OBITUARY.

Death of Professor James McClintock. At half-past nine o'clock last night Professor James McClintock, the well known surgeon, died at his residence, No. 1001 Vine street, Philadelphia. The deceased was born in Lancister county, in 1809, two years after the arrival of his parents from Ireland. He began the study of medicine when he was fourteen, and graduated from Jefferson college in 1829, when but twenty years of age. In 1831 he was appointed one of the vaccine physicians of the city, and in the following year lectured on obstetrics to a summer class in the college. During the fearful epidemic of the same year he served in the Cherry street cholera hospital. In 1839 he opened the Philadelphia School of Anatomy, which soon became the largest private class ever assembled in that city. In 1841 he took the chair of anatomy and physiology in the Vermout Academy of Medicine, and here he remained until 1853, when he resigned. Four years later he was chosen chief resident physician of the Philadel phia hospital and almshouse. In 1861 he was elected city treasurer as a War Democrat, and conducted the office two years with such scrapulous care, that as a compliment councils released his bondsmen a year after his retirement. The immediate cause of his death was apoplexy, with which Dr. McClintock was stricken three weeks ago. His skill in his profession was only equalled by his care and attention to the poor.

He was formerly extensively engaged in the distilling business, and was many Mestayer and J. N. Long, two excellent years ago a member of city councils. His funeral will take place on Saturday at

The three public night schools now in operation are all well attended and getting | prising fifty-two artists will give two performon finely. Mr. Levergood principal of the South Duke street school has about 80 "Bohemian Girl" in the atternoon and pupils, and the night school committee have elected Mr. James C. Gable as an assistant teacher. Miss Hantch's girls night school, corner of Prince and Chestnut street has about 50 pupils enrolled, and Mr. Couzzins' Strawberry street school 29. There are seats in all of these schools for more pupils, and additional teachers will be proprovided as soon as the increased number of pupils make it necessary. It is to be hoped the parents and guardians of boys and girls who cannot attend the day schools will send their children to the night schools where they will receive useful instruction that will be of incalculable value to them in after life, instead of permitting them to run the streets and run the risk of getting into bad company and contracting bad habits, which may result in their ruin.

In this connection it is peoper to say that a number of rude and beisterous boys, who ought to have been at school, assembled last night in the grounds of the south Duke street schools, and greatly annoyed the pupils by their unruly conduct. The president of the school board obtained the names of the disorderlies with a view to having them arrested and punished; but on reflection, as this was the first offense of the kind, he determined to withold prosecution of the offenders unless their miscenduct shall be repeated, in which case they will surely be made an

It will be remembered that a few weeks ago a paragraph appeared in this paper stating that Mayor MacGonigle had received a despatch from Denver, in which it was stated that John Spickler was very sick, and that his parents who lived in this city, should be notified of his illness. The mayor was unable to learn anything about the family, but it now appears the name was wrongly given. Rev. Geo. RESCUED FROM DEATH

The following statement of William J Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half collar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicine. I was so far gone at one time a report J. B. MARTIN & CO., ed over a hundred dollars in doctors and medwent around that I was dead. I gave up hope, ed the kitchen and stole a half dozen of but a friend told me of Dr. Ww. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I langued at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got i bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise along the river and large numbers are and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that everyone afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold in Lancaster at Cochran's Drug Store, 137 and 139 North Queen 1v28-lydeodTh&w2 street.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Inroat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. Brown's pronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchia Coughs, Catarrh, and the Throat Troublet which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Pronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant us for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.
