TRAGIC EVENTS OF CURRENT INTER-

"So Runs the World Away."

A Fatal Feud Between Two Families. Near Powder Springs, Cobb county, Ga., there occurred a horrible tragedy on Friday morning. For years there has been an old feud between the Mitchell and Cooper families. They live on adjacent farms. On Friday Cooper discovered the Mitchells driving his chickens from his cornfield. This renewed the bitter feeling and a fight was the result. Cooper was armed with a shot-gun and instantly killed one of the Mitchells and mortally wounded another. Cooper was badly cut with knives and his life is in great jeopardy. All the parties are well-known and highly respectable. The affair has caused the wildest excitement. Serious Accident on the Erie Railroad. At half-past six o'clock on Saturday morning a wild-cat freight on the Erie road ran into first extra No. 10 near Shemung station, a few miles east of Elmira, Engineer Fuller, of train 10, was killed. Two brakemen, named Bornt of Hornellsville and Pomeroy, of Cameron, were killed outright. Mr. Jones, conductor of No. 10, was fatally injured. Asa Dun-ham, a brakeman on the same train, was mortally injured. The trains were nearly totally wrecked and the track blockaded six hours. The accident was caused by misunderstanding of signals.

The Work of a Jealous Hasband. Charles Smith, who was reported to have shot his wife, near Rockland, Maine, was found on investigation to have first shot Mrs. Robins, his wife mother. He attempted to kill Mrs. Metcalf, an old woman living in the house, but she, taking with her her two children, escaped to tne woods. He then turned and shot his wife in the neck. The murderer entered the room where his infant bay lay sleeping and shot him twice in the mouth, killing him instantly. Returning to the room where his wife and mother-in-law lay, he shot the latter through the body, inflicting probably a mortal wound. Speaking to his wife and asking her to kiss him he shot her through the breast and then drove into town and surrendered himself. Jealousy of his wife is said to be the cause, and Smith has not the reputation of being a dangerous or violent

A WOMAN'S ASSISTANCE.

She Gives Valuable Help 19 Ferreting Out the Western Train Robbers. A. S. Traede, who went from Chicago trip was brought about by a visit to the headquarters of the Chicago & Alton railroad company of a middle-agedwoman, who, ten days ago, gave the company some valuable points leading to the apprehension of the outlaws. She revealed the fact that certain mysterious confer ences had been held in the house of S. Chapman, near the scene of the robbery, and gave the names of the participants. As the result of her tale and a subsequent investigation, Mr. Tracde believes the robbery was planned by a man named Clark, an expert professional train robber, formerly associated with the notorious "Hoosier Bill" and the Reno gang. Clark is ostensibly a cattle dealer in Missouri. The day following the robbery,

He Attempts to Murder His Wile and Boarder and Then Commits Suicide. A fearful tragedy was enacted in the east end of Pittsburgh. On June 10 Adam Kountzman was sent to jail on the charge of stealing lumber. He was tried, convieted and sentenced to eight months' imprisonment. He had not lived happily with his family, and during the visits of his eldest daughter by a former wife the girl told Kountzman that her stepmother was unduly intimate with Joe Minster, one of the boarders whom she had taken into the house. The wife also visited Kountzman, who threatened to kill her and all her boarders as soon as releasad from jail. On Tuesday Kountzman escaped from prison. He remained concealed until 6 o'clock Saturday morning, when he appeared at the Kountzman house, on Frankstown avenue. Removing his shoes he stealthily stole up stairs to a room where slungshot. Minster grappled with him.
The two men rolled down stairs and Min. ster escaped. Kountzman then found his it to her telling her that he would wife outside the house. He knocked her slungshot. He left her for dead and, returning to the house, drew a pruning knife and deliberately plunged it into his throat, almost severing his head from the body. He expired in a few moments. His bleeding he said things that he ought not to have said and George and Nathaniel, two big brothwife was removed to the hospital, but her chances of recovery are very stim. Minster is not seriously injured. Kountzman was a shoemaker, 35 years of age. His wife is about 30 years old and very handsome.

business man in Detroit, whose statements can be relied upon : Herewith' I enclose voucher, also Merchants' and Manufacturers' fire relief com mittee acknowledgment of your timely and liberal remittance of the 12th instant, which is the largest yet received from any one source, and I assure you that the citizens of Michigan will gratefully appreci-ate what New York is doing toward alleviating her distressed population in the burnt districts. No language can adequately describe the terrible suffering de have passed through and the fearful condition they are still in and likely to remain for some time, do the best we can. It is estimated that at least half a million dollars will be required to bridge over the winter, as a majority of the sufferers lost everything, many even the clothing on their persons, and others whose lives were spared will be maimed for life :

The death list incres ses daily and information continues to arrive of hitherto unreported burnt territory. In order to realize the magnitude of the calamity bear in mind that upwards of fifty townships, covering an area of two thousand square miles, have been wholly or partially burnt over, with scarcely a green sprig left in the track of fire. Immense trees were twisted off by the force of the tornado which prevailed and the darkness was so great that not anything could be distinguished at six inches distance. This accounts for the

A DELAWARE MAN'S SEARCH FOR BRIDE, He Leads Her to the Ministeral Threshold, But an HI-Timed Word Ruptures the Silken Cord.

