A Desperate Combat in the Presence Nelsonville, O., Correspondence of Cincinnat Commercial, May 3.

Orbiston is a mining settlement. It has a population of some two hundred persons, most of whom are miners and furnace men. Love and Brooks are employed at the furnace and have worked together several years. Some time ago they became engaged in a quarrel, which originated at a country dance and has lasted until to-day. They are both young men and Brooks has been married a little less than a year, and two days ago his wife bore him a child. Last night Brooks celebrated this event by getting on a spree, and returning to the furnace he met Love and the old feud was rekindled Some hot words were used and a fight ensued. Brooks picked up a heavy piece of cinder and struck Love on the head, and the fight ended for a time, Love sing to renew hostilities in the morning. When morning arrived Brooks was informed that Love had purchased a revolver, and he too prepared himself with a five shooter and proceeded with his friends to the furnace. There he met Love and a crowd of backers. Both were prepared for battle, and it did not take long to find sufficient cause. Followed by their respective cliques the two principals walked along together, calling each other hard names, until Love finally picked up a brick and threw it at Brook's head. This Brooks warded off, but received a severe bruise on the elbow; at the same time he drew a six-shooting thiryt-two calibre revolver men, but he did not fall. "Give it to him back," yelled one of the crowd, and Love also drew and fired. There were probably fifty men circled around the combatants, each urging his favorite to fire and each armed with a knife or pistol. The principals needed no encouragment, however. Long buried hatred had burst forth in the bosom of each, and frenzied with excitement, they fully determined to settle the matter then and there. The crowd yelled and the fighting continued unabated. Love was firing a little faster than his opponent, but Brooks' aim seems to have been none the steadier for the delay. The men were standing at short range, each firing alternately and in comparatively good order. Finally Love began retreating, Brooks followed him, still firing. Love backed as far as the engine house corner, and, again standing his ground, emptied his revolver at his opponent, who fell with a bullet in each leg.

The crowd surged around the fallen man,

from his weapon. Both men were now hors de combat, but each was anxious to continue the battle until one or the other would acknowledge himself defeated. The

BUSINESS SUITS

We have somewhere in the region of one hundred styles of business suits now ready to put on. A list of them would be the dullest of reading; and yet we want you to know substantially what they are like.

The lowest price is $8.50, and the highest is $20. They are all of wool. $8.50 is very little to get all-wool cloths, sponging, cutting, trimming, making, watching, handling, rent, book-keeping, advertising and selling, out of; but we manage to do it by dividing the costs among so many of you that one hardly feels his share at all; he pays for materials and work, and very little more.

We'll take another day for the rest; but you may as well come and see now as later. Seeing is better than reading.

Norris, Levis and Strawbridge, of Philadelphia, and their decided improvement under my practice. One of them came to me totally blind; the second nearly blind, and the third with almost constant neuralgia in and around the eyes, with impaired vision. A fourth patient, Miss Lizzle Brubaker, of Lititz, said: "My dyspepsia and other afflictions of long standing left me in a short time after going under your charge, and my glasses, worn since I was fourteen years of age, were laid aside as useless, and my vision is natural."
