FORGERY.

Arrest and Escape of the Forger.

On Tuesday W. W. Weinhold, cigar manufacturer of Union station, East Cocalico township, was arrested on charge of forging and passing a check for $800 on Mr. Eshleman (probably John B. Eshleman, of Ephrata township.)

Weinhold escaped from the constable who had him in charge near Manheim Tuesday night, since which time nothing has been heard of him.

A week or two ago Weinhold attempted to perpetrate a similar fraud on Philip Lebzelter, of this city. Late in the afternoon he called at Lebzelter's, to whom he owed about $20, and said he wanted to pay the bill, and tendered in payment a check on the Manheim national bank for $75, purporting to be signed by John S. Miller and endorsed by Weinhold. He said he offered the check in payment because he got to town too late to get it cashed at bank. As Mr. Charles E. Downey, Lebzelter's clerk, had seen Weinhold in town a good while before the banks closed, he suspected all was not right and told Weinhold he would have to wait until he could get change. Downey went at once to the telegraph office and telegraphed to the Manheim bank. He soon received an answer that Weinhold had no funds there. Mr. Downey of course declined to cash the check Weinhold was a soldier during the late war and lost an arm while in the service.

A NEW MUSIC BOOK.

"The Franklin Square Song Collection,"

We have upon our table a new music book just issued from the press of Harper & Brothers, New York, entitled "The Franklin Square Song Collection." The volume was edited and prepared for the press by Prof. J. P. McCaskey, principal of the boys' high school, Lancaster It contains 160 pages of music and about 200 choice selections of songs and hymns, some of them new and many of them old ones which, as the editor truly says, "the world would not willingly let die." The book is intended more especially for the home and the school, and contains in addition to the fine selection of hymns, songs and ballads a large amount of reading matter comprising notes and paragraphs on subjects of much importance and interest, not only to musicians, but to persons of all ages and callings. The book has been adopted for use in the Lancaster high school and should find a place also in every family. Price only 40 cents.

Lancaster Cart Harness.

Amos Miley, harness maker, this city, shipped to-day to L. L. Bush general superintendent of the Philadelphia, Newtown & New York railroad, thirty sets of cart harness to be used during the construction of that new line of railroad. The harness was shipped to Greensburg, Pa., and is of superior workmanship.

M. Haberbush, harness maker, this city has shipped to J.J. Fitzpatrick, contractor, Staunton, Va., twenty-four sets of cart harness to be used by him in the work on his contract. Mr. Haberbush has also manufactured and has on exhibition two sets of unusually strong and durable cart harness, made for B. J. McGrann which are of superior finish.

Died in the West.

Intelligence has been received in this city of the death in South Vallejo, California, of Mrs. Agnes Eberman, relict of the late Henry F. Eberman and daughter of the late David Wylie, and a sister of D. H. and W. T. Wylie, of this city. The sad event took place on August 20 at the residence of her brother-in-law, John B. Robinson. Mrs. Eberman has many friends in this city. She left here for California in 1871 in hopes of benefiting her impaired health, but she remained in ill-health during the greater part of the time she resided in the far West

Another Old Bible.

A correspondent writing from Marietta informs us that John G. Book of the Lititz Sunbeam owns a German Bible in a good state of preservation a hundred years older than the Bible belonging to Mr. Elser, of which we made some notice a few day ago. Mr. Book's Bible is said to have been printed in 1530 or 1540. We made mention of Mr. Elser's Bible not on account of its great age, but great size, its profuse illustration, and the mass of Biblical, historical and other interesting matter printed and bound in connection with it.

The Public Schools.

This morning between 8 and 9 o'clock the streets were thronged with many hundreds of neatly dressed children, carrying armsful of books and stationery and wending their way to the several public schools of this city, which reopened to-day. We have not yet a report of the number in attendance at the several schools, but the aggregate is probably considerably over 3,000.

Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon as Dr. Edw. Bowman, of Neffsville, accompanied by his son, was driving on Chestnut street, opposite the Pennsylvania railroad passenger depot, this city, his horse took fright and ran furiously along Chestnut street and up Duke street to Walnut, where it was caught. The harness was torn but neither the doctor nor the boy was hurt.

Case Dismissed.

Wm. Butler, colored, was to have had a hearing last evening before Alderman Barr on the charge of assault and battery, preferred by Wm. Jones, also colored. The prosecutor failed to appear and the case was dismissed.

Cancelled Their Date.

The Holman opera company, which was to have appeared here next week, have cancelled their date, having changed their route. They will be here later in the year.

Police Cases.

There were three drunks in the station house this morning. One of them got fifteen days in prison, and two others were discharged.

