MURDER AND SUICIDE.

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY NEAR MARIETTA

"Coyle" Ferryman's Son Kills a Gir and Tries to Kill Himself. special Dispatch to INTELLIGENCER. MARIETTA, May 30. This morning at about half-past five o'clock a murder and attempted suicide occurred at Coyle's Ferry across the river from this place in York county and directly opposite the Pennsylvania railroad depot. John Coyle, the only son of the well-known ferryman by the same name, shot and killed Emily Myers, a young girl who had been a servant in the family during the past winter : and then made two unsuccessful attempts to end his own life. At an early hour a number of persons had gathered at the scene of the tragedy awaiting the arrival of the coronor, J. Frank Magee, of Wrightsville, who with Constable Shoenberger arrived and took possession of the premises. On opening the door of the stable, which stands about twenty-five yards from the house, the young girl was found lying immediately outside of one of the stalls where cows are kept. The examination of witnesses by the coroner's jury elicited the facts that she had got up early to milk her cows and after several pistol reports had been heard John came walking into the house with blood on his clothes. His mother asked him how he got so bloody. He answered : "I shot myself and I shot Em.; she is lying out in the stable dead." A revoiver was found lying near her head and Drs. G. A. Rebman and J. A. Thompson, of Wrightsville, examined the body, finding only one wound, the ball having entered the breast about five inches from the top of the sternum and made its exit on the right side between the eighth and

Her murderer is twenty six years of age, of unsteady habits, and claimed to be of unsound mind. He had fallen desperately in love with the girl, and avers that she had promised to marry him, but she seemed to be trifling with him, and he says he made up his mind to shoot her. Frequently they would have quarrels, and some days ago he shot a revolver over her head ceased was from Chambersburg, where and grandmother, her parents being deads

She was about twenty years of age and rather prepossessing in appearance.

All through the excitement, until the inquest was over, Coyle lay in a room on the second floor on a bed and an examination of his wounds disclosed nothing serious. One ball had struck the sternum bone and glanced off and the other struck the occipital bone on the right side of the head, also glancing. He was considered to be in fit condition to be driven to Wrightsville, where he was taken to be sent to York. prietor of the hotel and ferry; the mother street, right resting on East King; march had a son who was killed in the late war ; to Centre square, to South Queen street, to the boy's training was not of the character to most improve his disposition and there was a good deal of wrangling around the house; as a precaution against tragedy the elder Coyle recently broke to pieces all to Chestnut, to Duke, to Lemon, to Lan-the guns on the premises. Young Coyle is an only child.

It seems that young Coyle shot at Miss Meyers on Saturday, and his father knew it and hid his pistol. He seems to have procured another, a Smith & Wesson seven shooter, and accosted the girl this morning. after she had finished her milking. She had set her pails down to let the cows out; and was just picking them up when he asked her if she would marry him. She replied "No, nor any one when he pulled out his pistol and shot her. He shot at himself twice and thought he had discharged all the loads. He alterwards asked his father for a pistol to fluish the job on himself. Miss M. was a distant relative of Mr. Coyle and very respectably connected. When her murderer threatened to shoot her, she lightly told him he was too big a coward to even kill a woman. But he was just coward enough > COURT. The Groff License Case.

This morning court met at 9 o'clock for the purpose of hearing the case of Samuel A. Groff, who is an applicant for a hotel license for the Sprecher House on Duke street, which now has a restaurant license. There was a remonstrance against the granting of the license which was gotten up by Levi Sensenig, owner of the Leop-ard hotel and Deichler saloon. It was signed by about a dozen persons. lleges that the Sprecher place is not fit for a hotel, as there is not the necessary room or stabling connected with the building, that there is no necessity for a hotel at this place, and that Groff is not a man of proper charcter to keep a hotel, as he has been selling liquor without license and on Sunday since he made this application. 'Depositions of Levi Sensenig. "Hoggy" Leonard, Wm. Leonard and others were read to sustain these charges. A great number of depositions were read on Mr. Groff's side. He claims that he recently leased this property and fitted it up as a hotel in excellent style at the cost of $3000, the house has been throughly remodeled and refurnished, there is plenty of stabling connected with the hotel which has all the other necessary conveniences. Mr. Groff denies that he ever sold liquor on Sunday; sold liquor (whisky) on several occasions, but he thought he had a right to do it pending the decision of the case; when he was informed by his counsel that he could not sell, he stopped and gave his bartenders strict orders not

