Mr. Amos Bowman, of Marietta, was in town yesterday. A number of ladies visited the armory last evening to witness the drill of company H, which was one of the best in several months. A surprise party was taken to the residence of Mrs. George Campbell, on Walnut street below Fifth, last evening, the occasion being the anniversary of the lady' birth. While the festivities were at their height the Citizens' band put in appearance and serenaded the company. The evening was very pleasantly spent. Work has not yet commenced on the Reading & Columbia railroad coal chutes and there is little probability of any thing taking place there before the canal is again opened to navigation, which, how ever, will not be much longer delayed. It is thought the first week in April will see old-time life at the chutes and that by the same time the coal boats will be running

The Pennsylvania railroad company' new line between Glen Loch and Chester Valley is now almost ready to be connected, but it is believed the connections will not be made for about a month, or until good weather sets in. It is thought that part of the line, to be abandoned, may be used for siding purposes.

A rumor was floating about yesterday to the effect that a couple of the churches session at Pottsville, desire to secure Rev. Henry Wheeler, pastor of the M. E. church of this place. The Methodist people of Columbia are in the hope that Mr. Wheeler will be returned to his charge here, and any rumors to the contrary, however unauthentic, have a tendency to create something of a stir. To the average church goer Mr. Wheeler has proved to be the most popular minister the Methodist church here has had in a number of years, and on account of this popularity many persons even outside the pale of the Methodist persuasion would regret to hear of his possible transfer.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

The Barn on R. A. Evans's Farm Destroyed Crops and Implements Burned-Live Stock Saved.

This morning between 3 and 4 o'clock the large double-deck barn on the farm of Robert A. Evans, known as the Rockford farm, on the south side of the Conestoga a short distance outside the city limits, was set on fire and totally destroyed. Fortunately the barn did not contain the entire crop of the farm, the tenant, Edward Bitzer, having had a sale on the 15th inst. and sold off a good part of his effects, including farming utensils and live stock. The property destroyed that belonged to Mr. Bitzer was 4 loads of hay, 5 tons of straw, 100 bushels of corn, 11 acres of tobacco, a four-horse wagon, a threshing machine and some other farm implements. Mr. Bitzer's loss is fully covered by insurance in the Penn Township mutual insurance company.

The barn was a large one, being 80 feet in length and supplied with all modern improvements. It was built by Mr. Evaus about ten years ago. It was worth between $4,000 and $5,000 and insured in the Chester county mutual for $2,500.

A singular circumstance connected with the fire is that when it was discovered seven or eight head of cattle that had been tied to the stalls were found running loose outside with their halters hanging to them. It would appear the incendiary had taken them from the stalls before he applied the match. The horses, however, were in the stable and were with difficulty saved by Mr. Bitzer.

An alarm of fire was sounded in this city, and some of the fire companies ran out their apparatus, but did not reach the fill the position with complete satisfaction

The Free Soup Fund. Mayor MacGonigle and County Treasurer Groff have published their fourth annual report of the receipts and disbursements on account of the free soup house, from which it appears that the rations issued were daily 26 less this year than last. This is attributed to the fact that labor was more in demand this year than last.

There remains in the hands of the managers $243.08, or $33.73 more than was n they began operations in January last. The total cash receipts were $482.24; the cash disbursements, $239.16. The list of contributors of provisions numbers about one hundred persons, from both city and county, the names of whom and the article contributed are published in the report. The estimated value of the provisions donated is $160 12. The total number of rations issued in 1881 was 21,971; against 24,693 in 1880; 38,396 in 1879, and 23,668 pike and rode upon the summer road, but they followed him there and continued in 1878. The cost per ration was a little less than two cents.

If the Columbia Spy, York Daily and some more of our exchanges had looked some more of our exchanges had looked over the issue of the New Era of March 5, liotel, the following Personal Property, to wit: they might have copied directly from our columns the article concerning Franklin and Marshall college, entitled, "Enjoying Prosperity," instead of taking it from the Examiner, which latter paper took it from our editorial columns and transferred it to its own, without a word of credit. Of course, the Spy and Daily are not to blame, only they might have published the article a week sooner if they had taken it from our column direct. That's all.

If the Examiner and New Era had looked over the INTELLIGENCER of March 14 the Examiner might have found therein substantially the obituary of Mrs Hettie Ann Cassel Barr, which it waited until Saturday to transfer from and credit to the Manheim Sentinel; and the New Era might have published four days earlier the account of the finding of the body of Mrs. William Watson which it copied from and credited to the New Holland Clarion. Of course we find fault with none of our genial contemporaries and attach no blame to any of them. We are only solicitous to direct them as to the most enterprising and treshest way to republish the INTELLIGENCER locals.

The rapidly increasing business of the first mentioned firm rendered this step advisable and necessary on their part, as their new place of business will afford them enlarged facilities for the display and sale of their complete stock of dry goods. The store room has been coasid erably extended and improved, and Messrs Metzger, Bard & Haughman are confident of their ability to afford renewed satisfaction to their numerous patrons when they becom fairly established in their new quarters at No. 43. The success that hat crowned the business venture of these gentlemen, who within period of a few months have built up such a lourishing trade, may be attributed to a variety of causes, among which are the complete stock of goods pertaining to the dry goods business they have constantly kept on hand, the excellent quality and uniformly low prices of the same, the courteous attention shown their
