BUSINESS SUITS

We have somewhere in the region of one hundred styles of business suits now ready to put on. A list of them would be the dullest of reading; and yet we want you to know substantially what they are like.

The lowest price is $8.50, and the highest is $20. They are all of wool. $8.50 is very little to get all-wool cloths, sponging, cutting, trimming, making, watching, handling, rent, book-keeping, advertising and selling, out of; but we manage to do it by dividing the costs among so many of you that one hardly feels his share at all; he pays for materials and work, and very little more.

We'll take another day for the rest; but you may as well come and see now as later. Seeing is better than reading.

The Tobacco Market.

Seed Leaf and Havana for the Week End-ing May 7, 10 A. M.

U. S. Topacco Journal. Connecticut of the '80 crop assumed a role in our market this week, nearly 1,000 cases of seconds (without fillers) finding buyers at, it is reported, 11½ cents. These seconds at least have the appearance of thorough soundness, something the seconds of a few preceding Connecticut crops could not boast of. Outside of the 1,000 cases mentioned, no other '80 stock changed hands. A canvass for opinions among those manufacturers who have already inspected the wrappers of various '80 crops, resulted in their being ranked by them in the order that follows :

1. Pennsylvania. 2. New York state (outside of Big Flats.) 3. Connecticut.

4. Wisconsin.

5 Big Flats.

5. Ohio. Of course these opinions are mérely backed up by the little examination that can be made by samples of the new crops, and it is very probable that a total change of opinion will take place later on. In old tobaccos but a limited business is reported, without any further rise in prices. The sales were:

ter street leaf concern.) Havana.—Very active. Sales 1,500 bales partly '79, partly '80 stock, The uncer-tain reports regarding the '81 make all old stocks firm. Prices unchanged. Owing however to the shrinkage in weight of old tobacco, money is lost by importers even at ruling prices.

The Philadelphia Market.

Handlers of eigar leaf report a brisk trade, especially it old stock; some large sales have been made of first grade of goods. "Pennsie" is becoming very scarce, and on the advance. Manufactur-ers who have not supplied themselves with stock are now having trouble. The heavy houses are now busy buying new Pennsylvania; reports say some is good, but a great deal not desirable ; time will tell.

Large Shipment of Tobacco. . Last Friday there was shipped to York, Pa., from Delta and Woodbine stations, on the York & Peach Bottom railway, seven car loads of tobacco, aggregating fifty-six tons. This tobacco was raised in the upper section of Harford and the lower end of York county, and was sold to Messrs. Shall, Billinger & Engle, of York. It was grown by Messrs. Daniel M. White-ford, Morgan Whiteford, Wm. Ross, John and Emanuel Bulett, Jas. McDermott, Louis and John Swaney, N. B. Fleehart and others, all of whom accompanied their crops. Daniel M. Whiteford raised 2,000 lbs. from one acre and a-quarter, and sold life after she had been dead for twelve his crop at an average of seven cents per hours, and at curing the blind and pound. Crushing a Man's Skull With a Mallet. News has come in of a horrible murder at Corners Bend, Lee county, Ark. A quarrel occurred followed by a fight, in which John Richards, a white man, knocked down Isaac Green, a colored desperado, with his fist. Isaac sprang to his feet with great rapidity, seized a heavy mallet and with a quick, deadly blow, brought Richards down and continued beating him until his skull was activated.

Sequel to a Daughter's Shame. ing a heavy beard and holding his head suicide. He has suffered great trouble on account of his daughter, who recently died in a house of ill-fame in Iowa, and his mind seemed to give way. He succeeded in finding a shot-gun which had been hid dan from him, and blew his brains out.

In a heavy beard and holding his head down, the thieves failed to discover. The robbers abused and cursed the passengers for being so poor and penniless, and kept them standing with their hands up for two hours. Col. Caldwell says the robbers obtained only a few dollars from the passengers.

Card from Senator Wallace.

He Answers the Star Route Scandal About Hancock. To the Editor of the Philadelphia Times,

Certain Washington correspondents of the Philadelphia Press, New York Times, Boston Herald and other newspapers give currency to statements "that money to a large amount, received from the Star route ring, was used to aid in nominating General Hancock at Cincinnati;" "that money from the same source was used in the Pennsylvania Democratic convention of 1880," and that in my capacity as chairman of the sub-committee of the Senate appropriation committee on the postoffice appropriation bills I aided the Star route