The Parade-Scenes and Incidents. Decoration day opened clear and warm n various parts of the city flags floated at half-mast in honor of the dead heroes. The committee of the G. A. R. and their lady friends were busily engaged in completing the wreaths, crosses, anchore and other floral emblems with which the graves were to be decked. Early in the forenoon country musicians in uniform put in their appearance to be ready to take their place in the line of parade. Many persons living on the streets over which the parade was to pass prepared bouquets, wreaths, &c., to present to the men in line. At noon nearly all the stores, shops and other business places were closed and Centre square and East King street became crowded with men, women and children gathered there to witness the parade > dismiss. On reaching the several cemeteries com mittees appointed for the purpose placed the floral tributes upon the graves of all the fallen soldiers, the graves having been previously marked with small flags. The ritual was read at the grave of Walter G. Evans, in Woodward Hill.

At 2 p. m. the parade was formed and moved off in the following order:

> Driving Accident. On Saturday morning Henry Yost, a newly appointed driver for Geo. M. Steinaccompanied by the old driver, George Ellison, left Laucaster for Marticville, in a business wagon laden with flowers and sundry merchandise. On descending a steep hill beyond West Willow, one of the clips or slugs connecting the pole of the wagon with the running-gears broke causing the pole to fall and the wagon to run forward upon the heels of the horses. The animals ran at full speed to the bottom of the hill, and in crossing one of the "brakes" on the road the wagon upset. Both men were thrown out and Yost had his right arm broken, between the shoulder and clbow. Ellison escaped with a few bruises, and captured the horses after a hard run of about a hundred yards. The top of the wagon was badly broken, and would have been cutirely demolished had not the pole separated from the running gears. Mr. Yost's arm was set by Dr.

Winters of New Danville and he was then sent by rail to his home in this city. The Kenney Case. S. H. Reynolds, esq, of this city, who was in West Chester last week trying the case of Kenney vs. Kenney, has received from his colleague there a dispatch that the jury found in full for their client, the plaintiff, and son of defendant, and awarded him $2,700; and the dispatch attributes the result to Mr. Reynolds' effective speech. The parties are each proprietor of a hotel in West Chester, and no juryman was taken who stops with either. The suit, which created no little family and local feud, was brought to recover a note for $2,500 given by the father to the son, as consideration for him to rescind a real estate conveyance, which note it is alleged the father got from the son on false pretense, when he was sick, destroyed it, denied it and the payment he was to make of it. Hence the suit and the jury's verdict that they believed not the old man. Following is a list of unclaimed letters remaining in the postoffice at Lancaster for the week ending Monday, May 30,

A SUCCESSION OF FATALITIES. Drownings-Beatings-The Borough Bud At about three o'clock on Saturday afternoon Joseph, aged seven years and Mary, in her fifth year, children of John Augustein, deceased, were drowned in the reservoir above Lancaster svenue and near Mount Bethel cemetery. The reservoir is enclosed by a high fence and access to it is obtained by means of a gate on the pike. Over this gate the children climbed and approached the water, where it is believed they saw small fish swimming. Joseph took a position upon a plank on a level with or just above the water and, while reaching to eatch some of the fish in his hand he fell in. Mary in trying to rescue her brother also fell in and both met their deaths together. A cousin, a little child named Leibfried, was the only witness to the accident and she conveyed the information of the drowning. The bodies were recovered and were interred this morning in the German Catholic cemetery. Deputy Coroner John P. Frank held an inquest and a verdict of "accidental drowning" was rendered.