Amusements.

"Alvin Joslin" To-night.—Charles L. Davis will appear at Fulton opera house this evening in the title role of his character comedy, "Alvin Joslin," which is thus spoken of by the London (Ont.) Free Press: "The play is of an extremely ludicrous character, and judging from the continued buzz of merriment, was fully appreciated by those present. Mr. Davis, as the Yankee farmer abroad, was, of course, the centre of attraction, his droll sayings and general 'make-up' being of a most amusing character. The other members of the company sustained their parts well."

"The Galley Slave."—That gifted and beautiful actress, Miss Maud Granger, supported by Frank Evans, J. B. Booth and others of note in the dramatic profession, will be at Fulton opera house next Tuesday evening in Bartley Campbell's successful play of "The Galley Slave." Miss Granger's name is itself an assurance of a first-class entertainment, as all who retain a recollection of her excellent work here last winter will freely admit.

MEDICAL.

REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE.

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afflicted with Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than

Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

A Sovereign Remedy

or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY,

Sold by our enterprising young friend, H. E. SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are brandied. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of

Reigart's Old Brandy,

In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—

A hard-working farmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

Reigart's Old Brandy,

In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he chose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A PRACTISING PHYSICIAN.

THIRD EDITION.

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 1, 1881.

Some Fever Last Night, Which has Disappeared.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, Sep. 1.—8:30 A. M.—Towards nine o'clock last evening the president had some feverishness and his pulse ranged from 108 to 116. This condition, which was unaccompanied by rigors or sweating, had subsided at midnight and did not interfere with his sleep. He had on the whole a good night and this morning his condition is fully as favorable as yesterday at the same hour. Pulse 100, temperature 98.4, respiration 17.

J. K. BARNES,
J. J. WOODWARD,
ROBT. REYBURN,
F. H. HAMILTON.

The Contemplated Removal.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, Sept. 1.—11 A. M.—In conversation with an associated press reporter this morning Dr. Boynton said the slight fever reported last night was not of any great consequence. It was transient and of short duration. The patient thus far has not gained much in bodily strength, though he made a little progress in that direction yesterday. As to the wound, Dr. Boynton would be better satisfied if it discharged a little more than it does, but it also has improved. If he continues to improve he may be moved a week hence and could travel by rail or water. He might possibly be taken first to Long Branch. The question is to be discussed to-morrow on Dr. Agnew's return.

The Accelerated Pulse.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1, 12:30.—The official bulletin shows the president's condition to be not materially changed from the same hour yesterday, except that the pulse is somewhat more frequent. Pulse 108, temperature 98.6, respiration 18.

The Patient's Appetite Good.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Sept. 1, 1:15 p. m.—The president is having a comfortable day. He chewed another piece of beef steak and swallowed the juice early this morning, and since then has had a little chicken cooked in milk, besides his usual allowance of beef extract and porridge. All symptoms continue favorable.

Doing as Well as Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—2 P. M.—Unofficial—The surgeons report that up to this hour there has been no material change in the president's condition since the noon bulletin. They think that with the exception of the somewhat higher pulse he is doing as well to-day as yesterday.

Arthur's Accession Discussed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—Now that the president's eventual convalescence seems assured, the subject of executive business is again discussed, and in connection therewith the feasibility of Arthur acting as president until Garfield's recovery. Although it is positively known, no cabinet meeting has been held or called to discuss the subject, yet it is acknowledged by cabinet officers, that several informal exchanges of opinion have taken place, and it has been found that grave differences exist as to the wisdom of such action. It is safe to say, therefore, that at present this step will not be advised by the cabinet.

THE BLESSED RAIN.

Making Glad the Hearts of the Western People.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Dispatches received here show that rains fell last night all over the northwest and in southern Illinois, greatly benefiting corn wherever the crop was not wholly destroyed by drouth.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 1.—Over three inches of rain fell here last night in less than one hour.

DESMOINES, Sept. 1.—A heavy storm of wind and rain occurred here last night accompanied by lightning. Two and fifteen-hundredths inches rain fell in about three hours. East Side shoe house was struck by lightning.

The Forest Fires in Algiers.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Algiers says it is estimated that the surface over which the flames passed in the province of Constantine during the recent forest fires, was two hundred thousand acres, mostly coverered with brush wood. The governor general has ordered the removal of the natives from the forest districts.

Demoralized Grain Markets.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept., 1.—The wheat and corn markets were both demoralized to-day by notice from the Canton elevators that in consequence of large accumulation of grains in the elevators and on track, notice will be given of an increase in the rate of storage if relief is not immediately offered.

Cameron's Candidate.

