BURGLARY.

A Safe Blown Open and Robbed. Last night or very early this morning the safe in the railroad station house a Witmer's station, on the Pennsylvania railroad, a few miles east of this city, was blown open and robbed of between $60 and $70-all of which, except about $7, was the personal property of Christian Musselman, the railroad agent. The rob bery was not discovered until this morning, when Mr. Musselman went to the office. It appears that the thieves first entered the warehouse of Mr. Musselman, which is a short distance from the station house, by breaking the padlock which fastens the front door. From the warehouse they took a digging iron and a heavy crowbar used for moving cars. With these they forced open the outer and inner doors of Mr. Musselman's office in the station house. They then forced a quarter inch hole into the lock of the new Farrell & Herring safe, lately purchased by Mr. Musselman, and charging it with gun powder or some other explosive, blew off the door of the safe. With chisels and other tools they then broke open the inner apartments of the safe and robbed them of their contents as above stated.

The job appears to have been done by men who understood their business and were acquainted with the premises. A single hole was bored into the safe just below the point at which the 'combination" is made. The hole was bored with a brace and bit; and the brace and two chisels, besides the digging iron and crowbar, were left by the thieves in the office. The explosion appears to have been made while a train of cars was passing, and Mr. Musselman, whose residence is not far off, heard nothing of it. Mr. Henry Shiffer, who also lives near by, states that he heard a loud report about one o'clock, and this was the time prob ably that the safe was exploded. Though Mr. Musselman has some suspicions as to who the burglars are, no clue to their identity has been ascertained. The police of this city has been notified and Mr. Musselman says he will pay $25 for the detection and conviction of the thieves. It will be recollected that Mr. Musselman's place was robbed about ten days ago of a quantity of flannel, which was found on the bodies of two tramps who were arrested and are now awaiting trial for

COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE. Rev. G. Reed, of Philadelphia, is visiting at Mr. D. C. Wann's. Market this morning was the largest we have had for over three years.

Last evening a cattle train passed through Columbia eastward. Two cars contained a fine breed of horses from Ken-A canary bird belonging to Miss Annie Purple, escaped from its cage last evening while being fed. Miss Beckie Hagman, who has been visiting Miss Lillie Wilson, for some time past, leaves to-day for Wrightsville, where she will remain for the next week.

A party was given at the residence of Mr. George Zeiger, in honor of Miss Wompler, of York, who has been visiting here for some time. This morning Mr. Samuel Campbell, on Fourth street, tried a new horse, and if " gait " is an object the horse proved to be a good one. A number of Columbia's young folks will have a boating excursion this evening, and after having their row will stop at Wrightsville for refreshments. The Spy this week gives Rodenhouser's side of his story concerning the Loney arrest, which is only fair, as last week he gave the other side. The major can be fair if he tries to be.

From the dome of the opera house a fine view of Columbia and the neighboring towns can be had, and it is now being taken advantage of, as parties are on it nearly all the time.

Master Sam. Davis, a lad about ten years old, and the guest of Master Horace Detwiler, is a very expert bicycle rider. Every evening he takes his bicycle out and astonishes the people on Second street, by his skillful riding.

Mr. J. R. Henry, Columbia correspondent of the Lancaster Examiner, and painter by trade, received and finished a contract for notice boards from a party in Lancaster. They present a very fine appearance, as all the work done by this young gentleman undoubtedly does. Every piece of work he does is neat and original

Our citizens will be pleased to learn that the case between Henry Rodenhouser vs. 'Tow Hillers," and which was tried at court, at Lancaster, yesterday, was decided in favor of the former. A number of colored witnesses were present, and as soon as their evidence was finished. Rodenhouser and a number of his friends felt that their case was already won. After Henry's witnesses has given their testimony, the "coons" looked sick. The jury was not out over five minutes when they returned and rendered a verdict of "not guilty," and Williams and Dunmore, proscentors, to pay all costs. A. J. Kanfiman, esq. appeared for the defendant.

