Messrs. Hartman and Schaeffer left Lan caster during the latter part of August and proceeded direct to Iowa, where Mr. Gable had large tracts of valuable land. They traveled through five or six counties, often traversing very bad roads, by private conveyance and in very inclement weather. Mr. Hartman was indefatigable in his labor of examining titles, making surveys of the various properties, examining and satisfying mortgages, paying accrued taxes and in some cases making arrangements for the lease or sale of some of the properties. His arduous duties, coning circumstances, together with place. change of climate, diet and water, at last began to tell upon his health. and he was attacked with dysentery about the time he had concluded his labors, but his case was not considered serious until he had reached Chicago on his return home. On reaching Fort Wayne he was so seriously ill that Mr. Schaeffer thought he had better stop there to recuperate, but Mr. Hartman, as if foreseeing what the end would be, insisted on continuing the journey home. He reached Laucaster on last Thursday week, and though he received the most unremitting attention from affectionate relatives and friends, and of distinguished physicians, he gradually grew worse, and died this morning as above stated.

Mr. Hartman was born in Lancaster county, Pa., on the 13th of December, 1832. In early life he removed to Clinton county, where he remained until he was about 18 years old. Returning to La caster the late Tobias Miller, and opened a fulling mill in East Hempfield. Entering into political life he took an active part in local, state and national politics. In 1842 was beaten by John Ehler, who ran as an independent, and was supported by the Democrats. Iu 1845 Mr. Hartman was renominated and elected by a large majority, serving for three years and having to perform the disagreeable task of hanging John Haggerty, the murderer of the Fortney family.

About the time of his election to the shrievalty Mr. Hartman removed from East Hempfield to Lancaster, and resided here until the time of his death. After the expiration of his term as sheriff Mr. Hartman entered into the lumber trade, which he carried on successfully for many years. He was also an active worker in opening and improving the East Chestnut street tract, formerly known as the "Com mon," and at the time of his death was the largest owner of that valuable property. He was one of the most active workers in the establishment of the state normal school at Millersville, and was a member of the board of trustees at the time of his death. He was also a director of the Home Mutual fire insurance company, and a trustee of the Duke street Methedi t Episcopal church. He was an enumerator of the United States census for this city in 1850 and 1870, and he was a member of the Lucaster school board for nearly a quarter of a century-being the oldest member of the board except Christian

In all his relations of life, whether public or private, Mr. Hartman was earnest, active, intelligent and honest, and he had the entire confidence of all with whom he had intercourse. As a husband and father he was kind, affectionate and indulgent : as a neighbor and friend, courteous, genial and obliging, and as a private or public officer true to his trust; dying, it may be said, in the discharge of duties imposed him by an old and esteemed friend.

Mr. Hartman leaves a wife and five children-three sons and two daughters. One of the latter, Miss Annie, has long been a teacher in the Millersville normal school; the other, Mary, is the wife of Luther S. Kauffman and resides in Denver, Colorado. Of his sons, David is busic inanager for John Best; Samuel L. S. we agent; and Harry H, is a civil and mining engineer in Houtzdale, Clearfield county, Pa. All are now in the city except Mrs. Kanffman.

THIRD EDITION.

MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 10, 1881. BAYARD ELECTED

TO THE PRESIDENCY OF THE SENATE,

After a Slight Opposition From the Repub-Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Both the Republican and Democratic senators met in caucus at the capitol at 10 o'clock this a. m. There was a full attendance in both of them, as nearly all of the absentees on Saturday have since arrived, and were present this morning. The Republicans remained in session but a short time, less than half an hour, merely mapping out a plan of action to govern through the day. The Democratic caucus remained in session an hour or more and discussed the question which occupied so much of their time on Saturday-whether or not to admit the new senators before electing a secretary. No decision was reached, and the caucus adjourned.

At 11 o'clock the Senate galleries were filled to their utmost capacity. The desk formerly occupied by General Burnside was draped in black, while bouquets or-namented desks of prominent senators. Messrs. Aldridge, Lapham and Miller occupied seats on the floor.

The Senate was called to order by Mr. Harris, of Tennessee, who, after prayer, said he had been requested by a number of senators on both sides, to call the Senate to order. The president's proclamation convening the Senate in extra session was then read.

Mr. Pendleton moved the adoption of the following resolution:

"That Thomas F. Bayard, a senator from the state of Delaware, is hereby chosen president pro tem. of the Senate. Mr. Edmunds thereupon presented the credentials of the senators-elect and moved that the oath of office be admistered to them by Mr. Anthony, the senior senator. Mr. Pendleton moved to lay the motion on the table, and it was carried-36 to 34 : Davis (Ills.) voting in the negative with the Republicans; Mahone did not vote and Platt and Fair were paired.

Mr. Edmunds said that no reason had been given why the senators-elect should not be allowed to take part in the organization of the Senate, and he therefore moved to amend the Pendleton resolution by providing for the immediate qualification of the senators-elect, the oath of office to be administered by Senator An thony.

The amendment offered by Edmunds to Pendleton's resolution gave rise to a short discussion, but was finally rejected, yeas 33, nays 34, Mahore and Davis, of Illinois, voting with the Republicans.

