PHILADELPHIA.

INDIA SHAWLS.

Now is a good time to choose here. Between 200 and 250 we do not expect to be beaten. JOHN WANAMAKER. Chestnut-street entrance.

DRESS NOVELTIES.

Colonnades with self-colored silk Ham burg flouncing embroidered on some cashmere. All we had a month ago, except one, are gone; and more come. Three patterns of embroidery; brown, olive, bronze, garnet, and green cashmere. $2.75 to $4.50. JOHN WANAMAKER. Third circle, southeast from centre.

BLACK QUILTED LINING.

Black velvet of ten grades. 50 cents to $1.25 below 2 cents more. Velvet is in season. The latest of goods to judge. The best way to buy is either to see a good many sorts or trust an expert. JOHN WANAMAKER. Chestnut-street entrance.

TURKEY-RED FOR QUILTINGS.

5, 10, 12 1/2, 15, 20 cents. JOHN WANAMAKER. Next outer circle, northeast from centre.

TURKEY-RED TABLE-CLOTHS FROM AUSTRIA.

Some of the very same goods have found their way into other houses here. Compare prices. We ought to be at least below; for, alone among Philadelphia merchants, save the importers' profits. Some kind of an only discount, for example. JOHN WANAMAKER. City-hall square entrance, next outer circle.

HAIR.

More children from Paris; mostly combinations of crepe tissue and coloring. We buy nothing in richness but to get the styles that we can make, or to get new styles quickly. Hand-knit ties of a sort that we have always kept when we could get it, we have been out for months. Last summer we found them at St. Gall, Switzerland. We have them at twenty per cent. below our old prices, by saving the importer's profit. New lace coming by almost every steamer. JOHN WANAMAKER. Ten corners, southwest from centre.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

Before new silk handkerchiefs come we are selling the old at 50 and 75 cents. The quality of 75 cents and all the lower qualities at 50. There's nothing against them but the patterns. All coming in first; there are hundreds to choose from. JOHN WANAMAKER. Outer circle, west from Chestnut-street entrance.

BEDDING.

Black buyers differ. Some want all-wool; some want heavy qualities, and know them when they see them; some want high fineness and are willing to pay for it. We have all these. Here you can choose between different kinds and know what they are. If you are not a judge, you can find out just what a blanket is by asking. That's the advantage of buying of a house that has no secrets about goods. JOHN WANAMAKER. Market-street Middle entrance.

DRESS GOODS.

Here are faces of serge and satin hard to do justice to. The stripes are 15 inches wide. The serge, of course, is a variety of colors. The satin is the standard one. It is made of two sets of 12 inch cross bars, which alternate with each other. For ease of understanding, look at one set of these bars separately. It is ombre, shading from light at the ends to dark in the middle. Now look at the other set of bars. It also is ombre, but shading the opposite way, from dark at the ends to light in the middle. Now look at the stripes as a whole. It has a double-ombre effect. Think of one set of colors; now of the other. Now let the eye take in the whole piece. It is fairly tame with the harmony of colors; and yet most difficult to express. Why don't we tell what the colors are? Because there are several combinations; and even if we tried to sell for you, we could not find that a full statement of it would be dull. And if we could make the colors of one piece shine here in the light, they might be the very wrong colors for you, who are reading, though we may have the right ones. $1.25 to $2.00. JOHN WANAMAKER. Third circle, southeast from centre.

BLACK DRESS GOODS.

Black small figures silk and wool damascs, used for trimmings and overlays; better for trimmings; 25 cents. A finer fabric than we've had before at the price. JOHN WANAMAKER. Next outer circle, Chestnut-street entrance.

LACES FROM EUROPE.

Lace is what we have applied the peculiar principles of our trade to the buying and selling of laces. Lace we have bought as well as we could and sold as low as we could; and our trade has grown out of all proportion to our other trade. Now we begin to buy largely abroad. This is only carrying out our principles. Fully we bought last summer about $100,000 worth of laces of the manufacturers in various parts of Europe; and saved at least $20,000 thereby. This saving we give you; and, knowing the generous trade to come, we have higher grades of laces and greater variety. JOHN WANAMAKER. Ten corners, southwest from centre.

NEW UPHOLSTERY.

