Mr. Evans moved that A. K. Warfel be appointed collector of unpaid taxes for the ensuing year. The motion was agreed to and the official bond of Mr. Warfel, with John B. Kreider as surety, in the sum of $8,500, was presented and approved.

The proposed amendments to the rules of the board offered by Mr. Baker at the last meeting were read and laid over for final action at the next stated meeting.

President Warfel called John I. Hart man to the chair, and, taking the floor made a statement regarding the unusually heavy bills presented to the board during the past year for books for alleged "indigent" pupils. He had investigated the matter with some care and found that the board during the last year had paid for books for such pupils the sum of $696.07more than twice as much as had been paid during the preceding year, or any previous year. This heavy amount had suggested a suspicion that something was wrong and he had investigated the matter. He had found that some of the directors had been in the habit of signing every order for books recommended by the teachers; and that teachers had recommended the purchase of books without proper inquiry into the indigence of the applicant, supposing that the directors would make the neces sary inquiry. One of the teachers (Miss Johnston) refused to make application for books for a pupil, because she knew the parents were abundantly able to purchase the books, whereupon a member of the board of directors peremptorily application for the books. The president also said that Miss Johnston had informed him that books of the same kind at the expense of the board had been asked for and furnished to the same pordered the teacher to make the pupil twice during a single session, The president further stated that it was in his knowledge that other teachers who had objected to make application for books for "alleged" indigent parents have been overruler by directors, and the books purchased for pupils whose parents were in no sense indigent. Very few of the teachers keep a record of the books furnished pupils at the expense of the school board. Miss Huber is an honorable exception in this respect as she keeps a complete record, and there may be a few other teachers who are also entitled to credit. but not many. The president concluded his remarks by referring to the very large number of second hand school books to be had at the stores, and hinted that perhaps a good many of them belonged to the board. He offered the following resolutions, though he understood that other members of the board had other resolutions to offer which would probably more fully cover the case. Following were Mr. Warfel's reselu-

Resolved. That the superintending committee be directed to prepare, rules under which text books may be loaned to in digent pupils in the public schools.

That all such books should be considered the property of the board, the teachers arrested him here at the Adams express should see that proper care is taken of them, and when they are no longer needed for the purpose for which they were given, they should be returned to the teacher to be again used by other pupils under similar circumstances.

The teacher should keep a record of all such books and see that they are all returned, and the city superintendent should be directed to have the rules embodying the above rigidly enforced.

Mr. Cochran said that when the abuse referred to by the president had reached his ears he had drawn up the following resolutions which he offered for adoption. though they did not perhaps cover the evening, at the breaking up of the meetground so well as those offered by the president.

Mr. Cochran then offered the following resolutions as a substitute : Resolved, That it shall be the the duty of the principals of the different schools to keep an accurate record of the pupils of their respective schools, whose books and school apparatus are furnished by the ning loose in a field along the roadside, board, together with the list of books and apparatus so furnished to each pupil, and causing Mr. Ober to fall off the wagon before promotion to other schools to col- and a barrel filled with water to fall on lect the same from those scholars and turn | him, breaking both bones of his left leg them over to the city superintendent for above the knee. the use of the board.

and to the city superintendent. Dr. Levergood moved the adoption of en and disorderly conduct. He was com-

buy books for their children, shirked that duty, and had the board buy books for them; while many other parents, poorer but more sensitive, purchased books for their children when they were scarely able

Mr. Slaymaker suggested that a proper thing to do in such cases would be to re quire parents or guardians to certify that they were unable to buy books for their children before they applied to the board to buy them. He offered this as an amendment to Mr. Cochran's resolutions: Mr. Spurrier offered the following resolutions :

WHEREAS. The amount of money expended by this board during the past year for books, school supplies, etc., for children attending the various schools has greatly increased and has become a source of very considerable outlay of the funds of our taxpayers; therefore,

Resolved, That hereafter all applications for books, school apparatus or supplies by poor and indigent children, blanks shall be furnished to the parents, guardians or other legal representatives of said children, and it shall be their duty to sign and certify on said blanks that they are not able to purchase the required books; that the orders upon which all supplies are furnished shall accompany all bills presented to this board for payment; that all books shall be stamped on the 20th page: "The property of the Lancaster city school and all other supplies or apparatus shall be stamped in a similar manaer; that all teachers shall keep an accurate record of the books, slates and other supplies furnished to each scholar, together with the name of said scholar, and that said books, etc., shall be returned to the teachers upon the scholar leaving the school, either by transfer or otherwise, and by the teacher to the city superintendent for the use of new scholars who may not be able to purchase the required books or other supplies, and it shall be the duty of the city superintendent to enforce these resolutions. Dr. Levergood moved that all the reso lutions offered be referred to the superintending committee with power to act and that no books be issued to pupils at the expense of the board until the committee so direct. Mr. Johnston favored the adoption of Alderman Spurrier's resolutions, but suggested that they would be more effective f they contained a clause holding teachers personally responsible for all books is sued to pupils on their application—the teacher to be exonerated only when any reasonable excuse could be given for the oss and destruction of the books issued on their application.

