For the Next Congress.

The next two years will certainly be favorable time for the dispassionate and unpartisan consideration in Congress of certain questions of vast importance concerning our economic interests.

In view of these things the country is hopeful that some of the larger and broader questions of national interest may receive the attention they merit from national legislators in the coming two years.

The Blaine school of statesmen find the proper means to this end in subsidizing lines of steamers to one port or another.

The advocates of "free ships" ask for artificial devices to help us to that consummation. They only ask that existing barriers be removed and that duties on foreign built ships be lifted so that American shippers may enter the race for the world's commerce.

Mr. Garfield appears to be actively interesting himself to secure the election of a Republican senator from this state, and the strong probability therefore is that that one will be chosen.

Mr. Cameron with Mr. Garfield's help can have some one chosen who will be agreeable to him; and perhaps the other faction, so aided, can do as much for a man of their choice.

THE BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT is expected to cost over $900,000 next year, an excess of about $40,000 over the present year, which is caused by an increase in the force.

THE SENATOR MR. BLAIR has introduced a joint resolution providing an amendment to the constitution prohibiting, after the year 1900, the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors as beverages within the United States.

THIS DISPATCH to the Record finds the choice to stairwells; As it cannot be Oliver or Grow it must be some one else for senator.

inferior to the genuine, although somewhat thicker. The note is nearly one-half an inch shorter than the genuine, but, as far as examined, it is a fac-simile, except that in the genuine, near the treasurer's signature, and in circular form, is printed in red characters.

There has been a great deal of nambury talk of late, called out with the death of a famous English novelist, with regard to the genuineness of his works.
