FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 23, 1881.

MATRIMONIAL.

THE GARBER-KAUFFMAN WEDDING.

Another Brilliant Wedding at Mountville.
It is seldom that any generous host has the same opportunity, or embraces it so fitly, to entertain his friends as Mr. Isaac H. Kauffman, the well-known tobacco packer and farmer, of Mountville, who yesterday had the satisfaction of seeing another daughter duly married in the presence of one of the largest and happiest companies that ever assembled on such an occasion in this country. It has only been a few weeks since we found occasion to notice the brilliant nuptials of Mr. Kaufman's second daughter and Mr. Charles and the elegant entertainment and profuse hospitality of the bride's parents on that occasion. The company which assembled yesterday to witness the wedding of Mr.
Christian G. Garber and Miss Annie M.
Kauffman, Mr. Kauffman's eldest daughter, was even larger than at her sister's marriage. From 2 to 4 p.m. there was an almost constant stream of arrivals, from every section of the country, and the whole party was duly assembled at the hour fixed for the ceremony. As the attendance was five-fold larger than any in an ordinary house could accommodate, the ladies and gentlemen were seated on the well-shaded lawn in front of the house, and the ceremony took place on the broad porch of the family residence. The bridal party consisted of Mr.
Christian G. Garber and Miss Annie M.
Kauffman, bride and groom, attended by Uriah H. Kauffman and Miss Kate Kauffman, Mr. Harry Garber and Miss Ellie Hershey, Mr. Tilgham Hostetter and Miss H. Mary Williams. The ladies were handsomely dressed and literally as "pretty as pictures," while the gentlemen were duly attired in the conventional of the hour, wore button-hole bouquets.
Rev. A. H. Kauffman, of Highspire, a minister of the U. B. church and a relative of the family, pronounced the ceremony, and at its conclusion the guests offered their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Garber.

The company were invited to the dining rooms where an elegant collation was prepared, under the direction of Mr. Jos. R.
Loyer, the table being most tastefully decorated; but, the immense number of persons present, necessitated the servants were promptly served under the trees in the lawn and in the many grape arbors on the grounds, where they fully enjoyed their sandwiches, ice cream and cake, fruits of every kind, claret punch and lemonade, cigars and "other refreshments."

In an upper chamber there was a display, filling the room, of the presents received by the bride scarcely less than two hundred in number, and including a most varied assortment of elegant and useful articles, testifying by their number and the taste of their selection to the high esteem in which the young couple are held.
It would be impossible to specify the whole of them, but among the more valuable and interesting articles were a pair of china and marble table, seven chairs, lamp, about a dozen pairs of china, glass and silver vases, mirror, countless linens, table cloths, towels, napkins, ties, cassimeres, muslins, masses pitcher, and pickles, table and tea spoons, butter knives and countless small articles of silver, glass and china ware; pitchers, tea sets, decorated fruit plates, table knives and forks, and every variety of household articles of utility, luxury and taste.

The Mountville band, stationed on the ground played the wedding march and serenade, and discoursed music throughout the afternoon and evening; the festivities continuing until a late hour.

Of the estimated 400 or 500 guests present, the following names were gathered.
