Eleventh Anniversary Encertainment—Good Music—Able Addresses— Annual Report.

The eleventh anniversary of the Young Men's Christian association of this city took place in the court house last evening, a goodly number of the friends of the cause being present. The programme was as follows :

Singing-"All Hail the Power of Jesus' name"-by the audience. Reading of a portion of the prophecy of Isaiah, and prayer, by Rev. J. C. Hume, of the Presbyterian mission chapel.
Soprano solo—"Rock of Ages" -by Miss

Bear, with organ accompaniment by Prof. F. W. Haas. This fine piece was sung exquisitely and was undoubtedly the gem of the evening. President D. C. Haverstick read the following annual report:

Ladies and Gentlemen, members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association: The events of another year in the history of the Young Men's Christian association are written among the things of the past and to-night, under the guidance of a kind and merciful Providence, we are assembled for the purpose of celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the founding of this institution, and the president, as has been customary in the past, offers this, his annual report of the operations of the association for the past year.

In preparing this report our aim has been to be brief. Still, we felt the neces sity of making it sufficiently full to give the citizens an opportunity of learning what uses have been made or their contributions, and what efforts we are making in behalf of the public good, and whether the facilities we offer for the benefit of our young men are of sufficient importance to justify the maintenance of an institution of this kind. Of the advantages of our free reading rooms and library it is needless for us to speak; their importance to the community must be recognized by all right-thinking men and women. Yet the public at large have only a faint idea of the struggles and disappointments under which the frien is of this organization have labored during the eleven years of its ex-

There have been times when some of us were almost ready to abandon the ship, the pilot being unable to see a single ray of light by which to steer the vessel through the apparently unpromising future. But, remembering the scriptural injunction, "Not to be weary in welldoing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not," we have struggled on, hoping and praying for a better and brighter day. That the association, with its open doors, comfortable rooms, free access to a large collection of books from the most noted authors, as well as the popular daily and weekly papers and magazines, is doing a good work, no one seems to question. And that the only resort of the kind offered in a city of twenty-five thousand inhabitants should be compelled to go begging, as it were, for support, is one of the mysteries our mind fails to comprehend. That such has been the case, however, the friends of the association must admit, reluctant as they may be ing and pleasing nature, but we deemed it to do so. True, we have had many friends who have stood by us in our darkest hours, and we take occasion just here to thank them for their valuable assistance. But we need more of them. We ought to have at least $1,900 on the first of April. Some of the friends of the association have been contemplating the organization of a movement looking toward the raising of the entire amount of indebted ness. If this could be accomplished the current expenses of the association could be met by the income from membership dues, subscriptions to library and voluntary donations. Many of our citizens seem to be under the impression that most of the expenses of the association are incurred in carrying on a work that properly belongs to the churches. This is a mistake. The religious work of the association does not cost the citizens fifty dollars a year. The expense is almost entirely occasioned in providing a suitable building and maintaining the free reading-room and library already referred to. In doing this, economy, with a due regard to efficiency, has been our first thought. The librarian has been secured at as low a compensation as possible for the amount of labor and time required of him at the rooms. The interest on the mortgage of the building at 51 per cent, deducting therefrom the rents received from parts of the building not required for association purposes, amounts to less than we could possibly rent a room

The other items of expense are for heat ing and lighting the rooms, and for books, papers and magazines. This is the branch of the work for which we ask the aid of our fellow citizens. Its efficiency might be greatly increased by the addition of new books and an increase in the number of papers and magazines. Under the present state of our finances this has been impossible, as the current expenses must be met, for which our income from membership, dues and sub-suitable for the reading rooms and library.

scriptions, are not sufficient. The year just closed has been marked with some important changes in the work of the association. Mr. S. B. Herr, our efficient general secretary for the pat three years, received a call from the Reading association, which he was induced to accept, and hence severed his connection with us. On account of the urgent necessity of economy in all branches of the work, the board of managers decided not to employ a general secretary, but to secure the services of a competent person as librarian only. At a meeting of the board on November 1, 1880, Mr. Barton F. Henderson was chosen to fill that position, the duties of which he has performed to the entire satisfaction of the association and

The association also regrets the loss, by removal from the city, of Bro. D. R. Thompson, the efficient executive secretary, who performed the duties pertaining to the office of general secretary, since Mr. Herr's resignation. Bro. J. M. Davidson has been cho en to fill his place.

The various classes of instruction inaugurated last winter were again taken up this season, with the addition of a few new ones. The latter are one for the study of vocal music under the leadership of H C. Mellinger; another for the study of physiology, under the directiod of Dr. J

W. Crumbaugh.

The regular studies for moral and intellectual instruction embrace: Bible study, young men's meeting, gospel meeting, teachers' meeting, lyceam, music, boys' meeting, Star club, medical talks and lectures, and physiology. These are free to all, male and female, young and old, and all, male and female, young and old, and are both interesting and instructive. prison services and association meetings, of eight thousand seven hundred and thir-

From the official records we find that there were during the year ending January 1881, twenty-six thousand four hundred and forty eight visits made to the reading rooms, and the books drawn from the library during the time were nine thou sand, fourthundred and sixty-six.