Last evening Mr. F. Auberstein celebrated his 25th anniversary of married life. A large crowd was in attendance, mong them being the German Knights of Pythias, of which Mr. A. is a member. Numerous and costly presents were given and an enjoyable time was had. Mr. Sam Lensing, an employee at the Upp & Black contract, while rolling a large stone up an incline this morning slipped and fell. The stone began rolling backward, and before Samuel could get Amittage, 73; James McKnight, 124; his legs out of the way it passed over on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment both of them, inflicting several ugly bruises and cuts. No bones were broken. A report was current last evening that Amos Randall had shot at a barber, both parties being colored. There is no truth in the statement. A pistol had been fired off but it happened in this way : Randall was talking to the barber about an occurrence at the opera house, and to make his words more expressive drew a pistol, laid it over his arm and went on talking. The weapon by some chance or other happened to be cocked" and the trigger eatching on his coat sleeve was discharged, narrowly miss

The full dress inspection of Co. C last evening was graced by the presence of a large audience of ladies. The drilling of the company was good and gave entire satisfaction to the members and the audience. Some time on Monday mo ning the company leave for their encompment. If the report about the railroaders not getting permission to "stop off," be true, Co. C will have a slim turnout, and thereby lose its chance of getting as good crowd as they had at their last annual

[On account of temporary absence from town, the regular correspondent's place here will be tilled by Mr. Charles Filbert, and those who have so kndly assisted us in supplying us with items of news, will place us under further obligation by doing the same for our substitute.—Col.-CMRIA REPORTER. 1

Edward Wetchans's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Edward Welchans took place this afternoon from his late residence, No. 20 West Orange street. and was largely attended by the Masonic fraternity, the Red Men, firemen and citizens generally. The Lancaster Commandery, No. 13, K. T., of which Mr. Welhans was a past officer, met at their asylum at 2 o'clock. They were in full uniform and were accompanied by the Keystone band. They marched in a body to the late residence of the deceased, where impressive religious services, conducted by Rev. C. E. Houpt, of Grace Lutheran church, were held. Metamora Tribe, No. 2, I. O. R. M., and the Empire hook and ladder company, No. 1, of which deceased was a prominent member, also attended in a body. After the religious services had ended, and an opportunity had been given friends to take a last look at the face of deceased, the Knights Templar, under command of Capt. General Jere. Rohrer, took the body in charge, and the funeral cortege moved to the Lancaster cemetery, the Keystone band played a solemn dirge en route. The bell on the Empire house was tolled as the procession was in motion, and the last sad rites conducted.

Arrived at the grave, the burial service of the Knights Templar was read by E.C. David H. Wylie and Prelate C. M. Howell. At the close of the service the Sir Knights and Red Men dropped into the grave their last tribute of respect to the memory of the departed, and all that was mortal of Edward Welchans was laid at rest. It will be of interest to Mr. Welchans' many friends to learn that I. L. Register, the financial agent of the Equitable insurauce company, in which Mr. Welchans' was insured, having heard of Mr. Welchans' death before being officially notified of it, at once sent death blanks to Dr. Bolenius, the local agent, with instructions to have them an once filled up and certified, with a view to a speedy settlement of the claim.

Eating Quite Heartily. EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, D. C., Aug. 20., 12:15 P. M .- Unofficial .- The president has taken nourishment through the mouth several times to-day, and in considerable quantities. In all he has swallowed gastric disturbance. It has not been thought prudent up to the present time to give him any other kinds of liquid food, but the juice of a beef steak is now being prepared and will be tried soon. If will henceforth be given every day. An enema was also administered to the pa-

Postmaster General. The Noon "Official." EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, Aug, 20, 2:30 p. m.—Official.—The president continues to do well. He is taking liquid food by the mouth in increased quantity and with relish. The nutritive enemata are still successfully given, but at longer intervals. His pulse is now 107, temperature 98.4, respiration 18. At the morning dressing the wound was looking well and the pus discharged was of a healthy character. After the operation of August 8th, the flexible tube used to wash out the wound at each dressing readily followed the track of the ball to the depth of three and a half or four inches. At the dressing, however, a small quantity of healthy pus came, as was believed, from the part of the track beyond this point, either spontaneously or after gentle pressure over the anterior surface of the right iliac region, but this deeper part of the track was not reached by the tube until yesterday morning when the separation of a small slaugh paramitted. The following a small slaugh paramitted to the separation of a small slaugh paramitted.

This facilitates the drainage and the cleansing of the deeper parts of the wound, but has not been followed by any increase in the quantity of pus discharged. The large pus cavity which had formed in the immediate vicinity of the broken rib is filling up with healthy granulations, half inches from the internal surface of the is filling up with healthy granulations, and the original wound of entrance as for as that cavity has healed.

They have constantly been using hot external applications to scatter it and to prevent suppuration, and during the night they were especially earnest in their efforts to that end, but they were not successful. The situation in short this morning is one of hope and uncertainty. The swollen gland creates apprehension and has not yielded to the treatment. If it shall suppurate the surgeons appear to apprehend some results, the nature of which they do not disclose."
