WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 24, 1881. The Professional View of it.

Brooklyn Eagle. Yesterday afternoon two young medical idents met in a Fulton street saloon and fell into conversation on the assassination. "I am inclined to think the attending physicians have misapprehended the president's case; what do you say, doctor?"

asked one. "I agree with you, doctor," replied the 'As soon as they discovered that the bullet had penetrated the laudable pus, they should have made an effort to extract

"My idea exactly. And if peritonitis supervened, they could readily have reduced it with a borax gargle. Don't you think they might have lowered the peritoneal wall into the abdominal cavity so as to have reduced the pressure on the liver, doctor ?"

"They might, doctor, but wouldn't that have produced lesion?" "Certainly. But, doctor, they could then have turned the lesion over and in that way reduced the respiration at the

"You are right, doctor. If I'd been there I should have drawn the bullet back and downward, in order to relieve the inflamed parts." "I see : and tied the arteries at your leisure. Yes, yes. Did you get the impression that any of the ligaments were cut by the bullet?"

"I think one of the anterior vessels was severed, and the rush of blood into the stomach is all that saved his life. Have you considered, doctor, that the bullet may pass into the femoral artery and make the patient lame?"

"No, I hardly think so. If these physicians understand their business, they'll tie the spinal cord around the bullet and then they can pull it out at any time. I would not recommend its removal now." "Certainly not, doctor. I thought of one thing that would have worked well in the earlier stages, but it's too late now, and that was during the fever to increase the temperature until the bullet melted, permitting it to pass off through the

"A most capital idea, doctor! Why on earth didn't you recommend it at the time?" "Oh! I wasn't called into the case and didn't like to interfere. What did you think of old Breyfogle's lecture on the subclavain artery?" "He is an old ass! Anybody knows that the clavain arteries are the root of sciatica, which will only yield to amputation. Going to the baseball to-morrow?"

"Yes, I'm scorer. Good day, doctor!" "Good-day, doctor !" Thera's been a heap of medical wisdom wasted on the president's wound, and not altogether by the younger men of the pro-

 Complications. If the thousands that now have their rest and comfort destroyed by complication of liver and kidney complaints would give nature's remedy, Kidney Wort, a trial they would be speedily cured. It acts on both organs at the same time and therefore completely fills the bill for a perfect remedy. If you have a lame back and disordered kidneys use it at once. Don't neglect them.—Mirror and Farmer.

DEIGART'S OLD WINE STORE. Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afficient with Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease. Descriptions a medific remedy, which is ease Dyspepsia, a specific remody, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is REIGART'S OLD BRANDY,

TIMES HAVE AREAST KING STREET.

Sold by our enterprising young friend, II E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or ases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy. In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num bers of witnesses—one case in particular we

A hard-working farmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Heer. He is a Mcthodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he2chose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician. H. E. SLAYMAKER,
