FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 29, 188 1. SUMMER.

She walks between the tasselled corn, Whose serried ranks her fair face screen ; She greets me with a careless scorn, And scornful laughter rings between.

Black-haired, red-lipped, her dark, bright fac The toy of every woman's whim; Her form the mould of sensuous grace Supple and smooth, and round of limb.

And is it Summer I behold, A breathing splendor stretched and warm Within her bosom's plenteous fold She thrusts a brown and shapely arm.

This harvest nymph, whose loosened braid Drops down a cheek of glowing tan, Incarnate Summer is, and made To satisfy the heart of man.

Nay, but a simple country lass, That dark, abundant beauty wears; Her poppied slumbers softly pass, The ripened harvest warmth she shares.

Beside her couch the heat is sore-Her silken couch, with green o'erlaid; Whose glistening spears I pass before, And leave unharmed my barefoot maid. -Elaine Goodale.

Guessing the Hog's Weight. A dog fight sends the pulse of a village up to 130, and a foot race or a knock-down will almost restore gray hairs to their original color; but for real excitement let a man come along in front of the tavern about sundown driving a hog. "Hay, where you going?"

"Going to sell this hog." "Hold on a minute; what does he weigh ?"

"Oh, about 225." "You're off; he won't go over 200."
Every chair is vacated on the instant. Every eye is fastened on the hog rooting in the gutter, and every man flatters himself that he can guess within a pound of the porker's weight. "That hog will pull down jist exactly 196 pounds," says the blacksmith, after a long squint. "He wou't go an ounce over 185," adds the cooper. "I've got a $2 bill that says that hog will kick at 210," says the hardware man. "You must be wild," growled the gro-cer; "I can't see over 150 pounds of meat

Twenty men take a walk around the porker, and squint and shake their heads and look wise, and the owner finally says : "If he doesn't go over 220 I shall feel that I am no guesser. "Over 220! If that hog weighs 220 pounds, I'll treat this crowd !" exclaims the owner of the 'bus line. "I dunno 'bout that," muses the 'squire, who is on his way to the grocery for but.

"Some hogs weigh more and some less. What breed is this hog?" "Berkshire." "Well, I've seen some o' them Berk sheers that weighed like a load o' sand, and then agin I've seen cm' where they was all skin and bone. Has anybody guessed that this hog will weigh 900?" "Well, that's a leetle steep, but I've kinder sot my idea on 350." By this time the crowd has increased to The 'squire lays half a dollar on 250, and the owner of the hog rakes in several bets "between 220 and 225" The porker is driven to the hay scales, and the silence is almost painful as the weighing takes

"Two hundred and twenty-three," calls the weigher. Growls and lamentations smite the evening air, and stake-holders pass over the wagers to the lucky guessers, chief of whom is the owner of the hog.

"Well, I'm clear beat out," says the 'squire. "I felt dead sure he would weigh over 300."

"Oh, I knew you were all way off," explains the guileless owner. "When we weighed him here at noon he tipped at exactly 223, and I knew he couldn't have picked up or lost over a pound." The Canadian Prophet.