On Saturday evening a number of Columbians, fishermen by occupation, went to James Leece's hotel at Wrightsville. A number of countrymen in the barroom were ordered to clear out and they skipped. The new comers then directed their attention to Leece, who, it appears, had extended some assistance to the fish wardens when they were here. Leece was beaten unmercifully, and the assailants escaped, leaving their victim lying in a pool of blood and in a truly p itiable condible condition. Medical aid was summoned and Leece's injuries attended to, but, although he is doing as well as can be expected, fears are entertained that he may not recover. It is said his son stood behind the bar with a revolver in his hand, but did not use it-why, we connot fathom. Warants have been issued for the arrest of the assailants, but up to this time they are at liberty.

Rev. Henry Wheeler delivered a fine sermon before the graduating class of the high school and the board of school diectors in the M. E. church last evening. A victim of diphtheria, in the person of a child named Torbet, whose parents re-side near the St. Charles furnace, will be buried this afternoon. Revs. C. S. Gerhard, of the Reformed church, and Richard C. Searing, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, discoursed last evening upon "Translations of the Bible, with special reference to the revised version of the New Testament.'

A handsome pulpit Bible, the gift of George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, was received last evening by Charles P. Shreiner in behalf of St. John's English Lutheran church. The presentation speech was made by Rev. George Fraser, formerly of Indiana, who officiated for the congregation morning and evening. Mrs. P. A. Krodel also presented to the congregation a pair of hand-some collection baskets. Misses Kate F. Dinan, Mame Shuman and Annie L. Dean, teachers of the public schools, had their pupils together in one of the rooms on Friday afternoon and gave a sort of an entertainment. Rev T. A Floyd, of West Chester, preached in Vigilant hall yesterday morning and evening, for the new Baptist congregation. Mr. Nat Baker, of Altoona, is on a visit to his home. A smash-up of a wagon occurred at Wrightsville this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Lockard, with a couple of their children, of Philadelphia, are visiting in town to-day.

A committee from a Philadelphia Meth odist Episcopal church was here yesterday in attendance at Rev, Henry Wheeler's church. They represent a congregation without a pastor and the vacancy is to be filled, hence the significance of the visit. We hope Rev. Mr. Wheeler will not be called away.

Horse Frightened and Injured by the Cars. At Gordonville last night, after midnight, George Weinhold was driving a horse be longing to Hiram Esbenshade, of Paradise, when the animal frightened at an approaching freight train. Weinhold got out of the buggy, and holding him by the head succeeded in calming him. He then got into the buggy again and proceeded to drive on, not observing another train that was approaching in an opposite direction. But the horse saw it, and at once became entirely unmanageable, plunging straight at the cars. The breast and head of the frightened animal were shock ingly mutilated by contact with the side of a freight car, the fleshy part of the breast being cut completely off and blood pouring from the poor beast's mouth. The front part of the buggy was wrecked. Manwhile Weinhold sat in the vehicle unable to move through fright, but singularly enough, escaped without a scratch, The horse's injuries, which were quite se vere, were dressed by John Kilburn.

Consecratory and Anniversary Sermon. At St. Luke's Reformed chapel their new chancel furniture was consecrated at the morning service of yesterday. The attendance was large, and special music by the choir and beautiful floral decorations added much to the joyfulness of the occasion. Rev. Prof. J. S. Stahr, of Franklin and Marshall college, preached an eloquent sermon appropriate to the occasion from Gen. xxviit., 16-17.

In the evening the pastor, Rev. W. F Lichliter, preached an anniversary sermon he having completed the labors of one year in his pastorate. He had a highly interesting discourse from Psalm lxxxiv. 4"Blessed are they that dwell in thy house, they will still be praising thee." The statistics of the work of the past year were read and proved most encouraging.

Narrow Escape From Drowning. On Saturday Samuel Dunn and Harry Loucks, of this city, went swimming in the little Conestoga creek and made a narrow escape from drowning. The boys are only about ten years of age and they got A valuable two year old colt belonging to A. D. Gyger, of the Green Tree hotel, Reston, this county, was taken with lock about as long as your little singer. They will be put into the Juniata at Newport | by Fred Koch, Frank Hartmyer, Jacob and next year the up-river people will have Hartman and John Snyder, who were in more brain food and do less damning of bathing. They ran to their rescue and soon got the boys ashore. Dunn was unconscious for some time. Both boys had to be stood upon their heads and rubbed until they recovered.

