnee furnace would be connected with the telephone ex-change this afternoon. It should have read "Shawnee rolling mill." The connection was made and works well.

At a meeting held in Odd Fellows hall last evening the following officers and directors of the Columbia building association were elected to serve for the ensuing term of one year: President, William Clark; Vice President, W. W. Upp; Treasurer, Abram Bruner; Sceretary, J.L. Pinketon; Directors, Hiram Wilson, H. F. Bruner, Wm. B. Fasig, John Shen-berger, Samuel S. Clair, J. A. Meyers, A. J. Musser. The association has been in existence about thirteen years and is now running its third and fourth series.

Milton Wike yesterday celebrated in his old way the fiftieth anniversary of his birth. He had his friends about him from morning until evening and entertained them in a sumptuous style. A. J. Kauff. man, esq., in behalf of those present, preseated to Mr. Wike a handsome silver nitcher as a token of esteem.

With the end of this week the Columbia ice houses will all be filled. The weather still remains cold with no probability of a let up before to-morrow. Sleighing on the river is yet very good. It is good in the country, but not very good in town. No tobacco purchases that we have heard of have as yet been made about here. It seems strange that the buyers do not put in an appearance as the weed here grown is not excelled in quality by any in the county, or for that matter in the state. There is plenty of it, too.

A pupil of the high school being asked how many school directors had visited his school this term replied "only one and he was there to see about the coal." How is that for high? This same pupil has a brother-in-law a member of the board,

Skating on the river was grand yesterday, but the wind blew a gale and was as cold as an iceberg. In consequence, those of our skaters who went to the river made a short stay.

Joseph Tyson, an old resident of Columbia, is dangerously ill and confined to his residence on Locust street above Fourth. "Uncle Joe," as he is better known, is 81 years of age.

Thomas J. Knipe, a lawyer, is a candidate for justice of the peace in the Second ward. Mr. Knipe is a Democrat and will be hard to beat, no matter by whom, for the nomination. This new aspirant is well known to our citizens, as he is a life long resident of Columbia. Bruner's ice yacht was again on the river

Roman Ox Horns.

Messrs. H. Z. Rhoads & Bro. have received from the custom house a number of term. works of art and products of skilled labor which were included among the purchases made by the senior member of the firm on his recent trip to Europe. Among them are quite a number of fine pictures handsomely framed, notably a view of the Coliscum and some Venitian scenes, and two or three interesting groups. A display of four Roman ox horns in the window of Messrs. Rhoads' store attracts special attention. These were bought by Mr. R. to the order of a fashionable lady, resident of this city and of Philadelphia, who designs them to be made up in furniture of prevailing popular styles. They measure three feet in length, are beautifully polished and of rich color. Mr. Rhoads says that the oxen of Italy have wide reaching horns generally, but these two pair, which he was fortunate enough to secure at a carpenter shop, are exceptionally fine specimens.

Runaway Accidents. Yesterday Frank Slough, of this city, attended a public sale on the Harrisburg under the management of Elias Barr, pike, near Summy's tavern. His horse took fright, and running away, broke the shafts and the dasher of the sleigh. His brother John, who was in another sleigh, went to his assistance, and on reaching the scene of the accident his (John's) horse also took fright and ran off, but was caught before much damage was done.

Happy Birthday. Yesterday being the birthday of Mrs. Hugh Dougherty, of East Orange street, her daughter, Miss Maggie Dougherty, had, unknown to her mother, invited a number of her friends to spend the evening with her. Among those invited were Misses Strobel and Bear, Messrs. Drachbar, Mellinger and Prof. Haas, all artists in music whom Lancaster is proud of. After partaking of some elegant refreshments a few more pieces were sung, when at a late hour the company separated reluctantly.

In Town. Joseph Lennox, who for several years vas one of the clerks in the P. & R. R. R. Shocking Case of Suffering Reported from Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—A horrible case of neglect and disease came under the observation of the health department yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Feide and five children, living in a squalid tenement house on the North Side, were recently stricken down with small pox. The parents recovered quickly, but the children were more seriously ill, and on Monday

Mr. Weed's prestige was always due to his sagacity in making early inquiries as to popular sentiment regarding a candidate and formulating and concentrating that sentiment in such a rapid and emphatic way as to claim the honors of nomination.

> Railway Discrimination. Germantown Telegraph.

Governor Hoyt, in his message to the Legislature of Pennsylvania at the opening of the new session, called attention briefly to a report which will be submitted to the Legislature by a commission appointed for the purpose under an act passed at the last session relative to unjust freight discriminations on railways. On this subject the provisions of the new constitution are clear explicit and unmistakable. They require that business upon the railways of the commonwealth shall be conducted upon fair and equal terms to all persons; and there shall be favor shown to none in the rates Hewit, 4 McVeagh, 3; Baird, 1; Snow- charged, the facilities furnished, or the cars provided. This is the law of common carriers, and scarcely needed a constitu tional provision to add additional force to it. But unfortunately it has long been notorious, not only in this state, but all over the Union, that the way-traffic on railways is compelled to bear the whole expense of the companies, and consequently the rate for freight and passengers to such points are out of all proportion to those charged for the through business; this is not a mere sentimental grievance. Anthracite coal, mined here in Eastern Pennsylvania is furnished to the manufacturers of New England at lower prices than to our own pe ople here in Philadelphia. The natural consequences are seen in the enormous growth of manufactures in New England and New Jersey, and the strange and apparently inexplicable limitations of growth iere in our own state.

This will perhaps explain to some of our readers how it happens that all the minor cities and towns of Penusylvania are so singularly backward in their develoyment compared with corresponding cities in New England, New York, New Jersey and Bass 7 B this state, yet without perceiving that the natural cause of it is that all our railways to settle in the West. It was also declared in a preamble to certain laws that they should be read as school exercises. They allowed every man to plead his own ease and further tried to pass a law to prevent lawyers from "plead-ing for pay," lest it might "lengthen justice into trade." The speaker's chair is
