LANCASTER DAILY INTELLIGENCER, TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 6. 1881.

York Items.

The opening exercises of the collegiate institute took place Monday, September 5. The complement of students presented themselves. A great many new students have delayed coming on account of the warm weather. Several prominent gentlemen took part in the exercises among whom was Rev. Price, D. D., protessor of Greek in Princeton college. Prof. Craven, of Princeton, fills the position vacated by the gifted H. C. Ewing. The tobacco crop is shorter here than in the lower sections of Lancaster county, owing probably to late planting aud scareity of rain.

Wm. Dinsmore, a young man well known in York and the lower end, sent to jail to await trial for stealing horses, will soon be released on bail.

The York Democrats are jubikant over the nomination of Hon. J. Gibson for president judge, and insure him an easy victory in November.

Tried it On.

A young man named Klinger, who lives at 509 Manor street, in a fit of the blues, resulting from drinking, early this morn ing threatened to hang himself and left the house with that avowed purpose. His wife half believed he would do it and soon followed him. He was found sus pended in the water closet and his brother cut him down. He has far enough recovered to be glad he is in the land of the living, where he will tarry for the present. There was a good deal of excitement on "the hill" about it, but no call barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty, cutafor the coroner.

Amweg's Luck.

A report comes from St. Louis that the Haseltines and Paramores have offered $3,000 in notes to John M. Amweg, jr., to discontinue the suit against the Haseltine and Paramore young men, for assault and battery, and to silence the social sensation about the Haseltine young woman, and that the matter is only awaiting the drawing up of the notes " with approved sesecurity.

The Emprie.

Last evening the regular monthly meeting of the Empire hook and ladder company was held in the truck house. Thomas C. Wiley was elected chief marshal of the company during their trip to Reading with S. W. Altick and Charles Martin as assistants, and A. R. Poisol will have charge of the tiller and William Arnold and Henry Trout the tongue.

Get Registered.

The assessors of the city will attend at the places of holding the general election in their wards to-morrow and Thursday for the purpose of registering any voters whose names may not be already on the lists. The hours are fro a 10 a, m. to 3 p. m. and from 6 to 8 p. m. Every person entitled to vote should see that their names are duly registered.

East Pennsylvania Synod. The East Pennsylvania synod of the Lutheran church will meet in Lancaster September 21. The session will be held in St. John's Lutheran church, Rev. S. this morning and reached the depot at 6:15. The president was at once transferred from the express a few minutes delay the train, at 6:30, left the depot. No mishap occurred during the removal. The president, Colonel Corbin said, seemed to enjoy the ride. Just as the conveyance was leaving the White House, he waved his hand to the inmates of the mansion, who had gathered mingled anxiety and hope. In the early hours of the morning he took beef tea and enemata and his pulse varied from 104 to 108. A large crowd gathered in front of the mansion at an early hour, some of the people having been there all night. The entire route to the depot was cleared of vehicles by the police. The crowd was very quiet and orderly, everyone sceming fearful lest some accident befal the patient. At precisely 5:40 the president was carried from the sick room to the express wagon backed up to the step of the front portico. He was resting in a peaceful position, his right hand laid upon his breast and his left arm was stretched full length up on the coverlet. He appeared greatly emaciated, but his face, though careworu and thin, seemed natural ; his high forehead was covored by a linen cloth, and his features bore a patient and resigned expression. Horses were hitched to the wagon, and at 5:50 he started, when the president feebly but cheerfully raised his left hand and waved farewell to those assembled. The horses walked all the way to the depot with a man at the bridle of each animal to keep it in control. An anxious crowd followed silently gazing upon the president, the curtains of the 114, and at Philadelphia 106.

The Car in Which He Rode. The original arrangement for the use of car No. 120, or Colonel Scott's coach, for the accommodation of the president, was changed at a late hour at the suggestion of the physicians, and the workmen in the Altoona shops of the Pennsylvania railroad fitted up what is known as an Eastlake combination car, in less than seven hours, for the special service, This differs from the ordinary coach in having a baggage-room at one end. The alterations rescats in the passenger end, and the laythe car, in order to give the air an opportunity to circulate between it and the roof so as to keep the car cool. The partition was taken out and replaced by folding doors and storm doors added to the platform doors. Wire gauze was fastened on the outside of the car, completely enclosfree from dust. The inside was hung with heavy curtains and Brussels carpet was laid on the floor. A bed was also placed in position and mattresses provided. Two large ice boxes were added. THE PRESIDENT'S PROGRESS.

A Successful Journey. BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 6 .- The president has stood the fatigue of travel up to this hour with remarkable fortitude ; his pulse is even less frequent than it was before leaving Washington ; it is now 106. The arrangements are so complete in every detail that the inconvenience to the president is reduced almost to a minimum.

A Fourteen-Year-Old Boy's Encounter with Half a Dozen Venomous Reptiles. Mercersburg Journal. This being the season wherein it is fash onable for snake stories to come to the front, Warren township, not to be left out in the cold, produces the following : About a month ago the wife and a young daught-er of Mr. S. L. Phenicle, of that township, were on the mountain hunting berries. when a huge rattlesnake was discovered lying on a large flat stone ; the reptile was not disturbed, but Mrs. P. told, on her arrival home, of having seen the snake. Last week, in company with her son aged quired were the removal of the partition about thirteen years, she was again on the separating the two compartments, also the mountain looking for some tea to be put away for winter use. seats in the passenger end, and the lay-ing of thick cushion like carpet upon the would like her to show him where floor. The seats were all taken out and the she had seen the snake ; she led the way car thoroughly remodeled. Instantly they heard the sharp warning of a rattler; she had placed her stick on one. The boy at once attacked and soon dispatched it. Then getting a lever, he with some effort pried up the stone, under which he found another huge ing the parlor apartment, to keep the car rattler and four large copperhead snakes. After a lively handling of himself, he dispatched them all; then taking a strap which he had in his pocket, he gathered them all together--six large, venomous snakes-and tying the strap around them. took them home, a distance of about two miles, as a trophy of his victory over the 'varmints." they were somewhat closely examined, when each of the rattlesnakes were found to possess fifteen young rattlers about six inches long, each with a small button on the end of the tail. In the boy's conflict with the snakes, the rattles were broken so that it was impossible to tell how many the old ones had. Altogether it was a good day's work for a thirteen year-old-boy, among snakes, and one of which he is justly proud of. This