The Day in Wilmington WILMINGTON, Del., May 30.-Decoration day is being more generally observed here than ever before, and business is largely suspended. There was a parade of military and poets of the Grand Army this afternoon. At New Castle the parade was the largest ever known there.

In the City of Brotherly Love. PHILADELPHIA, May 30 .- The day is being observed as a general holiday. All the cemeteries are crowded, and everywhere there is a profusion of flowers.
One of the most touching sights this morning was at the public schools.
On Friday last all the children took pots of flowers to school to be distributed among the various Grand Army posts, and this morning they were transferred to carriages to be taken to the various competeries. At most of the to the various cemeteries. At most of the schools the little ones assembled, and in accompanying the posts to the graves formed a pleasant relief to the dark formed a pleasant relief to the dark blue uniforms of the veterans. There were special ceremonies at the decoration of the Washington monu-ment in front of Independence Hall and a firing party at the grave of Gen. George II. Meade in Laurel Hill cemetery. At the latter cemetery an oration was delivered by Gen. Henry H. Bingham An oration was also delivered at the Lincoln monument in Fairmount park. The Michael Davitt branch of the Irish Land League strewed flowers upon the grave of Thos. S. Parnell, the home rule agitator in Woodland cemetery and also on the grave of the mother of Michacl Davitt in the scemetery at Manayunk.

A magnificent floral ship was also deposited on the grave of the late Commodore Stewart. There were separate ceremonies in all the cemeteries, including orations and singing by the Sunday school child-

NEARING A BALLOT.

The Senatoral Outlook at Albany. ALBANY May 30 .- Vice President Arthur, ex-Senators Conkling and Platt and other leading stalwarts reached this city this morning and are at the Delayan house. There are very few members of the Legis-lature in the city, and there is no excite-

The suggestion is made in some quarters that the Legislature take a recess until after the November elections and then come together again and vote for the two United States senators. It is said that then the members can vote more independently of the influences which now govern them, for the reason that they would know the disposition of their constituencies towards them. If they were renominated and reelected then they could understand that their respective positions now on the question were approved; if they are not renominated or not elected they can vote accordingly. This plan is attributed to the stalwarts. The administration supporters laugh at this proposition as entirely insufficient; they say they do not want to consider any plans just now. All they want is a vote in seasion no caucus, no plans, no machine contri-vances whatever. If Conkling and Platt cannot get the now requisite 80 votes owing to the absence of J. S. Carpenter, they say they will accept their defeat. They do not claim as yet that there will be 80 votes against the resigning senators. The fact is, no one knows certainly how the vote will stand. The administration section claim every member who has requested that he be taken from the call for a caucus as an opponent to Mr. Conkling. The stalwarts at the start put down some ninety names of members on their call for a caucus and these names crumbled away until the list contained only a minority, or some fifty names, but those who withdrew their names, or most all of them, never signed the paper ostracising Messrs. Conkling and Platt.

BALTIMORE, May 30. — Adolphus C. Schaeffer, jr., a prominent cotton broker, of this city about 40 years old, was found dead in his house to-day. He left his office on Monday last and not returning, his clerks supposed he had gone to the country where his family were to spend the summer. For several days a stench arose from his house and this morning the police were called in by the neighbors to investigate the cause. On breaking into the house Mr. Shaefer's body was found sitting in a chair in an sions Another Sad Domestic Tragedy New York, May 30 .- An inquest was held to-day in Brooklyn in the case of Edward Desendorf who shot his wife Sarah yesterday and then shot and killed himself. His wife is still alive and likely to recover. At the inquest testimony of witnesses went to show that Desendorf was jealous of his wife and this led to shooting. It was also stated that she gave him cause for jealousy. The jury found Desendorf had committed suicide while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.
