ing of tobacco on the rich alluvial lands about Jersey Shore, the flats of Pine creek and the vicinity of Pine station, has been steadily increasing, until the crop has come to be regarded as one of the staple productions. It required some time for those engaged in its cultivation to learn the best methods of raising and curing the crop, and now that they have acquired that information by years of experience, they rarely fail in making good crop and obtaining good prices. Almost any one can grow tobacco, but comparatively few know how to prepare it for market after it is grown, without being taught the process of curing. This difficulty has been largely overcome by those regularly engaged in the business, and the crop is now one of the most profitable raised in Lycoming and Clinton counties. The following figures, obtained from the shipping books of the Philadelphia & Erie railroad company, will show the quantity already sent to market of the crop of 1880: Wayne 271,852 Pine 783,098 Jersey Shore 55,998

Here we have an aggregate of over two millions of pounds already shipped, and it is probable that this amount has been increased fully one hundred thousand pounds more, by shipments that have been made since the above statistics were gathered. It will be noticed that Jersey Shore, as a producing and shipping point, stands at the head of the list, and Lock Haven comes next. Then follows Pine and Dewart, with a good showing from Watsontown and Milton. As the crop was generally well cured fair prices were obtained on an average, and in many instances the very best prices were paid by buyers. From the above figures tobacco growers and dealers can readily see what a handsome sum of money was realized from the sale of these two millions of pounds. And as the cultivation of tobacco is increasing from year to year, it need surprise no one to see ten millions of pounds produced annually between Lock Haven and Northumberland before ten years. In many of the best districts in the valley scarcely a pound has been raised. Take the great Muncy valley, for instance, which is one of the richest districts in the county, as well as White Deer, and one can see that millions of pounds could be produced in these districts alone. The day is not far distant when the West Branch valley will rank next to Lancaster county in the production of tobacco.-

The Farm Laborer.

Germantown Telegraph. Many farmers, especially those somewhat advanced in years, contend that the time was when there was no difficulty in getting hands to work whenever they were needed; but of latter years this has not been the case. Men, they say, needing work would sooner go round as tramps, and hang about cities with nothing to do, then to go out to the country to our farms where they are needed, and do an honest day's work. We hardly think that things are as bad as this. There never was any difficulty in getting permanent hands, nor is there much now. The trouble is to get men for a few weeks only, as temporary or extra help; and in this there always was trouble and there always will be.

Men are pretty much all alike. They have friends, acquaintances and associations, and the temptation to keep near them is natural and strong. They may not have work now, and there may be work fifty or one hundred miles away, but surely something will turn up near home, among so many looking out for them, and they let the probable chance go by. Then it costs money to go to these distant places, and they have nothing to spare for the chance.

It is not unreasonable that men should think in this way. And then there is the natural indisposition of men to take in and board total strangers for a short time, even when work is pushing to be done; and it is no uncommon thing for persons to refuse applicants work when they really need them, because they do not like their looks. Many a man has actually started off from the towns to the country in search of work which he has been told is plenty there, only to find day after day of disappointment, and to discover in the end that it was much easier to beg than to find work. We have indeed no doubt that in many cases the great tramp brigade has been recruited by men who, failing to find work, reduced to beggary by the chapter of accidents, have taken to this as a regular profession. Once reduced to this, lazy habits of course set in, and then the tramp wants food and money, and anything else than work.

We fear these things will always be, and the only remedy is the increase of chances of steady work. Our farm-life is rather deficient in this respect, and perhaps more so since the introduction of so much labor saving machinery. If it could be so ordered that there would always be employment at every season in the year for men living about farms, so that they could always be at hand-men whom one knows and can trust-there would be very little cry for extra help. We suppose farming will never come to this, but it might be brought nearer to it in many cases than it is now.

Brandy as a Medicine

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physi-cian of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice, It is commended to the attention of those at-

Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than

Brandy. The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young friend, H E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give if the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many law-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or jases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy,

In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num bers of witnesses—one case in particular we A hard-working farmer had been afflicted A hard-working farmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with asionismment, but after hearing of its wonderfur effects in the cases of some of his near acquamtances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He at list consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which hechose to eat. He stil! keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.

LINENS!

We have received new linens from Belfast, Barnsley, Duntermline, Lisle, Brussels, Ghent, Silesia, Bohemia. We have ransacked all Europe for linens. and have a variety of both fabric and finish that could not be gathered in the American market. The goods are fresh, too. That's important; for linens bought in New York may be several years old, and you know starched linens do not improve by age. The dressings used by the manufacturers is not so destructive as starch; but it does injure the fabric in time. We have another advantage in prices. We gain the importer's profit.

The result is we get the best linens in the world, in the best possible condition, and for the least money anybody can get them for. We can give you the importers' profit, and still have enough left.

Now it is proper for to consider that somebody else may be doing the same thing, and afford the very same advantages. So, if you please, whatever you wish to buy get samples of it from us and from others, and compare. Or buy our goods, if you like; and if you can 'do as well elsewhere, bring

The linens now in are sheeting, pillow, bolster and shirting linens, towels, towelings, doilies, napkins, table cloths and table linens.

DRUCLAMATION.

Whereas, the alarming prevalence of incendiary fires in our midst, and the boldness of the perpetrators, make it the duty of all good citizens, especially the holders and owners of property, to be vigilant and to assist by their individual effects to bring these outlaws to ustice. Citizens will do well to watch the goings and comings of suspected persons in their immediate respective neighborhoods, and give early and authentic information to the police authorities of the city, of any circumstances in the habits or conduct of such suspected individuals likely to fasten upon them the perpetration of so beinous a crime. Police officers having miles upon miles to patrol in their respective wards, must necessarily afford very insalequate protection against the cunning of the incendiary, unless their effects are supplemented by those of our citizens. It herefore call upon all interested in preserving order, in the preservation of tranquillity, to contribute to these ends by un usual vigilance over the immediate vicinity of their respective abodes.
