

THIRD EDITION.

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 16, 1881.

HE IS WORSE.

THE PRESIDENT AGAIN VERY LOW.

SOME SERIOUS SYMPTOMS.

GRAVE ANXIETY RENEWED.

HOPE FLYING OUT AT THE WINDOW.

THE NEWS ALL DISCOURAGING.

The Morning Bulletin. ELBERON, N. J., Sept. 16.—9 A. M.—Official—At the examination of the president at 8:30 this morning the temperature was 98.6, pulse 104, respiration 21. The febrile rise during the night was not as pronounced as it usually has been. There was at times considerable acceleration of pulse. He, however, slept comparatively well and took stimulants and nourishment as directed. The cough was somewhat more troublesome during the first part of the night, and the expectoration rather more purulent. The discharge from the wound is less abundant, and not quite as healthy in appearance. The pulse, however, has more volume, and his general condition does not seem to have materially changed in any respect.

Grave Anxiety. ELBERON, Sept. 16.—10:15 A. M.—The situation this morning is less favorable, and grave anxiety exists as to whether the president will be able to overcome the result of his extreme debility. Bed sores have again made their appearance, and the discharge from the wound is very unsatisfactory. In fact he has made no gain, and there has been a gradual but not marked falling off.

There are no new complications or indications if any, but the general condition of the patient show that he has not made any repair during the past 48 hours. Hence he is not considered to be in as good condition this morning. The wound has assumed a more unhealthy appearance and the discharge from it has been growing more unsatisfactory since yesterday morning. There is no decided difference in the discharge of this morning from that of last night, but it is of no better character.

Small bed sores have again made their appearance. These, Dr. Boynton says, are caused from constant lying in bed and are attributable principally to the extreme debility of the patient. These sores have appeared heretofore, but recently they healed and for some days have not been a disturbing or annoying feature in the case. The circulation of the patient, Dr. Hamilton says, is good, and the pulse is not of a more depressed or unfavorable character than it has been.

The patient's mind wandering. The anxiety which now prevails is whether or not the president will be able to withstand the burden which he is now carrying. Dr. Boynton says that he still has hope that he will, but it is a question which can only be determined by the future. The patient's mind is also very weak, and shows evidence of disturbance by the continued hallucinations. These conditions are apparent throughout the day now which indicates that the general situation is less hopeful than it has of late been pictured. There is still a continuance of the suppuration of the parotid gland.

Dr. Boynton Hoping Against Hope. On the whole the case may be summed up with the assertion that the present is a moment of extreme anxiety and devoid of sufficient ground for assuming that the patient will overcome the excessive debility which has established itself. All are hopeful, however, especially Dr. Boynton, who asserts his opinion without hesitation that the probabilities are that there is sufficient vitality left to override the present unfavorable symptoms, but on the other hand he is unwilling to grant that there is anything to warrant a sanguine opinion to that effect.

Mr. C. O. Rockwell, one of the president's attendants, is authority for the statement that the perspiration which has been one of the annoying features of the president's condition, has reappeared. Col. Rockwell and Swain, however, appear to entertain a different opinion on the subject and declare that it has not reappeared.

The attendants upon the president say that his quarters are perfectly comfortable, and unless it should become extremely cold no apprehension is felt about keeping the cottage at a desirable temperature. In order to do this, however, it may become necessary to place a stove in the room to take the place of the grate fire.

Pulse 130 Last Night. It is reliably ascertained that the president's pulse reached 130 during the night, notwithstanding the fact that the febrile rise was not so pronounced as it usually has been.

Extreme Debility Cause for Alarm. ELBERON, Sept. 16.—1:10 P. M.—The president's condition at this hour is unchanged. Attorney General MacVeagh considers the case as warranting extreme anxiety, but maintains that while there is no particular point which can be said to have developed to an alarming extent, the general condition which includes the extreme debility of the patient is necessarily one of grave apprehension.

The Febrile Rise. ELBERON, Sept. 16, 2:05 P. M.—Dr. Bliss says there was a slight febrile rise, commencing at 11 o'clock, which remained till nearly 12. At the noon reading of the president's condition, his pulse was 114, temperature 99.6, respiration 20. At this hour his pulse is 108, temperature not much above normal. The patient has not been placed in his chair to-day on account of the febrile rise which occurred.

The Glimpse Outlook. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Specials from Elberon are of a most gloomy character. The Post says the president seems to be near another crisis. The septic condition of his system is manifesting itself in various threatening symptoms. The bed sores, for instance, which were present in Washington and which healed apparently after his removal here, have again made their appearance. This morning his pulse fluctuates wildly, and his mind is less clear. Upon the whole the outlook is not encouraging, and the next forty-eight hours may bring very sad news. Dr. Boynton said this morning that he now feared the president had not sufficient vitality left to surmount the present difficulties, even if in no new complications make their appearance.

The Commercial says this has been one of the gloomiest days since the president's arrival, and although the morning bulletin did not create a panic, it came near doing so and greatly depressed the spirits of everybody, including Attorney General MacVeagh, who made his appearance at Elberon about the time the bulletin appeared. The doctors were not inclined to talk much, a sure sign that the president is worse or not doing well. Dr. Boynton, however, did not conceal his opinion, and said he thought the situation looked exceedingly grave and that it was very doubtful whether the remaining vitality of the president would carry him safely through, even without other complications. The right lung is not healing, but gives every evidence of an extended abscess and increased inflammation. Dr. Boynton is not therefore satisfied with the condition of things to-day and does not hesitate to say so.

