FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 11, 1981.

THE INFANT'S FIRST PRAYER, BY PRS. KILBURN.

For the INTELLIGENCER. When bending at his mother's knee, To learn to lisp his carliest prayer, Soft as a dew drop, on his head Gently there falls a truant tear ; Not of regret or grief begot, But born of memory, hope and joy An i silent prayer, to mercy's seat, For blessings on her infant boy.

Back to the scenes of earliest years, To when to " Jesus, meek and mild," She prayed beseechingly that He Would "look upon a little child," Her memory files; and then her soul. Full of suppliant fervor, pleads " Forgive him all his tresspasses. Deliver him from evil deeds."

The child, in innocent denaze, Stops in his half said tutored prayers, And asks: "Mamma, why do you weep, And what has made you shed these tears?" " Nothing, my boy," she quick replies, "That you have done to-day or said, But Oh! my Heart was ! all, dear child, And thus for you, with tears, I plead."

Thea, kneeling, fervently she prayed, Our Father, who in heaven art, Let thy name o'er all the earth Hallowed be and ne'er depart ; And let this little child and I. To thy blessed kingdom come, When, as in heaven, here on earth It seemeth meet, thy will be done."

DIDN'T KNOW. He gave me a knife one day at school, Four-bladed, the handle of pearl-And great black words on the wrapper said-" For the darlingest little girl." I was glad! Oh, yes, yet the crimson blood To my young chreks came and went, And my heart thumped wondrously pit-a-pat But I didn't know what it meant

One night he said I must jump on the sled, For the snow was falling fast; I was half atraid, but he coaxed and ceaxed And he got me on at last, Laughing and chatting in merry giec. To my home his course he bent ; My sisters looked at each other and smiled,

Ten years passed on, and they touched his eye With a shadow of deeper blue; They gave to his form a manlier grace-To his-check a swarthier hue. We stood by the dreamfly rippling brook. When the day was almost spent,

But I didn't know what it meant

His whispers were soft as the lullaby And-now I know what it meant : HOME SONG. Say, stay at home, my heart, and rest, Home-keeping hearts are happiest.

For those that wander they know not where Are full of trouble, full of care ; To stay at home is best. Weary and howeslek and distressed, They wander east, they wander west,

And are baffled and beaten and blown about By the winds of the wilderness of doubt : To stay at home is best, Then stay at home, my heart, and rest

The bird is satest in its nest: O'er all that flutter their wings and fly A hawk is hovering in the sky : To stay at home is best. -Longfellow.

To Prevent the Balling of Horses. American Agriculturist for February 1.

When the snow upon the roads is cohesive and packs firmly, it endects upon the feet of horses, forming a lord, projecting mass, in a manner k " 's "ball-This often occurs to the an extent as to impede the motion on the horse, while it causes the animal great discomfort, and is sometimes dangerous to the rider or driver. The trouble may be prevented very easily by the use of gutta- an efficiency in either form. percha. For this purpose the gutta-percha should be erude i. e., not mixed with any thing or manufactured in mame; but just as imported. Its application depends upon the property which the gum has of softening and becoming plastic by heat, and harden ing again when cold. To apply it, place the gutta-percha in hot water until it becomes soft, and having well-cleaned the foot, removing whatever has accumulated between the shoe and hoof, take a piece of the softened gam and press it against the shoe and foot in such a manner as to fill the angle between the shoe and the hoof, taking care to force it into the crack between the two. Thus filling the crevices, and the space next the shoe, where the snow most firmly adheres, the ball of snow has nothing to hold it, and it either does not form, or drops out as soon as it is gathered. When the gutta percha is applied, and well smoothed off with the wet fingers, it may be bardened at once, to prevent the horse from getting it out of place by stamping, by the application of snow or ice, or more slowly by a wet sponge or cloth. When it is desired to remove the gum, the application of hot water by means of a sponge or cloth will so soften it that it may be taken off. As the softening and hardening may be repeated indefinitely, the same material will last for years. For a horse of medium size, a quarter of a pound is sufficient for all the feet. Having tested this application last winter, and thus far the present

"I Don't Wan't a Plaster," said a sick man to a druggist, "can't you give me something to cure me?" His symptoms were a lame back and disordered urine and vece a sure indication of kidney disease. The druggist told him to use Kidney-Wort and in a short time it effected a complete cure. Have you these symptoms? Then get a box or bottle to-day-before you become incurable. It is the cure; safe and sure.—Knoxville Republican.

season, we can recommend it as thoroughy efficacious in preventing one of the greatest annoyances of snow.

The Right Application, Mrs. D. Morrison, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writing about Dr Thomas' Eelectric Oil, says: "George Bell used it on his son, and it cured him of Rueumatism with only a few applications. The balance of the bottle was used by an old gentleman for Asthma, with the best results. It nots like a charm," For sale by H. B. Cochran, "ruggist, 137 and 159 North Queen street, Lancaster, Pa.

Cured of Drinking. "A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for Liquor, that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cared by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst: took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady, and he has remained a cober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others who have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading Railroad Offi-cial, Chicago, Ill. icbl-2wd&w

Brandy as a Medicine The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Skrymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physi-cian of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those al

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimmant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely plaffanthropic motive we pre-sent to the favorable notice of invalids—espe-cially those afflicted with that miserable discase Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy. The aged, with teeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly.

A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies nomatter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifies would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the carative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num bers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—

A hard-working farmer had been addicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with astonisament, but after hearing of its wonderfut effects in the cases of some of his near acquamtancea, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the HAS. A. LOCHER,
