Joseph Wall, of Philadelphia, is visiting in town to-day, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, The funeral of the late E. K. Boice, whose death occurred on Saturday night last, took place yesterday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Fourth and Lo cust streets. The interment was made in Mount Bethel cemetery. A large funeral cortege proceeded to the burial ground.

John Beaver, conductor of Columbia local freight, made a fortunate and very narrow escape from being killed at Baldwin station, near Harrisburg, yesterday, Beaver attempted to walk on the foot board around a cabin of an ore car, but missing his hold on the hand-railing he felt that he was falling and to save himself he jumped. He alighted on the north main track, but was thrown from his feet, and, feeling that he was getting near the wheels of the moving cars, he threw his left arm over the nearest rail on the north track and drew himself to it. He escaped with a few scratches and bruises about the body.

The sewer at the Pennsylvania railroad depot is stopped up, and as a consequence, a portion of Front street is flooded with muddy water. The rain is yet falling very fast and all traces of the recent snow have vanished. If the rain fall up the river is as heavy as it is here nothing can prevent the water coming up to a higher point than it has reached in the last five years. The river is now within a few feet of being as high as it was at any time during the recent ice freshet. The vacancy at the Pennsylvania railroad ticket office, caused by the death of Mr. E. K. Boice, has not yet been tilled. It is thought now that Mr. C. S. Murray, the freight agent, will receive the appoint-ment and will hold both offices. What provisions will be made for Me. John A. Frey, who is now in the office, is not known, but there are may people in Col-umbia who think that as Mr. Frey has done the company meritorious service he should receive the appointment. The powers that be will settle this

Good Preaching. Oxford Press.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Columbia, preached two very acceptable sermons to the congregation of the Oxford Presbyterian church last Sunday morning and evening.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Terrible Fate of a Flagman and a Brakeman on the Pennsylvania Rathroad. Philadelphia Times.

Henry Brown, 45 years old, and George Flick, 35 years of age, train hands on the l'ennsylvania railroad, were killed simultaneously on the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Brown was a flagman and Fiick a brakeman. Both were natives of Columbia, where Brown leaves a widow and six children, and his companion a widow and four children. The scene of the calamity was near Fiftieth street. The men had just alighted from the caboose of a freight train, which was being made up. They stepped upon the adjoining track and did not notice the approach of the express from New York. The train was then too close to apply the airbrakes or to warn the men. Brown and Flick were flung about thirty feet, and when they struck the earth rebounded and fell mangled corpses. Their skulls were crushed, clothes torn to shreds and forms disfigured almost beyond recognition. The bodies were removed to Undertaker Wright's, at Thirty-seventh and Haverford streets, where another fatally injured rail-road hand had been taken on Monday. The coroner's investigation will be made to-day in order that the remains may be taken to Columbia for burial.

In addition to the foregoing from the Times our Columbia correspondent writes; "Both men reside in Columbia and leave families here. The engineer of engine No. 811 informed your correspondent this morning that the men were either standing and talking together on one of the tracks or that they were walkings to-ward their trains when a New York division engine with one passenger car attached, backed upon them, knocked them across the track and ran over them. The bodies were terribly mutilated. Flick was a man somewhere near thirty years of age. He leaves a wife and two or three children and an aged mother whose only support he was. Brown was somewhat older than Flick and he also leaves a family, but most of his children are married. He was a carpenter by trade and before going to railroading had carried it on in Columbia, where he was well known. At this writing the bodies of the men have not arrived here, but they are expected on the Frederick accommodation train due at 3:05

The Burglary at Lane's Store.

The only additional facts that have come to light regarding the burglary at Lane's store, in East King street, the particulars of which were published yesterday, are, that a bunch of eight or ten skeleton keys. of all sizes, were found in the alley in rear of Coyle's building, where they were evi-dently dropped by the burglars, the handle of the key that had been broken off in the lock of Lane's vault door being attached to the bunch. There was also foun

a very fine steel lock pick, about eight inches in length and bent at each end. It was so thin that it could be inserted into the lock alongside of another false key, and was evidently intended to lift any of the wards of of the lock that the key failed to lift. The keys were at first surposed to be duplicates of a number of other keys in use in Lane's store, but on closely comparing them they were found to be of different patterns and would not unlock any of Lane's doors or drawers. They had probably done service in other

There is as yet no clew the burglars. Inquiries at the several hardware stores show that they did not procure their brace and bits in Lancaster.

Strike at Allendale Cotton Mill. This afternoon 27 women and girls, who are employed in the weave-room of the Allendale cotton mill, at Plum and Chestnut streets, struck for higher wages. When the whistle blew at one o'clock they refused to go to work and went home. The employees demand 30 cents per "cut," which is more than they have been getting. About one quarter of the looms in the mill are now running. They will be kept going until the places of the strikers have been filled. The managers of the mill claim that they can easily secure other hands to take the places of those who have left. Mr. Calder, the owner of the mill, is in Philadelphia to-day, and the situation awaits his return.

This temper bar can be ap olled to any gate, and it prevents all difficulty from sagging posts or dragging gates.

" Fun on the Bristol."-To-morrow night wil be presented at the opera house by Jarrett and Rice the musical oddity and rollicking absurdity of "Fun on the Bristol," representing the experience of a party of merry-makers on board one of the palatial sound steamers Everywhere the piece had scored a positive success, as well on account of the quality of the humor and the music that are distinguish ing charac eristics as the handsome stage settings and scenic effects that are employed in its production. An enjoyable trip is assured to all who board the Bristol to morrow night Mrs. Siddons .- Mrs. Scott-Siddons, support ed by her dramatic company, began a week's engagement at the Chestnut Street opera ouse, Philadelphia, last evening, appearing before a large and very appreciative audience in the character of Rosalind, in Shakspeare's beautiful comedy of "As You Like It." Mr. Mishler has secured this talented lady for few nights through this circuit, and she will present the same piece at the opera house on next Monday evening. The Northwest controls the treasury and the interior; Mr. Me-Pherson is to be a political power in the postoffice department ; Wm. E. Chandler is to be solicitor general, whose chief occupation will be drawing the fangs of Mac-France; Wm. M. Evarts, Allen G. Thur-man and Timothy O. Howe commissioners that has brought about the conference. It is not known what the stalwarts decided to do. There is some surprise that Blaine should show his hand thus early. Leading Democrats predict rough sailing for the administration at once. They think that Conkling will not tamely submit to any such control of the patrona; e of the whole country by Blaine as the present arrangement indicates.

Suggestions Concerning Long Life.

If anyone could furnish the world with medicine which would insure a long life, there is no end to the demand he would have for his drug. The Herald of Health thinks he would need many factories to make it, and many banks to hold the money he would receive. Fortunately there is no such medicine, and so the world will have to got along in some other way.

Some time ago the French government sent a circular letter to all the districts of that country to collect information as to those conditions of life which seemed to favor longevity. The replies were very interesting but on the whole rather mon otonous; and the general result is that ongevity is promoted by great sobriety, regular labor, especially in the open air, short of excessive fatigue, easy hours, a well-off condition, a philosophical mind in meeting troubles, not too much intellect and a domestic life The value of marriage was universally admitted and long-lived parents were also found an important factor. A healthy climate and good water were mentioned, All this agrees with common sense, unless the idea that the intellect is a hinderance to longevity be considered unreasonable, and we know that some of the most intellectual men have lived to great age.