There were also d saibuted at the prison and elsewhere, during the year, over four thousand religious papers and nearly six thousand pages of tracts. Employment and boarding were secured for a number of applicants by the appropriate commit-

In reverting to the financial reports we fin 1 that the receipts during the year from all sources were $1,366.43, and the expen-ditures $1,350.71, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer on January 1, 1881, of $15.72. It may be of interest to learn that the principal items of income were, from rent 2233.53; membership, dues and subscriptions to library, $341.60; donations, $508.50; excursion, $170.75.

The main items of expense were, for services of general secretary and assistant, $602.17; first installment of indebted ness on building, $250; interest, $302.50 for daily papers and rebinding books, $38.30; insurance, $25. The entire indebtedness of the association at this date is, in round numbers, about $6,900, which is divided as follows Mortgage on building, at 51 per cent. $5.250; one year's interest on same $288.75; sundry bills for gas, printing, papers, magazines, repairs and inciden-tals about $500; two promissory notes with interest, amounting to $685; salary of librarian, due April 1, 1881,

Our agreement with Mr. Samuel Miller, from whom we purchased the property, is that we pay the interest and an annual installment upon the principal of $250.
There will therefore be due Mr. M. on April 1, 1881. $538.75. Add to this $500 for sundry bills; $125 for librarian's salary; $685 for two promissory notes, with interest, and we find the sum of $1,848.75, which ought to be paid on the first of April next. The annual expenses of the association in maintaining its free reading-rooms and library as at present organized is as follows: Interest on mortgage of $5,000, $275; yearly installments $250; librarian's salary $300; papers and magazines about $75; light, fuel and incidentals $100; inrurance and tax $40; making a total per year of $1,040. Of course, if the annual installments are met, the interest will be decreased from year to year. To meet this outlay the association has an income from membership dues and subscribers to library of about $400; rents $186; Athenœum $24; making a total per year of $610. We desire, however, to inform the public that the value of the personal property of the association, consisting of the library cases, furniture, etc.. is about $5.000, and if its present indebtedness could be cancelled, and a small sum spent on the library we feel confident it could be made self-sustaining in the future.

We have briefly sketched the operations of the association for the past twelve months. It has been a year of labor and auxiety to many of the members, and at this time the outlook for the year upon which we have already entered has little Health, Hope and Happiness Reof promise to cheer the hearts of its friends, who have so nobly stood by it ever since its organization. But, as the brighest day often succeeds the darkest night, so let us hope that our present difficulties may speedily vanish under the efforts being made for the accomplishment of that purpose. In the carrying out of these intentions the public may be called upon to decide whether or not this institution, with its varied privileges, shall be placed upon a permanent basis, or whether it shall be permitted to struggle on in the future as it has done in the

The contemplation of the facts as here presented may not be of the most interesting and pleasing nature, but we deemed it best, for all concerned, to place the standing of the association in its proper light, so that the public might be able to judge intelligently as to its condition and

At the conclusion of the reading of the report Miss Bear sang, very sweetly, Angels ever bright and fair.' Rev. J. Max Hark, paster of the Moravian church, followed in a half hour address wherein he gave his views of the best method of reaching and saving the great number of boys and young men of all classes of society, that are seen upon the streets of all our cities. He alluded to some of the more prominent characteristies that mark the young man of the present age-as, his self sufficiency, if not selfconceit; his blind imitativeness and his proneness to imitate that which is least worthy of imitation; his love of soci-ty and his aptness at finding the worst level of it. These being some of the salient characteristic of the young man, it should be the aim of the earnest Christian to turn them into the best channels. Don't as sume patronizing airs-they despise such things; but make them your companions; make them feel at home in your company; make the association's rooms more attractive than the pool-room or the saloon; enlist the ladies in the cause; organize a series of parties in the ladies' houses and get the young men to attend them, not as waifs from the highways and hedges, but invite them as your friends. These means the speaker thought were among the best to draw out the min that is in the heart of every boy. The association, as an association, cannot do this work; it must be done by the individual members, and their walk in all the relations of life must give proof of their honesty and earnestness

At the conclusion of Rev. Hark's address, a basket collection was lifed for the benefit of the association. Prof. Haas meantime playing a solo upon the organ. Rev. Sylvanus Stall followed with a brief address in which he stated that the d etrine of Christian Jassociations was that young men are worth saving, while the doctrine of the world was that they are not-that they must be allowed to "sow their wild oats," and settle down afterwards. The reverend speaker declared that those who sowed their wild oats when young would reap a crop of the same when old. He showed from history that all the great men of the world-including Napoleon, Washington, Luther, Knox, and many others, performed their greatest work when they were young men. He also showed from statistics that a vast majority of all the criminals in the penitentiaries were young men, the average age being about 25 years. It was of the utmost importance therefore to look after and save the young. Miss Bear sang very prettily the solo "Come back to me, Douglas," after which Rev. S. A. Taggart secretary of the state association, delivered "a stirring, soothing, satisfactory speech," as he jocularly styled it. It was an eloquent and vigorous appeal in behalf of the association work.

The doxology was sung and the audience dismissed with a benediction by Dr. J. B. Shumaker.

Brandy as a Medicine The following article was voluntarily sent to BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we pre sent to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miscrable discase Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy. The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY,

Sold by our enterprising young friend, H E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of cases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numi

bers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—

A hard-working tarmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to cruckers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with asionisument, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which hetchose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