It is not my habit to contradict newspaper falsehoods, but the truth touches the purity of General Hancock's nomination, and therefore I write. No money whatever came from any source to carry the delegation from his own state for General Hancock and none was used. His enemies and mine trumpeted the result of that convention as a victory over General Hancock and his friends. General William B. Franklin was in charge of Hancock's headquarters at Cincinnati and controlled the expenditure of all moneys used there. No such sum as $30,000 was either raised to expend or was experended there. The whole sum expended did not exceed $2,500, and this was for rent, music, banners, badges, etc. Those in charge of his interest there did not believe in securing either his nomination or his election by the use of money. In the passage of the postoffice deficiency bill of 1880, as chairman of the subcommittee I was asked for a hearing of those interested in routes which would be cut off by failure of the appropriation. They complained that the House committee refused to hear them. The sub-committee-Senators Beck, Booth and myself-gave them a hearing. It was public and the statements made to us were printed. We reported the bill back to the full committee favorably. Our report was adopted and I was instructed to call it up and put it upon its passage. It passed the Senate without a call of the yeas and nays. I gave my views of the subject then, which are in the record. In our action upon that bill the guilt or innocence of no public official was passed upon, but we acted solely upon the conviction that it would be unwise public policy to break down the mail service west of the Mississippi by refusing to vote the money to carry it on.

Very respectfully yours, • WILLIAM A. WALLACE. CLEARFIELD, Pa., May 6, 1881.

An Honest Boy.

A remarkable example of honesty a telegraph messenger in that amounts of Pennsylvania tobacco opposite city. He is barely thirteen years old, but F. C. Linde & Co., 262 cases; M. Rossin & Ro unusually quick and well-informed for his Sons, 212; A. S. Rosenbann & Co., 49; negotiable bonds, having a market value of fourteen thousand dollars. The boy was fully aware of the value of his find, but without a moment's hesitation he called to a gentleman who was passing and asked him what he should do with the bonds. For some unexplained reason this gentlman believed them to be the property of Messis. Labatt & Son, well-known lawyers, and sent the boy with them to their address. The faithful little messenger carried them as directed, and found that Mr. Labatt, sr., was not in. He was received by the junior partner, however, who took the bonds, believing that they had been dropped by his father, and kindly gave the boy the magnificent sum of fifty cents. The next day, however, it turned out that the bonds were the property, not of Labatt, but of a wealthy old gentleman named Jackson. The latter advertised his loss and offered to pay a large reward for the recovery of his property. A detective, who had been made aware of the manner in which the bonds had been brought to Mr. Labatt, secured them, and, bringing them to Mr. Jackson, demanded one thousand dollars for his services. After some discussion he was paid seven hundred and gave up the securities. Meanwhile, the real finder of the bonds, the honest messenger boy, has to content himself with the fitty cents given him by the lawyer. His mother, however, who seems to be a woman who knows what she is about, proposes to sue Mr. Jackson and the detective for at least a portion of the reward.

Interest has not abated at Washington in the surprise the president gave the Sen ate Thursday. A majority of the Repub-lican senators have called at the White House. The president was good-tempered and heard pleadings and congratulations with equal composure. He said he merely wished it understood that he had not made the withdrawals in a vindictive spirit, but because he thought the occa-sion had risen for them. The general impression senators brought away with them was that while unalterably determined to stand by Mr. Robertson there was a chance that in case of Robertson's prompt confirmation the president might renew the withdrawn confirmations. They were given to understand at the same time that stalwart sulking and defamation might be counted on as sure means of securing anti-stalwart nominations in place of the witdrawals. The president has no intention of hurrying in this matter. The simple truth is, that Mr. Conkling would have secured the nomination of his friends had not the president checked him. Then he could have fought Robertson with all to gain and nothing to lose. Under such circumstances the president's friends would have been at a disadvantage. As it is, the president has furnished them ground to stand upon, and Mr. Conkling must fight them fairly if at all. Of course there is no expectation that Mr. Conkling will yield without some sort of contest over Mr. Robertson, and will thus put himself in the way of getting nothing. The talk of the president's deferring to Mr. Conkling's wishes any longer has ceased On the con-trary, the president has gone so far as to say that while he expects to give and take those Republicans who may band against him can reach him hereafter only through a letter of introduction. The star-route crowd, it should be said, are in eestasy. The matter affords them relief from publicity as pleasant as it is unexpected, and as a distinguished journalist expressed it to-night, they hope that the fight and excitement over it may, like Tennyson's brook, "go on forever."

only fair treatment from the Democrats.

Nothing was on hand excepting a discussion over the propriety of printing yesterday's executive session's speeches on the Chinese treaties, and Mr. Coukling had thus ample opportunity to go around among the senators. He availed him-self of it by actually begging many of the Democrats to join with him against Robertson. Mr. Edmunds and David Davis returned to their seats. They Did Not "Tumble." When Artemas Ward (Charles Browne) first lectured in London his jokes fell flat, and seeing how it was, he concluded his discourse with words to the effect that the audience on going out would be handed tickets to Constantinople and return.
