during the Centennial. He says he is from Chester county, where he married his wife. From the surrounding circumstances the neighbors think that Andrews had a quarrel with his wife and that she ran away from the house and was caught by him in the corn field and beaten to death. To hide the evidence of his crime he dragged the body to the house and set fire to the building.

Trinity's Piente.

On Thursday, July 14, the Sunday schools of Trinity Lutheran church will picnic at Pine Grove park, Cumberland county, the termions of the famous South Mountain railroad, a ride over which is itself declared by those who have enjoyed it to be worth a day's journey. The picnic grounds are situated 36 miles from Harrisburg via C. V. R. R., making the total distance from this city and return 111 miles and which makes the price of tickets-$1 for the round trip, with children half-price-appear exceedingly low. Pine Grove has long been regarded as the "layorite mountain picnic resort," patronized liberally by the people of Carlisle, Harrisburg and the neighbor hood. It is right in the heart of a beautiful and romantic country and the park is amply supplied with every convenience for the accommodation of picuic parties, so that a de lightful time is assured all who accompany the Trinity excursion, Sale of tickets will close to-morrow at Long's, Baker's, Hubley' and Heinitsh's drug stores.

For the Poor Children. The manager of the annual tree excursion for the poor children of this city announces the purpose to nold one shortly to which the children whose parents cannot afford to pro vide them with this healthful out-door recrea tion will be cordially invited. Mr. Leonard states that the date is not yet fixed, and it will depend largely upon the liberality of the popular response to the request for contributions in aid of this worthy charity. The park at Millersville has been selected as the place Mr. A. C. Leonard will thankfully receive con tributions in money or provisions.

AFTER THE 4th.

After the Fourth of July finds us heavily overstocked with many kinds of goods for summer. They must be sold at whatever price they will quickly

It isn't practicable to set particulars before you in the papers to-day, nor indeed any day, with anything like fullness. Whatever we have too much of for the season will be marked down as soon as we get to it, taking the most urgent things first.

Lawns that should have sold at 12} cents when they came, a week ago, must now go at 10 cents. . Woolen checks, debeiges, flannel suitings, silk and wool garnitures and black grenadines go down. Many sorts of hosiery; men's and boys' hats of a great many sorts; and all the ladies' trimmed hats and bounets go down. Boys' clothing suffers a severe sorting out. Some whole stocks and all broken ones go down. Laces, embroideries and white goods we can't reduce the price of, no matter how many there are; for we have all the trade

Besides goods that are so strictly seasonable as to be urgent, all the odds and ends in the store go down.

Whatever you may want there's a fair probability that we have it below the market price.

In the Whole History of Medicine No preparation has over performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable emedy to be kept always on hand in every nome. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. THE PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

Telegraphic Reports of To-day. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, July 6.—The following bulletin is just issued: 8:30 a. m.-The president has passed a most comfortable night and has slept well. His condition has remained throughout as favorable as when the last bulletin was issued. The pulse is becoming less frequent and is now 98; temperature 98, respiration 23. [Signed] D. W. Bliss, J. Woodward, J. K. Barnes, Robert Reyburn.

His Condition at 10:39 a. m. EXECUTIVE MANSION, 10:30 a. m. The condition of the president since the date of the last official bulletin, 8:30 a. m., has further improved. His pulse is now 96 and his temperature is normal.

In Good Condition.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6-11:30 A. M-Official--The president remains quite as comfortable as at the date of the last bulletin. He takes his nourishment well. Pulse 100, temperature 99.7, respiration 23.

[Signed] D. W. Bliss, J. K. Barnes, J. Woodward, Robt, Reyburn.

The Rise in the Pulse Officially Explaine d EXECUTIVE MANSION 12:55 P. M.—The slight rise in the pulse of the president since the official bulletin of 8:30 a.m. has been caused by the changing of the bed and the movement of the patient's body, which it necessitated. His symptoms are regarded as very favorable. Cooling the Koom.

1 P. M.-Unless some unfavorable change should occur no further official fore his case is not hopeless, although in bulletins will be issued until 8:30 p. m. Experiments are now being made under with different sorts of refrigerating appa ratus in order to relieve the president, if face readily to permit us to examine his possible, from the unfavorable influence of the great heat by artificially cooling the atmosphere of his room.

No Change EXECUTIVE MANSION, 2:30 P. M.-The president's condition at this hour remains unchanged, all rumors to the contrary not withstanding. Encouraged, but Auxlous.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 6.-Secretary Blaine has just sent the following telegram: Lowell, Minister, London: The president passed a very comfortable night and for the first time since he was wounded his pulse this morning is below one hundred. His physicians feel fresh encouragement, but are intensely anxious for the trying days yet to come. [Signed] BLAINE, Secretary of State.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6 .- The Republican county convention last evening adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with the president and his family and hopes for his recovery; condemning the dectrine of senatorial control of patronage; and, while congratulating the country on the fact that the assault on President Garfield is entirely devoid of political significance, yet holding that the course pursued by an eminent man has influenced a maniae to attempt the life of the chief magistrate of

MEDICAL OPINION.

What Dr. Agnew Says,

the disappearance of the pains in the legs the many other signs that the president's strong system is reasserting itself, are all too gratifying to be passed over without comment. I am averse to hinting at the new dangers that threaten the patient, because the newspapers find their way into that sick chamber with alarming ease. Everybody reads the newspapers about the White House. I found them, actually, in the sick room. Therefore, I think it wise not to talk about the dangerous way marks that stand at intervals along the road to recovery. Considerations for the patient stand before everything. It is by striving to forsee the effects of the future stages of the wound (all of which are natural and likely to arise) that the progress of the patient can be constantly assisted. For instance, the favorable bodily condition of the president proves far more clearly than the natural action of the bowels that the intestines have not been severed, because had the stomach or an intestine been cut death from blood poisoning would have occurred ere this. I do not regard the search for the ball as wise at this stage, and do not think for a moment that it will be attempted. Dr. Degrass, of Georgia, was the first to propose the heroic treatment suggested by Dr. Simms, but I doubt very much if the London surgeon would have pursued that course under all the circumstances. Nobody knows or can know exactly where that ball is lodged. I inserted my finger to its full length into the wound, far past the broken rib; still I cannot say where it is. I can surmise ; but who would dare to cut a patient open on a mere guess? Wherever the bail is there exists a clot of blood which nature or science must eliminate. I had a great number of cases during the war quite similar to President Garfield's, some of whom recovered. Therethe great majority of instances a fatal result follows. The tingling in the legs is not as serious a symptom as might be inthe supervision of the attending physicians | ferred, especially since Mr. Garfield moves his legs readily. He turned over on his wound. The exact location of the wound is on the right side, four inches from the spine. The missile entered between the tenth and eleventh ribs, the latter being broken. From the exterior appearance of the wound the presumption certainly would be that the liver has been traversed and that the ball is somewhere in the lower part of the abdomen. Either case would be equally dangerous.

The favorable symptoms Dr. Gross finds in the conclusive evidence that the bladder is not injured nor any of the small intes tines cut. The stomach is returning to its normal action. The patient has great physicial and mental strength in his ordeal. If no acute spmptoms of peritonitis appear by to-night the chances of recovery will be quite even.

Resoived, To the family of the president and especially to his heroic and devoted wife, we tender our heartfelt condolence and the assurance of our sympathetic regard.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the secretary of state of the United States, with the request that he lay them before the president and family at such time as he may deem suitable.

Messrs. Hayes, Brooks and Alvord spoke in appropriate terms of horror at the crime and sympathy with the victim of it, when theiresolutions were adopted by a rising vote.
