"The Nellie Tree."

A Mother who Helieves that it is Inhab-ited at Times by her Daughter's Spirit. An elm tree upon the main drive in Prespect park, Brooklyn, near the battle path, has been marked by a polishhd plate which bears the word "Nellie." It is a shapely tree, and stands in a favorable position to attract the attention of those driving through the park. The tree is the favorite in the park of Mrs. Howard, of Columbia Heights, whose husband was of the firm of Howard, Sanger & Co., and she obtained the permission of the park commissioners to have the plate upon its trunk in memory o put upon its trunk in memory her daughter Nellie, by whom was also much admired. Mrs. Howard and Miss Nellie took morning drives to the park and always stopped their phaeton beneath the shade of this elm. They became attached to the tree and otten spoke of it, and when they separated wrote of it to each other. Miss Nellie, who was 18 years of age, and a girl of many attractions and charming manners, was seemingly extravagant in her affection for the elm. which she often pronounced to be one of the most beautiful objects on

Last summer she went to Europe. Sh died in Rome of the fever. Her mother was almost heart-broken. When her mind was fixed upon her daughter's memory she felt drawn toward the elm tree in the park, and whenever she went there she told her friends that she seemed to come nearer to her lost child than at any other spot. It is said that Mrs. Howard began to believe that the spirit of her daughter came to that tree to meet her, and that she now approaches the spot in full expectation each time of being placed in communication with the spirit. Wishing to set apart the tree from the others, she caused it to be marked with the plate, and now it has become known by the park laborers as the " Nellie tree."

Since the tree has thus been marked it has been struck three times by lightning. a fact that arouses wonder among some of the superstitious laborers, but Mr. J. Y. Cuyler, the chief engineer of the park, says that the tree is exposed so that it attracts lightning. It was, however, never struck before it was marked.

A Human Pendulum.

Thrilling Exhibition of Nerve by a House Painter in Cincinnati.

Bernard Koehler and Fritz Hisgen, two painters, last week began painting the large house at Betts street and Central avenue Three o'clock in the afternoon found them close up under the eaves of the house and sixty-five feet from the ground. They had just finished the surface within reach and had started to lower the scaffold a few feet. When the required distance had been reached, Hisgen called to his partner to hang on to the rope until he (Hisgen) tied his own, when he would come over and perform a like service for him. His gen had just completed his own knot when Kochler cried out : "Come over quick, I can't hold it." Hisgen, as quickly as possible, started across the aerial bridge, but had not gone two steps when he saw the man let go his hold and felt the ladder give way beneath his feet. As he began the fall, in the energy of desperation, he, with both hands, grasp ed the almost smooth top of the fourth story window cornice and there hung in the air, a distance of sixty feet from the pavement. He then gave an exhibition of nerve that terrified every one that saw it. Placing the toe of one boot against the window frame he gave his body a slight pendulum motion away from the house. A second push gave him a better impetus and as he swung on the return toward the window he released his hold and went crashing through the glass safely to the floor of the fourth-story room, whence he immediately looked out through the aperture he had made to see what had become of his companion. Koehler had not been quite so fortunate. As he went shooting through the air he caught the hanging rope with both hands and lessened his speed all the way down at the expense of all the cuticle of his palms, which was burned off by the friction. He landed in a sitting posture on the sidewalk and was taken to the hospital with a pair of very readily prepare it. It acts with equal refliciency in either form.

More Wonderful Dreams.

Visions of Death, Burgiars, and of Error in Bank Accounts. In Huguenot, N. Y., since the publication of the wonderful dream of the charcoal burner at Indiantown Gap, some stories of curious dreams have been told. Several years ago Morris Frank, a baker, then living at Rondout, was badly hurt in a runaway accident. Simultaneously with the accident his sister, then living in Cheyenne, dreamed that he washburt in exactly that manner. She says she saw him fall from the wagon. Impressed with the dream, she wrote home and received letters soon afterward which verified it. Mr. Frank himself says that he had a vision of his mother's death and funeral in Germany. He told his children, as soon as he had this vision, that they must refrain from all festivities for ten days, At the end of that time he received intelligence of his mother's death, which oc-urred at the hour of his vision.

