Dr. John A. Rice, of Winston, Wis., a practising physician for 26 years, testified that in 1876, at the request of Mrs. Scoville, he examined Guiteau, for the purpose of inquiry as to his mental condition, and reached the conclusion that the prisoner was insane - that his instality was of the emotions rather than of the intellect : there was an impairment of the judgment, but not much impairment of intellect. Witness at the time advised Guiteau's friends to keep him secluded, but before steps could be taked to secure his confinement the prisoner borrowed some clothes from the genfieted with tleman with whom he was staying and disappeared. Witness also treated Luther Guiteau, father of the prisoner and detected in him great moral obliquity.