Wharton Barker's American.

"General Bailey has no particular record which suggests him for the place, nor has he any remarkable abilities to single him out for responsibility. His chief and crowning claim lies in the fact that he was one of "the Chicago immortals"—the "306" gentlemen who were lost forever in the confusion of the Chicago explosion last June. But General Bailey combines in himself just what Senator Cameron has catalogued as the only sound qualifications for public office, namely: Absolute obedience to orders, including the betrayal of the people's trust; absolute adherence to the "machine," including the denial of rights to those who oppose the same; absolute abhorrence of honst politics, and absolute fidelity to the fraud and corruption that is part and parcel of the bosses' system. General Bailey could not be Mr. Cameron's candidate were he not all this. But it is idle for the bosses to contend. The people will win in the end. Senator Davies, who represents the true Republicans of the state, will be elected. He had the manliness to oppose Senator Cameron's wishes in regard to a senator last winter, because he possessed sufficient honor to obey the people who elected him, and whose will is always superior to the will of those chosen as the people's representatives.

The Widely Extended Heat and Drouth.

From all parts of the United States come reports of excessive heat and drouth. At Lansing, Mich., the thermometer the other day was 102 degrees in the shade. At Gibson, Ill., the weather is described as "frightful," since no rain has fallen since June, and fall plowing is impossible. Pittsburgh, Pa., has been without rain for eighteen days, the thermometer is at 97 degrees and "everything is drying up." Greenwich, Conn., laments the parched grass, hard earth and clouds of dust. Long Branch, N. J., has nothing to complain of yet, but Louisville, Ky., Greenbrier county, W. Va., and Abbeville, S. C., concur in reporting the heat as unendurable, and the long-continued want of rain as ruinous to the crops not yet harvested as well as to those for which the farmer would like to begin to make preparation. The hurricane at Savannah on the 29th was too short lived to compensate by the rain it brought for the damage the wind did. It is pleasant to know, however, that there are now indications of a break-up of the drouth inland.

Unæsthetic South Africans.

A resident of Grahamstown, South Africa, Mr. Abbott, offered a little while ago to ornament the walls of the town hall by placing a dado round the skirting and when his generous offer was reported to the town council an animated discussion arose as to what a dado really was. After a number of conjectures had been hazarded, the mayor suggested that it must be "an ecclesiastical term"—something between an alb and a reredos, we suppose. This suggestion fell flat, whereupon a Mr. Roberts corrected the mayor, and aired his own architecture to the effect that a dado "was neither an ecclesiastical term nor a vestment but was a wooden skirting about four feet high with a cornice at the top." Roberts was promptly snubbed in his turn, and permission was finely voted to the public-spirited Mr. Abbott to put the thing up, whatever it might be, and let the city fathers see for themselves how they liked it.

Fires in the Oil District.

The oil country is being scourged with a series of destructive fires. Last night sparks from a locomotive on the Kendall & Eldred railroad set fire to an oil well near Baker's Trestle. The flames spread rapidly, and thirty rigs and about three thousand barrels of oil have been consumed. The drought has made scarcity of water, and the fire is still raging, threatening wholesale destruction of oil property. Forest fires are raging at various points near Bradford. Gangs of men are fighting the flames, but they are working against desperate odds. If the fire at Baker's Trestles is not got under control soon several monster iron tanks in the vicinity will go up in smoke.

The Crops.

KEOKUK, Iowa, Sept. 1.—The Gate-City publishes the crop report from sixteen counties and seventy-five towns in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri. The reports show that wheat will be short, in fact it has been the greatest sufferer by the unpropitious season. Corn will yield better than has been anticipated all along and there will be plenty to meet the wants of all. Little feeding of stock will be done by farmers, but they announce that they will have grain to spare for their stock. Oats have turned out fairly though in some localities are light and chaffy and don't weigh out well. There was a large acreage of two-third of a crop, Timothy seed yielded sparingly the average being two bushels per acre. Hay is of a fair average crop and of good quality.

An Eventful Career.

Col. Henry T. Titus, who died at Titusville, Florida, a few days ago, had a remarkably adventurous career. He was born in New Jersey, but in his youth went to Florida, where he joined the Lopez expedition. In a hand-to hand encounter at Cardenas he cleft the skull of a colonel of lancers at a single blow. He essayed another landing in Cuba, but was unsuccessful. He was in the thick of the quarrel in Kansas in 1859, and once had a scuffle with Ossawattomie Brown. He served in the Confederate army, joined the Walker expedition to Nicaragua, led a wild life in Mexico, Arizona and Colorado, and in his old age founded the flourishing Florida town that bears his name.