Mr. Edmunds then proposed an amend-mend providing that Thomas F. Bayard shall be elected presiding officer for this day only, and argued in support of the amendment, contending that it would comply with both the letter and the spirit of the law and would allow the states of New York and Rhode Island to have a voice in the election of a permanent president pro tem. The amendmend was for some time under discussion, Mr. Morgan taking the floor.

A yea and nay vote on Mr. Edmunds's ent resulted in its defeat by a vote of Senator Anthony for that of Senator Bayard as president pro tem. A vote was at once taken and the amendment was defeated--yeas 32, nays 34. Mr. Mahone voted with the Republicans and Senator David Davis did not vote. Bayard Elected.

The original resolution, introduced by Mr. Pendleton, was then adopted by a vote of 34 to 32; Mr. Davis of Illinois did not vote, Mr. Mahone voted with the Republicans. The chair then appointed Senators Authory and Pendleton to escort the president pro tempore-elect, Mr. Bayard, to the chair.

Mr. Edmunds moved to admit the senator-elect from Rhode Island, Mr. Aldrich, and Mr. Pendleton moved to adjourn. A yea and nay vote was taken and the motion prevailed and Senate adjourned until 12 o'clock to-morrow.

From the Moravian to the Episcopatian. A large congregation yesterday attended the opening religious services of Holy Trinity Reformed Episcopal church, at Twelfth and Oxford streets, Philadelphia, because the pastor Rev. H. S. Hoffman, and his people who formerly professed the Moravian faith espoused that of the Reformed Episcopal church but a few weeks since. Bishop Wm. R. Nicholson, D. D., preached the morning sermon, taking as his subject the teachers and work of the Reformed Episcopal church The children's service at 2; o'clock was appropriately addressed by Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, Ex-Governor James Pollock and Ex-Mayor Daniel M. Fox. Mayor King, who was expected to be present, was unavoidably detained. Immediately after the children's service a union meet ing of Reformed Episcopal clergymen was addressed by Revs. Wm. Newton, Charles H. Tucker, Forrest E. Dager and Rev. Dr. Smith, of Newark, N. J. In the evening a serman was delivered by Bishop Nicholson. Bishop Stevens's Ordination Sermon Criti-

Rev. William Henry Rice, of the First Moravian church, at Franklin and Wood streets, yesterday preached a sermon apropos of the recent atterence of Bishop Stevens, who, in a reordination of a Moravian minister, Rev. Jordan, into the ministry of the Episcopal church, remarked that the Moravian ordination was "less ample" than the Episcopalian. Rev. Rice severely denounced the "exclusive" claims of any church and then recalled to the minds of the audience a certain day in August, 1876, when in that very church Rev. Mr. Jordan, a young minister, was ordained by their beloved Bishop, Edmund de Schweinitz. Again he called to mind another occasion, when the same minister was ordained in Indiana, two years later. Then the speaker pro picture of the scene in the Episcopal church of the Atonement, at Seventeenth and Summer streets, on Friday, the 30th started that morning in the church of the Atonement to preach a sermon under most painful circumstance—painful to the audience and painful to the speaker, who was about to commit a most awkward breach in church comity and fellowship. He wanted to take the 'path of wisdom' and treat our brother as though apostolic succession had not already been conferred upon him. It is not my purpose to arraign Bishop Stevens because he differed from some of the ablest scholars of his church in this matter. The way in which he generously condescended to speak of our dear Moravian brethren was most flattering. Our brother in the Episcopalian faith fairly outshope all other bishops of that church in his admiration for our church. I never heard the Moravian church more highly extolled.

"I see no reason for criticism because he sheltered himself behind his ecclesiastical artillery, the canon law of the church which required him to reordain all who came from other denominations to enter the Episcopalian ministry. But if it was simply a matter of canon law with Bishop Stevens, why all these words about the path of wisdom? He would ordain our brother because his ordination in the Moravian church was 'less am ple.' Could Bishop Stevens honestly believe when he spoke these words, after the professions of love and affection he had made for our church, that his views as to the lack of amplitude in our church formula were shared by the bishops of our church? We protest against such subsidiary reasons, and we assert that it was neither a wise nor a bold nor an honest thing for him to so interpret it. We assert that the Moravian church has a formula just as broad as that of the American branch of our younger Anglican sister."

In closing the speaker raid : "Such a prelatical slap in the face as Bishop Stevens gave the clergy of the Moravian church from the pulpit of the church of the Atonement on Friday last ought to preclude any further fulsome adulation as to the validity of our ordination, or, as Bishop Stevens is pleased to express it, the amplitude of the Moravian church.

CLOTHING.

WANAMAKER & BROWN.

Fall Clothing.

People who are thoughtful on what they wear are beginning to look about the streets, and wherever men gather together, to see the direction new things are taking; for new clothes are beginning to be worn.

Long before you begin to think on these things, friends, the styles are thought out and fixed and the clothes are made. They are even now on our counters waiting for you. The best way to see the new styles is to take a half-hour and look through the best stock you can find.

Where is it? do you ask? Perhaps where everything is returnable if you don't like it next day.
