Lancaster Intelligencer.
WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 21, 1881.

THE DEAD PRESIDENT.

LANCASTER'S MOURNING MEETING.
A Large Gathering of Citizens in the Court House.

In response to a proclamation issued by his honor Mayor MacGonigle, the citizens of Lancaster assembled in the court house last evening to give expression to their grief at the death of President Garfield. The assemblage was a very large and representative one.

Mayor MacGonigle in calling the meeting to order spoke substantially as follows:

The time having arrived for the organization of this meeting I would ask those present to come to order. The object of our assembling is understood by all here.
The chief magistrate of the United States, James A. Garfield, lies cold in death, cut off in the very prime and vigor of manhood by the bullet of the assassin; a career of the most promising close; and our people, sitting down in confidence, again given over to apprehension and to the feeling, born of the assassin's stroke, of insecurity. We are met here to give expression to the sorrow which fills our hearts for the untimely fate of our legally chosen ruler, and to add our tears to those who will miss him in the kindly offices of husband, son and father.

Dr. Atlee on taking the chair thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him by calling upon him to preside, and requested Rev. W. Robinson, of the Presbyterian Church, to deliver the address, which the reverend gentleman responded in an eloquent and fervent appeal to the Throne of Grace.

Dr. Atlee again arose, and referring to the sad event which has called the people together, prayed God that there might never be a recurrence of an occasion like this. On the second of July a man in robust health and exuberant spirits, a man who was the chosen head and pride of the nation and had been the cause of a bullet of a vile assassin. For eighty days he lay on a bed of anguish, battling bravely for life. The blow that struck him down had wounded the heart of the nation, and had created a universal horror throughout the civilized world. That man was our nation's father; had been chosen chief executive by a majority of fifty million people. Is it to be wondered that the public heart should be stirred to its depths by the death of such a man?

Resolved, That no language can adequately express our deep abhorrence of the filibustered and the assassin's deed, and this calamity upon the nation—a crime which has wrought a sorrow that no punishment of its perpetrator can fully atone for.

Resolved, That we tender our dearest sympathy to the aged mother, and to the heroic wife whose firmness and devotion have won the admiration and touched the hearts of this people; and we commend them to Him who alone can visit with comfort the widow and the fatherless.

Resolved, That on the day appointed for the funeral, we recommend that all places of business be closed, in token of respect to the memory of the dead president.

Resolved, That we earnestly trust and trust that the Divine will will be manifested in the preservation of our Union, and that the meeting adjourned, benediction being given by Rev. Dr. Mitchell, of the Presbyterian Church.

THE MORAL DRAWN.
THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
GARFIELD, AND ITS LESSONS.

By Rev. J. V. Eckert.

In all this mysterious and distressing occurrence we cannot and dare not ignore the Divine will and purpose in the moral government of the world, and the supernatural God holds over all human affairs.

The world is divided up into many nationalities and sovereignties, each people having its own laws, its own moral part of the great plan and design of the Supreme Ruler of the whole.

The moral government of God takes in its scope the world from its beginning to its end, and no government can hope to escape the Divine justice, if guilty of any perversion of its duties and mission, and the punishment for sin can come and does come through the afflictions of its public officers.

Resolved, That we earnestly trust and
fested in the preservation of our Union,
and that the meeting adjourned, benediction
being given by Rev. Dr. Mitchell, of the Presbyterian Church.

factious stood with locked horns, he owed allegiance to none of them; he was free from all of them and had no lot or part with them. He strove to be an ideal president, and he was true. When the assault upon him by the assassin Guitau, and the death of the president, said God has a purpose in all this, and intended it as a lesson for our good. When the men, we can have no guarantee for anything more promising in the future.

I would not be hopeless, but my hope must have a just and authorized foundation to rest upon. It will be even vain to hope against hope, if such a course has brought us into distress. The Divine Power rules and holds absolute and perpetual sway, and there is but one way to avert the penalty, and that is to avoid the crime. If the fountain is clear and pure the stream will not be foul. If the people reform, and act from principle, and a due regard to conscience, and not so much for the favor of God, and the perpetration of national crimes, and that our present mourning will be turned into future joy.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about, and was an old worn out man before I could get anything to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now, at a boy again, my blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of my age. I have not I have no doubt it will do as well for others

Second Edition of Job.
Mrs. Ogden, N. Division Street, Buffalo, says:
"I cannot be too thankful that I was induced to try your Sprague's Kidney and Bladder at one time I should never be able to get out again. I seemed to be a second edition of Job with his patient; my face and body were one vast collection of boils and pimples; since taking one bottle of your Sprague's Kidney and Bladder, all eruptions have disappeared, and I feel better than I have in a long time."
Price 25 cents. Sold by Dr. J. C. Cochran's
