PATURDAY EVENING, JAN. 29, . 1881. The Fishery Frauds.

Another Letter from Prof. Youle Hind. Another letter from Prof. Hind to the governor general in the matter of fishery statistics is published, dated Jan. 24. After referring to his former letters as calling for further explanations of the subject treated therein, Professor Hind says : It is my duty in the first place to sketch an outline, as I have traced it, of the method by which the successful roguery was practiced at Halifax. At the same time I shall but touch lightly upon its bearing, be-cause these may be left in their broad relations to the discernment of the public. It is essential for your excellency to know that in the preparations for the Halifax commission there were two classes of documents prepared and printed at Ottawa, one, "Class A," relating to the fish catch statistics; the other, "Class B," to the fish trade statistics. Respecting the fish catch statistics, "A." there were three documents prepared and printed to show the same thing. One document was a true statement, marked "confidential"; two documents were grossly false statements in titles, details and references. One of these false statements was presented to the arbitrators in the case of her majesty's government. The other false statement was reserved for cautious distribution among members of commission. Respecting fish trade statistics, "B," there were also three documents prepared and preserved at Ottawa. One document was a true statement (as far as it goes), and was marked "Confidential." Two documents were grossly false statments, and were not marked "Confidential." One of these false statements in gross was sworn to in evidence; the other giving details is the appendix to the memorandum concerning the twenty-first article of the treaty of Washington. Study of these false tables. namely, the one presented in class "A" and the one sworn to evidence "B." reveal the separate facts that the fish statistics of the dominion, as contained in the annual fishery reports, from which " A ' is falsely alleged to have been taken, have also been manipulated for misleading pur poses: and also that the trade and navigation returns from which "B" is alleged to be taken, have been most grossly tampered with and altered at Ottawa for misleading purposes, apparently from the year 1871 to the year 1877. Thus we are confronted with a quadruplet series of falsifications, all pointing to one and the same end. Table "A." presented in the case, is a document intentionally falsified from records of the government supposed to be correct.

Table "B" is a document falsely framed in part from trade and navigation returns, supposed to be records of the government, but which embody fictitious entries; also in part from the selection of improper items and the rejection of proper items. and also in part by the employment of various misleading and dishonorable arti. a plate. fices which greatly alter the trade returns between the different countries, as represented by false figures. This table "B" is more important, because at the time it was known to be grossly false, and was The Press. submitted in evidence upon oath. It formed, subsequently, the basis of the argument in a question of vital importance relating to the first article of the treaty of Washington, and covers a period of twenty-six years. The manufacture of this table concerns the dominion department of customs from the year 1871 to the close of the commission's labors, that these gentlemen, so far from having cor- ing. rected false figures, had actually pre-sented them to the arbitrators uncorrected, known to be false, in the name of her majesty the queen. They kept i their pessession proofs of guilt during the whole time the commission was sitting These proofs came officially into my hands in November, 1877, and remain with me as the joint property of the government of Great Britain and the government of the United States, to be produced by me when called upon by those governments jointly, or, the British government having so far declined to look at proofs, by the government of the United States separately if required. The table "B" is a startling and shocking exhibition of fraud, prolonged from year to year, and successfully practiced at last. The document which discloses its in famy, namely, the appendix to the memo randum concerning the twenty-first article of the treaty of Washington, belongs as much to the United States and Great Britain, for it directs in the per the at tention of the joint commission to its pleadings. In consequence of the extra ordinary speech of Sir Alexander Camp bell, postmaster general, in the Senate of the 21st instant, I am placed in a position to present your excellency with some il lustrations of roguery which had been concocted at Ottawa, compared wit which, instauces I have already brought forward are mere trifles. I have the honor to be your excellency obedient servant, HENRY YOULE HIND.

PANIC AT A DANCE.