Upholstery cloths and fringes; very rich. Madras curtains of new patterns, cross stripes and shades. Balmie, Holland and silk with Madras colors inserted. JOHN WANAMAKER. Northwest gallery.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 2, 1881.

Local Scientists.

Meeting of the Linnaean Society.

The Linnaean society met at its museum on Saturday afternoon, October 29th. The president, Rev. J. C. Starr, was the chairman and Dr. M. L. Davis occupied the secretary's desk.

MUSEUM.

A valuable collection of insects made by a lady friend of the society, from the far off region of Montana, and donated through Mr. John B. Albright.

Also a specimen of the "Horned Frog" (Phrynosoma cornuti) and one of a common toad (a species of Bufo differing from ours) and a number of Arachnids including a scorpion. This collection is interesting and valuable on account of the locality in which it was collected, as it contains forms of the fauna of Texas, New Mexico, and California and other localities further south which we might as naturally expect to find in New York and Pennsylvania as in Montana, and yet they do not exist in those states.

The Horned Frog—Phrynosoma cornuti—the Mole cricket—Stenopelmatus tippa—the Scorpion—Buthus spidigerus—and in the genera Cleodas, Cleodas, and Polistes, are species of insects which had been in the habit of regarding as local in Texas, New Mexico and contiguous regions.

A very large specimen of the spectra insect, or walking stick (Diaphanura formata) and a brown striped Salamander, (Solit. umanora cyathocera) are from Lancaster county, and were donated by friends of the museum.

Two fossils (referred to the committee on Paleontology for future identification) from along the little Juniata river, Huntingdon county, Pa., were donated by Dr. M. L. Davis, of Millersville.

A specimen of bituminous coal from Montana, by the donor of the insects, through the same medium. This specimen is especially interesting on account of its locality, illustrating the extensive geological distribution of the mineral. Its appearance, and especially its cubic cleavage, it resembles the bituminous coal of Pennsylvania, and doubtless is of the same chemical composition.

A fine specimen of Drill-bell Galena, silver and iron, from the Bonanza and Union mine, Black Hawk, Col., and two specimens of graphic granite, from the Seven Falls, Cheyenne county, Colorado, donated by Mr. Chas. A. Heintz.

LIBRARY.

Six volumes, being a continuation of the series containing the "Second Geological Survey of Pennsylvania," from the office in charge at Harrisburg. The report of the commissioner of education for 1879, from the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; the Lancaster Intelligencer for October, 1881; numbers 12, 13, 14 and 15 of the Official Patent Office Gazette; also, decisions and index of contents, from Jan. 1 to June 28, 1881, Department of the Interior; five catalogues of historical and scientific publications foreign and domestic; five envelopes containing fifty local and foreign biographical and historical seraps.

JOHN S. SMITH, D. D. S., was unanimously elected an active member.

Standing committees made no reports, but special committees to report at the next meeting, the committee appointed at a former meeting to consider the propriety of changing the hour of the meetings from afternoon to evening, was instructed to include the question of reducing the number of meetings from monthly to bi-monthly or quarterly, and to report at the November meeting, to be held on Saturday afternoon, the 26th. The hope was entertained that there would be a good and punctual attendance at said meeting, and also that all those who have been recently elected member be in attendance and comply with the forms of the constitution.

The object is to make the meetings more interesting and useful, and at the same time to interfere as little as possible with the secular occupations of its members. Also to allow more time and opportunity to prepare subjects to be brought before the meetings.

After a pleasant hour or so, with an increased attendance over the summer meetings, the society adjourned to the time above stated.

Mr. Randall's Speech in New York.