In conversation this afternoon General Swain said it was hard to say what change had occurred in the president's condition since yesterday, it being so slight. He did not like the condition or appearance of the wound the discharge being of an unhealthy character. He did not think there has been any actual loss of strength within six hours, but certainly there has been no gain. Nourishment has been given freely, including milk and brandies, and this stimulant has had a beneficial effect. The most important work to be done now is to build up his strength so as to withstand the drain made by the wound upon his system. It is essential to his recovery that he gain strength, which he has not done up to this time.

Hotel Burned. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 16.—A fire this morning, caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp, destroyed the Irving hotel in this city. Loss, $5,000; covered by insurance.

Weather Indications. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—For the Middle Atlantic states, partly cloudy weather, with local rains, east to south winds, stationary or higher barometer and temperature.

Three Men Bitten by a Rabid Dog. JERSEY CITY, Sept. 16.—A mad dog was killed here this morning after having bitten three men.

Stunnie's Burial. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 16.—The funeral ceremonies over the remains of Senator Stunnie took place today, and were very impressive.

Fire in Milton. SUNBURY, Pa., Sept. 16.—Wagner & Scully's planing mill and private residence were destroyed by fire at Milton this morning. Loss $20,000, insurance $12,000.

The Yorktown Centennial Celebration. Arrangements for the reception of the French Commissioner. The Yorktown Centennial congressional committee met at the capitol at Washington. Major Fox, chief of police of Richmond, and Col. Rogers were present. Senator Johnston said that as assistant Secretary of State, he would meet the French commissioner in New York, where a formal reception would be tendered, as well as at Philadelphia and Baltimore, it seemed to him proper that committees from Congress should be appointed to assist at the same.

Ex-Senator Corbin and Congressman Muller were appointed to meet the commissioner in New York, ex-Senator Wallace and Congressman Sam Dick in Philadelphia and ex-Senator Whyte and Congressman Talbot in Baltimore. It was decided to appoint the following committee of arrangements for the District of Columbia: Senators Bayard and Delaware; Ransom, of North Carolina, and Hawley, of Connecticut; Representatives Loring, of Massachusetts, and ex-Senator Randolph, of New Jersey. Senator Bayard will be chairman.

The state committee will leave Washington for Yorktown on the 17th of October at 10 A. M. Senator Johnston, representing the Yorktown congressional committee, telegraphed to Secretary Blaine asking him to appoint some person to take the place of President Garfield upon the commission. It is understood that Secretary Blaine replied that Attorney General MacVeagh had been authorized by him to take such action in the matter as he deems proper.

Governor Colquitt, of Georgia, reports to Colonel Corbin that, owing to the failure of the last Legislature to make suitable provision for the representation of the state at Yorktown, it is probable that there will be no military presence from Georgia. A bill making an appropriation for the purpose is pending before the Legislature now in session, but as expenditures of this character are claimed in some quarters to be in violation of the new state constitution its passage is doubtful. Governor Colquitt and eight or ten members of his staff will attend the celebration in any event.

Laying Out for Life. Exciting Scenes at a Fire—Workmen Enveloped in Flames. A thrilling scene occurred at the fire at Azare & Lavigne's furniture factory in Montreal yesterday afternoon. J. Dion and Mathias Gauthier, curriers, were at work in the third story. Jules Leblanc was in the same part of the building as the fire, which was the result of an explosion of a lamp. The flames spread with great rapidity; those in the first and second stories escaped unhurt, but to the horror of the spectators, the three men named were seen at the upper windows calling for a ladder. Dion at length disappeared and tried to fight through the flames to the stairway and was dreadfully burned. Meantime Leblanc fell or jumped from the window and dislocated his thigh. Gauthier stood for some moments, the flames singeing his hair and clothes, and then leaped desperately for the telegraph pole, which he missed, coming down with a dreadful hand upon the pavement. He had hardly been picked up when Dion, totally enveloped in flames, appeared for an instant at the third story window and in the next was cleaving the air like a huge rocket, the flames shooting upward from his clothing. He was immediately seized and carried to safety. Leblanc is severely shocked by the fall, and his companion, it is believed, are fatally injured. After a short fight, the flames consumed the flames to the building. The loss is $10,000.

Requests for New York. A special cable to the New York Evening Telegram from Deane says: "On arriving at the course to-day I found the people gathered in groups discussing Iroquois' victory, which was well received by everybody. Even the book-makers, who have lost enormous sums in the race, participated in the general enthusiasm. When they assemble, however, at Tattersall's on Monday to settle their accounts they will look rather black. One speculator alone lost over $100,000. The only American I can find who won to any extent is Mr. Walton, of the St. James hotel, who backed Croquet to win between eight and nine thousand pounds. This, in addition to a large amount won at the Derby, and Mr. Walton is well paid for journeying from New York to see Mr. Lorrillard's horse run. The colt is now backed 14 to 1 for the Casarowitch, which will be run at Newmarket in the middle of October. Altogether Iroquois has won this year in $16,130."

The Michigan Holocaust. Gov. Jerome Appeals to the People of Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—Governor Jerome has issued a proclamation to the people of the United States, appealing for aid for the Michigan sufferers by forest fires. He says the destruction of property will be great in the four counties affected, and in some whole townships complete, and that 300 lives have been lost by burning and suffocation, while many have become helpless through injuries and exposure, and some are blind.
