Amusements.

Commett's Art Nights,-Taesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of next week Prof. George Reed Cromwell will delight our people with lds wonderful views, concerning which the New York World of recent date Says: "Prof. Crotawell manages to convey a great deal of information in a desultory way, throwing in enough humor to keep his listeners in the best possible frame of mind. His pictures and apparatus are, without doubt, the best that have been seen here, and, being skilifully manipulated, made, together with his running remarks and the choice music, a most enjoyable entertainment." The sale of reserved scats began to-day at Fuston opera house office, and persons who propose to at tend these entertainments should bear in mind that course tickets for the four nights are obtainable at a largely reduced price. " La Mascotte,"-Audran's most recent and very successful work will be sung here on Wednesday evening next, 23th inst., by Chas. E.Ford's English comic opera company. *The Mascotte is said to be in the best vein of that author whose "Onvette" has given him ready entree to the good favor of lovers of sparkling music, while of the company it is only necessary to refer to the fact that it wis selected for the first presentation of Gilbert & Sullivan's "Patience" in this country, to insure its worth. The names of Miss May Stembler, Mr. Long, and of our own young former townsman, John M. Amweg, jr., which we note among a dozen others in the east, are always sure of a warm reception here.

HOWGATE'S BAIL.

Its Forfeiture Admitted by the Judge to Have Been an Error. WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.-The case of Captain Howgate was called up in the criminal court this morning, when Judge Cox remarked to the district attorney that the forfeiture of the bail bond yesterday was an error inasmuch as the defendant was only required by the bond to appear for trial when notified.

Mr. Williams, counsel for Howgate, produced and read the bond taken before Commissioner Bundy, and which requires the defendant to appear and answer any him at the December term of the criminal

The district attorney expressed his surprise that such a bond had been taken, but insisted that he was entitled to a bench warrant for the arrest of Howgate by the grand jury. He would waive that right, owever, if the counsel would undertake o have Howgate present in court to-day. Mr. Williams gave the undertaking and retired. The argument on the court side of the case was postponed.