How the Cry of "Small-pox " Broke Up Party of Revellers. As the dancers at the Jersey City Ath let c club's ball, at about midnight or Wednesday, were displaying their utmost grace and skill some one called out : "There's a small-pox patient in the nex

The fiddler dropped his bow, the piccol player lost his breath, the ladies cried 'Oh, my !" and the sets broke up in confusion. There was a scramble for wraps, hats and overcoats and a rush for the stairs. Many reached the sidewalk hatless, and wearing only their ball-room at tire. The musicians, with their instruments tucked under their acms, tumbled out of the room without ceremony. The frightened dancers did not stop to question anybody after they got out, but scattered in all directions.

The building in which the ball was held is on Grand street and Communipaw avenue, Jersey City. Many families occupy apartments in it. The small-pox patient was Michael Hickey. Some one discovered his condition, and ran to the ballroom to warn the dancers, who had come from all parts of the city. There are thirty-two persons living in the building, and fears are entertained that the disease may spread among them. The police patient, or write ag were informed yesterday and the health miserable and dull,

The teacher being thus constantly annoyed, sent for a pastor to unravel the mystery if possible. When he arrived, the little girl, whose name is withheld, said she saw a man running about the school-house, jumping over desks, seats and the heads of scholars, and cutting up all sorts of antics, even to pinching and striking her. The mystery was increased when the word "Teufel suddenly appeared on the blackboard, apparently written by an invisible hand This somewhat startled all present, and the school teacher, it is said, exclaimed That's too much; we must close the It is said that the spirit has folhouse." lowed the little girl to her home and there annoys her and her people

NATIONAL HOUSEKEEPING.

The State Dinner Table as Arranged by Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Hayes, Writing of state dinners, apropos Gen. Grant's visit to the White House, the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat says: "It is almost four years since I have had the pleasure of seeing the state dinner table arrayed in the glitter of its silver and crystal. The occasion then was the dinner offer ed to the then president-elect, Hayes, two days before his inauguration. That was a princely affair, with its profusion of lights and flowers above and around the board. The Hiawatha boat, a silver trophy piece that was shown at the Centennial, and there bought by Mrs. Grant and presented to the White House. floated on the mirror that is placed down the middle of the grand table. The fragile and exquisitely cut and colored wine glasses were in clusters at each plate, the Bohemian decanters were glowing with a famous sherry that a benevolent king of Portugal presented to the president several years ago, and a row of silver ice buckets held the champagne. Four years later the same room produces a chilly counterpart of that rare feast. The forest of light stemmed wine glasses are wanting and a bountiful goblet and a cavate of cold water stands at each plate. No Hiawatha spreads his sil ver sail across the mimic lake, seemingly the easiest compliment that might have been paid their guests, and the glow and color that is needed to relieve the vast expanse of snowy linen comes mainly from the large crystal bowls of fruit that are placed down the middle of the extensive table. The famous new china has been brought out for the second time to grace a feast, the first time having been for the dinner to General Garfield a fortnight since. Even with the new china Mrs. Hayes fails in presenting as sumptuous and beautiful tables as Mrs. Grant did, and the palm for White House keeping still belongs to that lady. Speculation is rife as to how Mrs. Garfield will manage and especially as to whether the jug of cold water and the capacious goblet will exclude the customary accompaniments of

SARAH IS COMING. Trouble Ahead for the Detroit Lime Kiln

The petitions numbered twenty-three and represented six different states. The secretary read the following in subdued tones:

"MONTREAL, January 18, '81. Brother Gardner: I am a colored woman six feet high, 40 years old, and weigh 190 pounds. I could clean out Paradise hall in Mr. Francis Clareford, her majesty's seven minutes by the watch, and don't you forget it. I've heard more or less agent, was duly informed by me of the about your Lime Kiln club, and I underfalseness of the statistical table "A," stand that you don't admit the gentler cmanating from the department of marine and fisheries, before the commission was my application, and I want to add that organized. Reigart's Old Brandy,

In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he2chose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practisting Physician. Widmyer & Ricksecker,
