which for quality, style and variety of Patterns has never been equaled in this city. I will keep and sell no goods which I cannot imend to my customers, no matter how All goods warranted as represented, prices as low as the lowest, at

No. 6 East King Street,

We have somewhere in the region of one hundred styles of business suits now ready to put on. A list of them would be the dullest of reading ; and yet we want you to know substantially what they are like.

The lowest price is $8.50, and the highest is $20. They are all of wool. $8.50 is very little to get all-wool cloths, sponging, cutting, trimming, making, watching, handling, rent, book-keeping, advertising and selling, out of ; but we manage to do it by dividing the costs among so many of you that one hardly feels his share at all; he pays for materials and work, and very little more.

We'll take another day for the rest; but you may as well come and see now as later. Seeing is better than reading.

How the Brady Game Was Managed.

A case that illustrates the boldness of the fraud systematically practiced during the past four years in the management of the star postal routes is furnished by the route known as No. 40,104, and running from Mineral Park, Arizona, to Pioche, Nev., a distance of 232 miles. This route was let on July 1, 1878, to Miner, Peck & Co., at $2,900 per annum for a weekly service. In August or September, 1878, the route was sublet by the contractors to Isaac Jennings, of St. Thomas, Lincoln county, Nev., at $4,700 per annum, or $1,800 more than the contract price. Soon after receiving the sub-contract Jennings was requested to get up a petition for triweekly service, but refused to do so on the ground that the proposed increase was wholly unnecessary. Notwithstanding his refusal, however, to make a movement to secure increased service, he was surprised to receive from Washington a sub-contract last increase was made, Jennings was or-dered to put on daily service, at the rate of $23,000 per annum, thus leaving $24,000 per annum to be divided among the principals. Before the route was increased to daily service the contract was transferred from Miller, Peck & Co., to J. W. Dorsey. When the change was made Jennings was not informed of the fact that the department, in addition to directing increased trips, had also expedited the service. About three months after the transfer to Dorsey, Jennings was informed by M. C. Riedell that the schedule time had been shortened to 60 hours. Riedell was the clerk and agent of Dorsey, and in order the more effectually to carry out the fraudulent purposes of the ring Dorsey made a contract with Riedell at the full contract price named above and filed this agreement at the department. After making the nominal contract with Riedell, Dorsey made an actual contract with Jennings for both tri-weekly and daily service. specifying that he should be paid $12,600 for the tri-weekly and $28,000 for the daily service, which was $9,700 per ann im below the sum fixed by the department for the tri weekly service, and $24,000 below that fixed for the daily service. Jennings acted in perfect good faith, and was ignorant of USE the transactions between Dorsey and his clerk. The agreement made between Dorsey and Jennings was forwarded by the latter to Representative Daggett, of Nevada, with the request that it be filed with the postoflice department. Mr. Daggett, im mediately upon receipt of the agreement, left it with J. L. French, chief clerk of the contract office, requesting him to place it on file. For the service of the first quarter under the tri-weekly contract. Jennigs received his full pay according to the terms of his contract. At the expiration of the next quarter, however, he not only failed to receive the pay due, but he re ceived notice from the department that fines had been imposed for failure to perform service, and that instead of the govcrament owing him $7,000, he was debtor the government by reason of fines imposed in the sum of to the $700. These fines, it seems, were imposed because of Jennings's failure to perform the service on the expedited schedule, of which he had no notice until informed by Riedell, as above explained. Not comprehending this method of doing business, and being startled by the large pecuniary loss which threatened him, Jennings at once proceeded to Washington. Before leaving the West he obtained a number of signatures to a protest against the fre-quency and expedition of the service ordered by the department. There was no necessity whatever for this increase, as the route was through a wilderness, and the number of letters carried over it at any time did not average three per week. Arriving at Washington, Riedell ascer-tained that Jennings intended to file this protest with the department, and, in order to prevent such damaging testimony being made part of the public records, he gave as two convictions for arson were made at the January term. There are mortgages on record against Heath's property in this parish to the amount of $11,283,29. I here the full and the state of the public records, he gave Jennings $3,500 not to place the protest on file. In the meantime, however, Riedell received from the government iull pay, less the penalties, all of which were file. In the meantime, however, Riedell charged to Jennings. For the two follow
