Volume XVIII—No. 71.

LANCASTER, PA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1881.

Price Two Cents.

JOHN WANAMAKER CALLS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE FOLLOWING:

Our circular silks, 6-inch, are bought entirely from the makers in Lyons this fall for the first time. We have advantage in the price, and besides a degree of confidence not to be got in miscellaneous buying.

Next-outer circle, Chestnut St. entrance.

Is there anything black at 75 cents better than flannel? It is of the simplest of all weavings; and naturally money goes a long way in buying it. Black serge at $1.25, full 54 inches wide, exactly the wholesale price to-day.

Next-outer circle, Chestnut St. entrance.

Camel's-hair lightly covered with bourette plaid; the same so heavily covered with bright bourette single threads as to constitute a high flannel, $1.50.

Third circle, southeast from centre.

Ladies' coats of every grade are in a good light in the new corner; and if there isn't enough room it is because many layers are there.

New to-day. Coats of light cloth trimmed with plush, for young ladies only; the sizes and styles are young. $13 and $14.

1301 Chestnut street.

Lengthening and re-dyeing seal coats; and the sooner it is done the better. American dye, of course; but for second dyeing it isn't worth while to send to London.

By the way, would you like to look into our busy fur workshop on the third floor? You shall see all sorts of fur skins and every process of making and ask as many questions as you like.

1301 Chestnut street.

Board of Pardons Cases.

But Three Pardons Recommended.

The board of pardons disposed of the work before it yesterday in six hours. Pardons were recommended in three cases: Edward Grider, rape, sentenced in Allegheny county April 7, 1877, to ten years in the penitentiary; William Scott, manslaughter, sentenced in Lackawanna county September 13, 1879, to ten years in the penitentiary; Ira T. Conral, rape, sentenced in Huntingdon county August 27, 1879, to eight years in the penitentiary.

Senator George Handy Smith appeared for William Cannon, of Philadelphia, convicted of highway robbery. He said he represented the case at the instance of persons who had been prominent in his prosecution and who had interceded for him because of the illness of the prisoner's wife. The board refused a pardon action was taken in the following cases: Michael Dollard, burglary, Northampton county; J. O. Baughman, adultery, Adams; Alexander Mohowsky, murder in second degree, Schuylkill; Thomas O. Boyle, rape, Schuylkill. Hearings were refused in the following cases: Jacob S. Campbell, conspiracy, Philadelphia; Edward Hall, Michael Walsh and Robert White, convicted in Berks county of forging Reading railroad scrip.

A releasing was granted in the case of Arthur Campbell, of Philadelphia, convicted of highway robbery. The case of Samuel Allen, sentenced in Cumberland county August 29, 1879, to five years in the Eastern penitentiary, was held under advisement. Congressman Beitzhoefer presented a number of letters and depositions to show that the prisoner was when convicted and still in custody.

Ex-Senator Dil, of counsel for the murderers of John Kintzer and wife, who were killed in Snyder county in December, 1877, appeared before the board and suggested that the cases of Jonathan Moyer and Israel Ebel, sentenced to be executed December 18, be heard at a subsequent meeting of the board. He stated that since the day for the hanging had been fixed by the governor statements had been made by Jonathan Moyer and the late Emanuel Etinger exonerating Ebel from participation in the crime. Testimony had been taken in the matter, but not enough to justify present action in the case. Mr. Dil stated that the governor, after having been informed by him that the necessary papers could not be prepared in time to be heard at the November meeting of the board, he agreed to respite the prisoners. Mr. Hoyer, of Sallingsgrove, who assisted in the prosecution, contended that the defendants' counsel had a month and a half to prepare evidence, and opposed delay because of the insecure condition of the Snyder county jail. Reference to Etinger's statement he said it was no confession. It had been drawn from him while in a dying condition by leading questions, the prisoner answering by a shake of the head. He promised to show that Etinger did not make a natural death, but committed suicide.

The board agreed to hear the murder case at the next meeting, provided the governor granted the condemned a respite.

Friend Lydecker.

N. Y. Correspondence of the Public Ledger.

A genuine commotion was created in the custom house yesterday by private advices from Washington of unquestioned reliability, to the effect that Mr. John Lydecker, formerly one of the deputy collectors there, is to succeed Mr. French as assistant secretary of the treasury. Mr. Lydecker, it is unnecessary to remind readers that was familiar with New York custom house politics during the Hayes administration, is a man with a history. He was connected with the public service for many years, and was considered by the merchants one of the most efficient, as he certainly was one of the most popular deputies in the gray building in Wall street. When Mr. Arthur became collector, Mr. Lydecker linked his political fortunes with his, and became a warm adherent of Senator Conkling at the political conventions. This brought down upon him the ire of the treasury of the treasury. Mr. Sherman, and under the inspiration of the civil service reform movement, charges were preferred against Mr. Lydecker of character reflecting upon his disinterestedness, if not his integrity, as a public officer, and his conduct in it. All was his removal as he and his friends alleged, simply to make place for a partisan of the other factor. Mr. Arthur, as collector, exerted his influence to the utmost to save his deputy's official head from decapitation, but not only did not meet with success, but he himself met a similar fate only a few months afterwards. As already said, that is matter of history. Now, with Arthur president and Lydecker in the treasury department, the "whirligig of time" is bringing around "its revenges." Still, the end is not yet. The president, it should be borne in mind, has never succeeded, for a moment, that his removal and the removal of personal and political friends, like Lydecker, from the custom house under the circumstances, was anything but unjust, partisan persecution, and hence, in justice to himself and to Arthur, he commends that the stigma which was thus unjustly placed upon them should be removed. This is the real meaning of the Lydecker appointment, and this is the meaning also of the consternation which the news is naturally occasioning in the gray building. The question now asked on every hand is "Whose turn next?" Or, to put it in another shape, if everybody who was turned out of the custom house with Mr. Arthur then is to be provided with a place now, what is to become of the "ins?" It is a perplexing conundrum, but from the present drift of things it will not be long before it is definitely solved.

New Stock Exchange.

Formal announcement is made of the fact that a new Stock Exchange, with bank and trust company attachments, backed by wealthy capitalists, is about to be organized in New York city, with its headquarters in the lower part of Broadway, "to be free from the offensive influences which govern the Exchange which is now in existence." Its capital stock is fixed at $5,000,000 and among the names already said to be associated with it are those of Jay Gould, Cyrus W. Field, William H. Vanderbilt, C. P. Huntington, E. D. Morgan, Russell Sage, H. J. Jewett, D. O. Mills, David Davis and Sidney Dillon. Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis bankers are also said to be, to some extent, parties in interest. The movement, as might be expected, is causing no little anxiety at the Broad street board, and, if it really "means business," it is difficult to see how the present extravagant price of seats, $30,000, can be much longer maintained.

Some of the Stock Exchange members affect to make light of the movement, alleging that it is "only a scheme of Gould, Field and Sage to punish them for refusing to recognize the watered stock of the Manhattan combination." Mr. Field, however, says that the enterprise is bona fide, and will be carried through, and Mr. Connors (Gould's broker) "says ditto" to Mr. Field.
