Farm and Garden.

Suggestions for the Summer Leisure.

On the extensive seed-farm of Messrs. L. and S. Sons not a chicken is to be found, but a large number of guinea-fowls are allowed the freedom of the grounds, which destroy insects of every kind and are considered invaluable in this respect.

The potato-beetles cross and recross rivers in their visitations. Many are seen daily, clinging to any support in the Delaware, and on their way to the other day while in the vicinity of Brigsburg, none were visible, but after starting for the New Jersey shore numbers were seen clinging to sticks floating in the river, and although no apparent damage was done to the plants they usually infest.

The late rains had a remarkable effect upon the grass and grain crops. We think they have added to the grass yield about fifty per cent. of the promise only two weeks ago. The wheat has also been benefited. Many thin places have been filled in; hence, while the wheat crop in this section will not be up to that of last year, it will still, most probably, be a pretty fair crop. The rice could not look better. We have not yet encountered a poor field.

The Fultz wheat, now so generally cultivated in many portions of the United States, was named after its discoverer, Abram Fultz, of Allentown, Milford county, Pa., and originated from three stalks which he found in a neighboring field.

There is every prospect that California will be a land of plenty during this year of grace. The crops are all in excellent condition, and the supply of fruit will be enormous unless some unforeseen disaster cuts it off.

Our information from the eastern counties of the state unites in the promise of an abundant crop of apples, pears, cherries, grapes, raspberries, &c. On our own contracted prospect could not be more encouraging.

There are some people—among them good nurserymen—who doubt the value of replanting newly-planted trees, and offer excellent reasons for it. While we do not agree with them to the extent to which they carry this objection, we think they are partially correct.

Everyone knows that wet soil is a great injury to growing crops, and yet a regular supply of moisture in the soil during the season, is one of the most important objects to accomplish. If soil, especially wet soil, is left undisturbed, it soon becomes hard; technically it "bakes," and the moisture escapes with marvelous rapidity. It is therefore an object to keep the surface loose. Moisture does not escape as rapidly through a loose surface as through a compact solid one.

who can do it; but all should aim to get as near this happiness as possible.

A Good Account.

To sum it up, a long year of seed-ridden sickle and suffering, costing $300 per year, total $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for Jones Waxes, Butler, N. Y.