Dr. Levergood's motion was then put and carried. Mr. Slaymaker called attention to the fact that many children of immature age were being admitted to the public schools. Mr. Baker correborated the statement and suggested that where there was a doubt of the pupil being six years of age, the parents or guardians should be required to certify to the fact. After some further discussion it was conceded unanimously that the city superintendent or any member of the visiting committee of the division could remove from the schools any pupil less than six years of age. Mr. Rhoads moved that the board proceed to elect teachers of the night schools and that the schools be at once opened. A vote being taken the resolution was rejected- 11 yeas, 14 nays.

Coroner's Inquest. Last evening Coroner Mishler held an inquest on the body of a German apparently about 40 years of age, who died at the county hospital yesterday morning. The evidence offered at the inquest was to the effect, that the man had been found lying helpless on the road in West Cocalico township, on Wednesday afternoon last; that he was brought to the hospital by a farmer residing in the vicinity of where he was found; that he received medical attendance, but was so far gone that he could give no account of himself, and that he died yesterday morning as above stated. He was a man below the medium size, and a full head of brown hair and wore a full brown moustache and chin beard, He was comfortably dressed and did not have the appearance of being a tramp. He had no money on his person, but from papers found in his possession his name is believed to be Frederick Brown, and it is thought he came to this country about six years ago. There were no papers about him that gave any clew to his having friends in this country. His remains were interred in the county cemetery. Who Was He? A week ago an uukuown man was killed on the Pennsylvania railroad between Bird in-Hand and Leaman Place, the body being so much mutilated as to render recognition impossible. Within a day or two past Coroner Mishler has received two letters-one from W. H. Haviland and the other from Kate J. Carlin, 1920 Lombard street, Philadelphia-making inquiries in regard to the man, and asking if there were any peculiar marks on the body, Mrs. Carlin stating that she fears he is a near relative, but does not give the name of the relative. The letters were transmitted by Coroner Mishler to Deputy Coroner Eaby, of Paradise, who held the inquest. Further Swaim's Sauguine Statement. Washington, Sept. 2.-11 A. M.-Unofficial-General Swaim reports the president as having a quiet comfortable morning, and he continues to do well. He had for breakfast the juice of a piece of beef-steak and a little chicken broth. He has fact. All the "best days" and favorable no fever, and his general condition is very conditions reported from time to time resatisfactory.

The London "Lancet" on the Case. LONDON, Sept. 2 .- The Lancet says: We do not think the healing of President Garfield's wound will be promoted by probing to see how far granulation has proceeded. The most favorable signs are the fall of temperature to normal and frequency of the pulse. This is a thoroughly safe criterion of increased strength, and the subsidence of blood-poisoning, together with improved power of digestion, ability to sleep soundly, mental cheerfulness and clearness, affords solid grounds for clearness, affords solid grounds for hope of recovery. The case is a striking illustration of the power of a good constitution to hold up against illness that would certainly have killed a feebler person, but another failure in the president's digestive powers or symptoms of bloodpoisoning might at any time turn the balpoisoning might at any time turn the balance against him, and what we have hitherto insisted upon so often we are bound to repeat, that President Garfield will not be out of danger until the wound is healed."

THE PRESIDENTIAL PATIENT. Last Night One of Anxiety—Fearful of the Coming Saturday.

The situation last night remained unchanged. Not so the public uncasi

ness, however, which is unquestionably the increase, As the unlucky Saturday approaches the pulse of the patient quickens, the symptoms are less satisfactory and the great loyal heart of the nation throbs with a more auxious beat in dread anticipation. Despite the circumlocution of the doctors it is evident to those who have seen and talked with them and stood face to face with the White House people that the condition of things is not as satisfactory as Wednesday. There have been no pretensions on the part of his physicians that the president has actually been making any progress toward the restoration of EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. strength-that is to say, they have not officially declared that any progress has been made toward recovery since the recent rally. All the rosy pictures have been made up from personal interviews, and in these conversations they have endeavored to put the best side out. When you go back to the bulletins you will find the last three days can be condensed in the single significant phrase: "He has held his own." Holding his own is but the maintenance of the statu que of Monday. They have based a good deal of hope on the ability to hold his own for a few days until nature had a chance to give him a fresh grip on life by building up his system and the throwing off of poisenous secretions. Four days are gone, and the doctors now confess that there has been no appreciable gain of strength. The waste from all sources has been fully equal fer only to the restfulness of the patient and his freedom from pain or fever. The public is apt to be misled by such reports. It must face the fact that, save in a modification of the size and character of the glandular swelling and the continued successful use of the stomach, the president is now just where he was last Sunday
