AN UNEXPECTED RISE. I stood on the porch at evening,

When the sun went silently down, And the June bug bright in the starry night Flew merrlly through the town. Oh, sweet were the gentle zephyrs

And red were the lips and sweet the sips That I took from the pretty month. Her tiny wals! was encircled By my arm so strong and true, Said I. "Whose ducky are you, love?"

That blew from the balmy south,

"Yours," she murmured, and whose are Oh, the hallowed hours of that evening! Oh, the crael caprice of Fate! Her father, unkind, came up from behind,

And fired me over the gate. -Chicago Tribune.

Raising the Price of Sour Krout.

An insidious little creature known as the cabbage worm is causing the farmers and the house-wife considerable annoyance. His habit is the centre of the cabbage, where his security from observation gives him opportunity to do the most districts is how the worm gets into the cabbage. There is no hole visible through which he could have worked his way, and the first intimation had of his presence is Cancers, Tumors and Swellings Cures when the vegetable begins to decay; a knife is applied, and the destructive little worm is laid bare, surrounded by the ruin he has caused.

There are many reasons assigned for the presence of the worm, the most potent of which seems to be that the dry, hot weather depriving the cabbage of moisture, the heart is affected, and the first form of decay is developed in the worm. There is never but one found in a cabbage, and the whole heart is eaten away before the evidences of decay are manifested upon the outer leaves. There are no firm heads of cabbage this season, and the kind offered are small, and hardly fitted to domestic use. Philadelphia draws her supply of cabbage from Bucks, Montgomery, Chester, and Delaware counties, and the garden spot across the water known as the state of New Jersey.

It has been estimated that in a prosperous season for cabbage not less than 12,000,000 heads of this succulent vege table find sale in Philadelphia markets, and at least 5,000,000 of these are made into sour krout.

A Knit Bed Quilt.

A very pretty bed cover, and a warm one too, is made from old bits of flannel, delaine or bright prints. Strip them up, as if for a carpet and sew them together, taking care to have them of uniform width. Take a pair of wooden knitting pins, and cast on eight stitches of the cloth strips; knit across, backwards and forwards, eight times, so that it will form an exact square block; then take another color of cloth and knit on another square. Let the cloth lie loose over the finger, so as to not have the stitches too tight. Alternate the colors to your taste, knitting the strip in blocks till it is two yards and a quarter long Bind off the stitches on the last block, and commence another strip, taking care to have squares of different colors come against each other. Sew the strips together with strong thread, having the corners meet. It makes a pretty contrast, and is a very nice, warm, durable article of bed-ding, looking much finer than it really is.

Protecting Trees from Rabbits. It is stated by an English writer that he finds it important to thicken gas tar by boiling before applying it to the bark of trees to exclude rabbits, so that when cold it will barely soak through the cloths used in applying it. If too thin, it goes into the bark of the trees; if thick, it remains outside, and does no harm. It is applyed by using a cloth in the hard. applyed by using a cloth in the hand, under a hot and burning sun. Can't Preach Good. No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he teels iniserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE.

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. II. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afficted with Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY.

Reigart's Old Brandy, and 400 or 500 trees are treated by a man in a day. It should be remarked that there is much less danger of injury to old, hard-barked trees than to young trees that have a soft green bark, and there is less danger in a cool, moist climate than under a hot and hurning sun stantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet berackers and stale bread, and as a bevern. he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Braudy, In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintaners, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which heachose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