At the great gathering of the New York City Democracy at the Cooper Union on Thursday last to ratify state and county nominations, ex-Speaker Samuel J. Randall delivered a speech on national topics, outlining what in his view should be the future of the policy and program of the party of which he is an eminent member. The doctrine which Mr. Randall laid down and upon which he urges all true Democrats to "pull together" are briefly these: A 3 per cent. rate of interest on the public debt instead of the 5 per cent. fixed by Secretary Windom; a revision of the tariff by a commission; the abolition of all internal revenue taxes; reform of the civil service and frugal expenditure. It is in matters of finance, however, that the ex-speaker deserves his chief attention. He aims to show that events have proved the wisdom of the bill passed by the Democratic House at its short session, and voted by Mr. Hayes, according to the provisions of which there were to be issued $100,000,000 of fifty-two bonds and $500,000,000 of treasury notes, each of these to bear 3 per cent. The success with which Mr. Windom met in "continuing" the 5 and 6s at an interest rate of 3 per cent., and that, too, despite the option the government retained of paying them at any time, would go far to indicate that it would have been practicable, as the Democratic House proposed, to float five-twenties at 3 per cent., and this indication seems to be confirmed when we observe that to-day the continued 5s sell at a premium of from 2 1/2 to 2 1/2, while the 6s, which, it is said, will first be redeemed, sell at 1 per cent. premium and over. The argument here, then, as now, by Mr. Randall was this: that assuredly the credit of the United States, a growing country, must at least be as good as that of Great Britain, the principal of whose debt is never expected to be paid. As is well-known, it was the "fifth section" affecting the national banks, which excited the chief opposition to the funding bill, and upon which Mr. Hayes largely based his veto, although it had been recommended by Mr. Gillilan, treasurer of the United States. Mr. Randall condemns in warm terms the hot haste of Mr. Hayes in vetoing the bill, before it was passed, and the action of the Republican party under the influence, as he alleges, of the national banks.

The ex-speaker states that there are now outstanding, of continued 6s, $180,000,000 and of 5s, $400,000,000, in all $580,000,000. Of these bonds the banks hold $216,000,000, which is the amount that would have been effected by the "fifth section," and there are now in the United States treasury, applicable to the purchase of bonds, $160,000,000; thus, then, there would remain but $174,000,000 of the $580,000,000 of the continued 5s and 6s yet to be provided for if the views of Mr. Randall could be carried into practice on the basis of the funding bill last session. That such a sum bearing 3 per cent. could easily be floated at par he thinks unquestionable. Therefore Mr. Randall exhorts his party to a continuance of their past policy with regard to the public debt. Being a Pennsylvanian, Mr. Randall is in favor of abolishing all internal revenue taxes, in order that the whole revenue of the government shall be raised from the tariff. He claims that we collect $360,000,000 annually from all sources, that the government expenses are $225,000,000, and that the difference is taken unnecessarily and wrongly from the people. His recommendation that "the tariff should be changed" amounts to nothing in view of the accompanying suggestion of an abolition of all internal taxes. The latter once abolished, there would be no considerable source of revenue left besides the tariff dues, a rise in which would soon perhaps be forced by a need of revenue created for the occasion by the devices of adroit ultra-protectionists, or might be induced naturally by a falling off of imports. While the country may receive some abatement of the internal revenue taxes, it also will be likely to wish a more reasonable tariff, which, as experience shows, is not likely to be obtained, but rather delayed, by the tinkering of a complicated congressional commission.

The President's Assassin.

Oneta Noyes on Guiteau's Mental Condition.

Mr. Noyes, the head of the Oneta Community, has written the following letter to Guiteau's attorney and it is published in the Niagara Falls Gazette:

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 20, 1881.

G. W. SEAVILLE:

DEAR SIR—I see in the papers that you have named me as a witness by whom you intend to prove Guiteau's insanity. Perhaps it will save you trouble and expense if I inform you in advance that I do not believe in his insanity, and that I recollect distinctly the symptoms of insanity in his life while under my observation. Probably I have more reason than any other man to know and detect his wickedness; but that is not insanity in any legal sense. I think that he was born with a special genius for mischief and had a real inspiration for it all his life, but that is not saying he is insane, unless we also call natural genius and inspiration for good things, such as invention, music, etc., insanity. I understand insanity to be unsoundness—disease of the brain; and I do not think that Guiteau was that, and that he became so at any time, but that he was the old idiom that such beasts growl and fight because

It is their nature to.

With these views and the memory of my own experience with your client, I am afraid I should have to testify strongly against your case, but that is not saying he is insane, unless we also call natural genius and inspiration for good things, such as invention, music, etc., insanity. I understand insanity to be unsoundness—disease of the brain; and I do not think that Guiteau was that, and that he became so at any time, but that he was the old idiom that such beasts growl and fight because
