Wanamaker's Grand Depot. The attention of purchasers is directed to the advertisement of that prince of merchants -John Wanamaker-whose Grand Depot at Thirteenth and Market streets, Philadelphia, newly supplied with an immense display of new things, presents unlimited attractions, now that the shopping season is upon us in real carnest. As if to anticipate every want of his patrons and the general public, Mr. Wanamaker's advertisement enumerates at length and with a comprehensiveness of detail undertaken by few advertisers, the varied assortment of goods to be found in the scores of departments that make up his great establishment, and, as it to still further guide their choice in the selection of goods for fall and winter, the prices of things are in many cases set forth in figures that need no explanation, and the moderate one of which carry their own recommendation with them. Mr. Wanamaker's long and successful career as a business man has given him an insight into the needs of the public, and with the vim and energy and intelligent judgment that are prominent traits in his character, addresses himself to the task of meeting them with what success is best known to the hundreds of thousands who have dealings with him. Fair play is the watchword at Wanamaker's, and there never will be any apprehension that the full worth of the money expended will not be given in all transactions here. To any one hesitating as to just what they need this fall and winter we say with perfect assurance that their wants will be satisfactorily met therein: Read John Wanamaker's advertisement on the first page of this paper. It fills the bill completely,

Amusements.

Philip Phillips To-night,-Philip Phillips, as-sisted by his son, will give one of their very popular entertainments in St. Paul's M. F. church, on South Queen street. They should have a large audience, as they are very good. "One Hundred Wives To-Night."-From the scores of favorable notices which the Gosche-Hopper company bring with them as their credentials to popular tayor, the following from the Detroit Free Press is reproduced as a "specimen brick:" "The lift was decided and instantaneous; no play this season has received such emphatic endorsement, and no such scene of enthusiasm and excitement has been witnessed since this theatre came into existence."

THIRD EDITION.

MINISTER WEST.

Philadelphia's Cordial Reception of Sa Edward Thornton's Successor, PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.-At nine o'clock this morning the revenue cutter Hamilton, having on board the reception committee, started down the river to meet the steamer Indiana and escort the new British minister, Hon. Lionel S. Sackville-West, up to the city. The cutter met the steamer opposite League Island, where the com-mittee guests boarded her. A reception was held in the cabin by Mr. West. Joel Cook, secretary of the committee, read an address of welcome from the mayor, in which the latter regretted his inability to be present, but tendered the hospitality of of the city to the minister. Another address was read by J. Price Wetherill on behalf of the reception committee. Mr. West replied in a few well-chosen sentences, in which the hope was expressed that the present good feeling between the United States and Great Britain heretofore prevailing might be lasting, and he assured his listeners that he would do "I in his power to premote that end, This concluded the formalities. A general introduction then took place. Among those present were the following, most of whom are prominent in business and ship-ing circles here: Philip Fitzpatrick, Col. J. N. McComb, William Waterall, of the St. George's society; William Brockie. John Lucas, Capt. Wm. Arthur, R. N.; Fred. Adams, secretary of legation at Washington; John T Baily, president Commercial Exchange; Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, Hon. Chas. O'Neill, Capt. Clipporton, British consul; James A. Wright, and Senator Horatio Gates Jones. The Indiana arrived at her dock at 11:15 a. m. The party took carriages and drove to the Continental, where lunch will be served. This afternoon it is intended to escort Mr. West to various places of interest throughout the city, although the programme has not yet been definitely arranged, and at six o'clock to-night he will be the recipient of a banquet at St.

George's hall. & At one o'clock he was received at the mayor's office, that official delivering a brief address of welcome.

CLEGSTON'S MURDERER.

Peter V. Abbott Surrenders Himself and Confesses the Crime,--- The Police Incredulous. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.-A few minutes before midnight last night, a man en-tered the Fourth district police station, and giving his name as Peter W. Abbott, said that he desired to surrender himself. He then made a statement to the sergeant on duty to the effect that he (Abbott) knew that he was accused of the murder of Samuel H. Clugston, at Valley Forge last spring, and he wished to be held to answer for the crime. This morning he was taken to the Central station, where he made a lengthy statement in which he declared that, he murdered Clugston. The chief of police, however, denies that the prisoner is detained on account of that The chief of police telegraphed to the district attorney at Norristown, that a man was under arrest who claimed to have committed the Ciugston murder. It has since been declared that the prisoner is Christian Heusel, an old thief, who has served eight years in the Eastern peniten-tiary, and several terms in the House of Correction. It is believed that his story is a fabrication, and that he is partially