A bank cashier living near there says that some years ago, as he was balancing up the bank's accounts, he detected ar error, but could not place it, though he searched for days. One night, aftera long and late search, which was, as before unsuccessful, he dreamed that he saw the error. He noted the page, and the next morning, as soon as the bank was opened, he turned to the page, and there found the error that had puzzled his mind and cluded his search for days. The same man says that one night the president of the bank soon after retiring dreamed that he saw four masked burglars enter a back window of the house of the cashier, proceed to hi room, bind and gag him, take him to the bank, and force him to open the combina-tion of the safe. Awaking in a fright, the president went to the house of the cashier just in time to discover the burglars forcing open the identical window which appeared in his dream. He fired his revolver at them and frightened them away.

Another Candidate.

By a large majority the people of the United States have declared their faith in Kidney-Wort as a remedy for all the diseases of the kidneys and liver, some, however, have disliked the trouble of preparing it from the dry form. For such a new candidate appears in the shape of Kidney-Wort in Liquid Form. It is very concentrated, is easily taken and is equally efficient as the dry. Try it.—Louisville Post.

EYES!

This morning a trio of patients, from Reading, Philadelphia and Edgewood, Bucks county, each related their unfortunate experiences under the treatment of their eyes by the Oculists, Drs. Norris, Levis and Strawbridge, of Philadelphia, and their decided improvement under my practice. One of them came to me totally blind; the second nearly blind, and the third with almost constant neuralgia in and around the eyes, with impaired vision. A fourth patient, Miss Lizzie Brubaker, of Lititz, said: "My dyspepsia and other afflictions of long standing left me in a short time after going under your charge, and my glasses, worn since I was fourteen years of age, were laid aside as useless, and my vision is natural." No Oculist in this country or Europe can produce such results without they discover my remedies and applications, or similar ones. Persons wearing Glasses for far and near sightedness or other diseases of this organ can usually have them removed inside of two months and the vigor of their eyes restored to its normal condition. Names of persons cured of Astigmatism given upon application, a diseased condition of the eyes that no oculist ever pretends to cure. Also Cataract cured by absorption without using the knite. Send for or call and get (free) four pamphlets. One on cures of diseased eyes; one on catarrh; one on omnipathy, and the last containing a large number of names of persons cured of every variety of disease.

WANAMAKER & BROWN.

SHALL WE SELL THEM?

There is in Philadelphia a clothing house which has no double in all the world. The world is full of clothing houses; and it is a good deal to say that one is unlike all the rest.

First, in its dealing; and it is surprising that one house should differ much from another. Selling clothing is so simple a matter, that it is likely, one would suppose, to be done in very much the same way in Philadelphia, New York and London. But Philadelphia is ahead; and, curiously enough, one house in Philadelphia is ahead of all the rest.

To be ahead in dealing is to deal on a higher plane in a more liberal way, to give the buyer more well founded confidence without loss of the merchant's safety. This Philadelwhia clothing house says to a stranger: "We want to deal with exact justice. We want what belongs to us, viz., a fair profit; and we want you to have what belongs to you, viz., a liberal money's-worth. Our way to arrive at a result is to mark the price on everything we sell, which price is absolute; and to let you buy what you like, go away and think the bargain over, and come and trade back, if you want to. We find by experience that this liberality is harmless to us. Of course, you like it. And it makes quick and ready dealing. We don't want you to bring back what you buy-it would cost us money every time-; but we would rather you would bring back, than keep, what you don't like. So, we try to see that you get at first what you will like the better, the more you know of it. This is really the whole philosophy of our dealing."

Second, in its goods-the amount and variety of them. There are other houses where excellent clothing is kept, and a great deal of it; but there is none, anywhere, that keeps so much. The dealing related above has won the largest trade the world has yet seen. To supply such a trade great quantity and variety of clothing are required; and these in turn increase the trade, because everybody likes to choose out of many things, rather than out of a few. This is the country of ready-made clothing. Great Britain makes the most of any European country; but there is not in all London any clothing business a quarter as large as that of Oak Hall. New York has several large clothing businesses; but no one nearly equal to that of Oak Hall; Boston

Look back twenty years! Have we done you good service, or not? But that is not what we had in mind; we were thinking of the clothes you are going to buy. Shall we sell them?