Edward K. Layman is an old and respected citizen of the town of Christiana, few miles from the city of Wilmington. He is a well-to-do widower; jovial, kind-hearted and about sixty. With the fast appearing gray hairs on his head, however, there grew in his bosom an unutterable longing-a longing which not even the rural beauties around the quiet little town of Christiana either could or would not satisfy. His life was a continued search looking for some one suitable to succeed the late lamented partner of his joys. Young fellows with hardly the looks, and thought it queer, too, but yet he did not Some time ago he went to Chester to risit his son who lives in South ward, thester. While there he met a young girl of barely nineteen snmmers. With the ardor of youth he paid his attention. Well, the old gentleman prospered in his suit, and so earnest was he to eatch the prize he spent most of the time in Chester, dered how it was the old man conceived such a sudden liking for his company. The old man, who had cut his wisdom teeth many years ago, loafed around but said nothing. He lived on in happy expectation and waited only for the proper moment to flop down upon his marrow bones and offer his hand, heart and family estate n Christiana to the girl of his choice.

Unfortunately an old flame of the young this time and saw what was going on. At the sight his former affection revived and famous Hares, mail robbers, is reported in as special counsel for the Chicago & Al-ton railroad to ferret out the facts regard. divined the youth's intentions, and taking the rick Hambright, James Boyd, Wm. Ferce, divined the youth's intentions, and taking the rick Hambright, James Boyd, Wm. Ferce, Henry Reigart, John Upperman, Henry ing the recent train robbery, says that his a lesson from experience, determined to Smith, John Mathiot, Phineas Ash, Wm. wish of the girl was anticipated, and his her jewelry, fed her on cake and cream, things that would be calculated to win her regard. The young man aforesaid viewed the efforts of the old gentleman with alarm. Becoming alive to the true situation of affairs, he too became atten tive. Determining to run the old gentle man out at all hazards his visits were increased from two to five a week, and the young girl began to question the sanity of mankind in general By this energetic wave the old gentleman from Christiana came near being left out in the cold. By Clark lost a large sum of money in Kansas a master stroke he succeeded in doubling City keno dives and raised more by pawn- up on his rival by arranging with the girl ing jewelry. The mysterious woman had been ruined and deserted by two of the outlaws, and has long been waiting for revenge. The gaug was informed of her mission so early that some of them escaped but more invested as the same was coming on and the pleasant as was coming on and the pleasant part.

posal was not rejected and he left the presence of his inamorata with a promise to return again for an answer. He returned, and the girl said yes. The date of the marriage was fixed at Christmas, 'so that," as the old man poetically 10 marked, "the incoming of the new year would be the dawn of a happier life." had evidently gotten the prize; but not-withstanding this, the young man, his rival, would not down. He continued to be the ghost that troubled the old man's dreams. He fooled around, made himself so agreeable that the girl began to wish she hadn't accepted the old gentleman. Christmas came around, but for some reason or other there was no wedding. The baffled patriarch was mad, but he conecaled his anger when his adored promised to make it in June, "because," as she practically remarked, "it then seems that all nature is fresh and blooming, and you know, darling, I dote on early bloom," and as the old man passed out the door he wondered if it really was a laugh or ridicule or the whistling of an ill-natured Minster was reading a newspaper and dealt his Sunday best and with his girl him a furious blow on the head with a started to Philadelphia. When on the steps of the minister's house he drew a pistol from his pocket and showed wife outside the house. He knocked her down, jumped upon her and kicked her, crushing in the back of her head with a slungshot. He left her for dead and, regagement was annulled right there. Perers of the girl, went out in search of the old gentleman. The parents whose names are Blizzard, brought suit against him.
He was arrested, put in jail and Alderman
Armour, of the South ward, required him to give bond to keep the peace. With bosom swelling with indignation, the old man goes back to his home and relatives in Christiana. The aching void in his bosom still aches and will continue so to Michigan fire relief committee in New Ache, but he will nurse it in loneliness. York, has received the following letter

The tobacco crop is nearly all housed. A few late patches are yet standing. Quite a number of our farmers have already disposed of their crops at prices ranging from 20 to 30 cents for wrappers, and 8 to 10 for seconds and 3 for fillers.

Farmers are busy now putting in their wheat crops and cutting corn, which is very light, scarcely a half crop. The majority of them will be compelled to depend on Western corn to fatten their stock. Improvements are still taking place. Mr.

Charles Sweigart, of Cedar Lane, is erecting a large new house for public business purposes near the station, and there is a tobacco packing establishment also in contemplation. Mr. Jeremiah Brendle is painting his fine new barn, the warehouse is about to have a new elevator put into it. Robert Howe, of this place, buried one of his children on Saturday. Mr. Henry Rutt buried his wife about a week ago hers was one of the largest funerals ever held in this locality, fully 500 persons were present, and the funeral procession numbered over 150 carriages. Interment at Weaverland Mennonite church. Samuel Ranck, sr., is very sick ; very little hope is entertained of his recovery. Mrs. Martin C. Weaver, generally known in this section as "Aunt Susan," was buried at Weaverland last week.

John G. Whitaker, of Sorrel Horse, is about to remove his store to Hahnstown. Wm. Hartz has sold his hotel property to Benjamin Cramer, of Morgantown. Michael Snader has taken possession of certainly not the money and experience he possessed, got mates all around him. He the Goodville hotel, formerly kept by Samuel Yundt, deceased.

Quite a little breeze has been raised among the Republican politicians by Wolfe's movement.
