NEWS OF THREE DAYS.

Lancaster Intelligencer.

STRIKING INCIDENTS OF RECENT OCCURRENCE. Colliding freight trains near Crockett, Tex., killed the fireman of one and engineer of the other. Wm. Applegate, of Trenton, was fatally crushed between the fenders of the steamboat Gem at Florence. The falling wall of a burned building in Denver, killed Isaac McCormack. James Williams's body was horribly mangled in fallir g down a 500 foot coal shaft near Wilkesbarre. The boiler explosion of a steam thresher killed three men and a lady in Thurlow, Out. At a coal mine near West Belleville, Missouri, Dickey Holmes, aged 5, while picking coal was horribly burned on a "slack pile" of mouldering fire; his foster sister, aged 14, rushed in to save him and was so burned that both died. The forest fire which desolated a large territory in California and rolled a sheet of flame up the slopes of Mount Tamalpais, was accidentally kindled by a careless farmer named William Pixley, in the attempt to rid his land of troublesome underbrush. He perished in the fiery furnace which he set blazing and in the at-tempt to stop the flames heroically met Elmira, N.Y., has experienced an earthquake, followed by a hurricane. Consid erable damage was done to property. The Death-Dealing Tornado. On Saturday afternoon a tornado swept over a path two miles wide and through the heart of Quincy. The roof of Joel Harrison's tobacco factory was blown off. and the walls toppled over, killing Henry Woodhouse and badly wounding Wright Harrison and a boy named Bowen, besides bruising a dozen others. A team of horses were killed. All the streets between Sixth and Front are lumbered up with roofs, trees and telegraph wires. One of the worst disasters was at the foundry of Bennett, Duff & Co., which was almost entirely demolished by the wind, the roof being lifted bodily. The killed at the foundry are Henry Ellerybrook, George Rowland and Frank Smith. Four others were seriously injured.

Boys' Fatal Quarrel. Julius Hacfner, 14 years old, and John Locscher, jr., of 40 Dominick street, New York, quarreled about the division of some pears that they had bought and were cating. They did not display more feeling than is common in boyish quarrels, and contented themselves with throwing pears and contented themselves with throwing pears.

I hope at some time, not far distant, to and spitting at one another. Neither suf-fered hurt, but both nursed bitter feelings after the quarrel which cropped out when-ever they met. On Friday night they had a fierce war of words and Saturday night when they met in Dominick street, none of their young companions was surprised to see them come to blows. The witnesses do not clearly tell who struck the first blow, nor did any of them see a knife. None seem to have noticed the encounter much until young Haefner was seen to fall to the ground, while blood streamed from the station house on a stretcher from a neighboring drug store, but died before the ambulance arrived. SWARTHMORE IN FLAMES.

The Quaker Institution Destroyed. Swarthmore college, Delaware county, was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. A dispatch to the Times thus relates the affair :

"The fire started about 11 a'clock. There was a spontaneous explosion of chemicals in the laboratory. Following the explosion came the flames. They spread rapidly. The students were in bed and most of them fast asleep when the dread alarm was sounded. They awoke for us when we feel this "touch of nature to the cry of 'Fire!' and to the sound of that makes the whole world kin," that TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 27, 1881. crackling timbers. The greatest excite- we can and do forget our antagonisms of ment followed. The young men leaped from their beds and ran for their lives. In the girls' department the excitement was even more intense. Hastily snatching whatever articles of clothing were the handiest they sought the hallways and the open air, thinking only of escape for themselves. There are two hundred and eight students connected with the college and fifteen professors and teachers. How they ever got out alive is a marvel. But in spite of the consternation and confusion, in spite of the hasty flight from the burning building, not a life was lost. But one accident is reported. putting out a fire were very crude. The fire had a good start. The chemicals burned fiercely and the flames had a tremendous hold upon the building before anything could be done toward staying them. The students were too bewildered at first to be of any use. They stood about staring at the burning building as if it were all a dream. Hurried from their beds, their clothing was of but a scant descrip-tion. They had left all their property behind them. Books, money, jewelry-everything but the clothing upon their backs was hemmed in by the smoke and flame. Attracted by the fire-people from the neighborhood soon began flocking to the college grounds. Sept. 21st, 1881. 5 Hon, John T. Mactionigle:

My Dear Sir—Your favor of the 19th inst., with enclosure of draft for $500, for relief of sufferers by fire in this state, was received this day. Accept the thanks of the committee on behalf of the sufferers. There has been no exaggera-tion in published statements of loss by fire; there were over 2000 families burned out, who lost almost everything. They must substantially be supported until they can raise something from their ground. We are furnishing them food, clothing, axes and tools, harness and plows, wagons, seed for wheat and lumber to roof their log cabins; blankets and bedding, medicine and oats and hay. A Baptist Minister's Experience. I am a Baptist Minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, 40 years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy: "Thomas' Eelectric Oil cared me." I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Eelectric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and "Thomas' Eelectric Oil cured them," and if taken in time it will cure seven out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with the Oil, and then piace the end of the spoon into the head by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deatness and carache it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now sufering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Eelectric Oil.
