The Immaculate Conception. The feast of the Immaculate Conception, a holy-day of obligation in the Catholic this city, with appropriate services. As its name implies, it signifies that the Mother of the Saviour was conceived without the stain of original sin. Though long practised by devout Christians and acquiesced in by the church, this doctrine was not formally defined as an article of faith, until Dec. 8, 1854. At that time Pius IX., the reigning pope, in the basilica of St. Peter, in the presence of 300 archbishops, bishops and picked theologians of the church proclaimed it to the Catholic world. the great event was erected in Rome three years later.

Yesterday a wagon loaded with pretzels, belonging to Henry Eichler, was being driven along the Harrisburg pike, on the other side of Dillerville, when his horse frightened at a place where new buildings are being erected. The wagon was upset and a great number of pretzels were broken. The driver was but slightly injured. The load had to be repacked.

Narrow Escape from Being Burnt. Yesterday afternoon a countryman was driving in East Orange street, while a stiff wind was blowing. He was smoking a pipe, when some of the ashes fell it his clothing and in a short time he was on fire. His overcoat was almost burnt off had in the wagon were burned. He did not discover the fire until the above damage was done and then a number of boys assisted him to extinguish it.

This work of the famous com poser has never been heard here in its entirety, but many of its familiar airs bespeak that "Boccaccio" is worthy of the genius that furnished "Fatinitza" to the operatic stage.

Little Hinton.-Tuls gifted young actress and Philadelphia favorite will appear at the opera house next Monday evening in Augustin Daly's play of "Leah, the Forsaken," in the title role of which she has scored a complete success. RESCUED FROM DEATH The following statement of William J Cough-In, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. three years. "I write this hoping you will publish it, so that everyone afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. THE GUITEAU TRIAL. ANOTHER DIVERSION IN COURT.

The Prisoner and His Counsel Protesting Against the Mendiesome Interference of the Former's Brother WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The court room was again densely packed this morning. The moral effect of yesterday's testimony is seen in the prevalent belief to-day that the theory of hereditary insanity has been oner became very angry and excited, but no notice was taken of him. The witness testimony was unshaken by cross examination and produced a marked sensation. Her refined manners, well-chosen language and evident sincerity were markedly in dence she flatly contradicted. At the conclusion of Mrs. Wilson's tes timony John Guiteau arose and asked the court to rule out the testimony showing that her father died of softening of the brain. He could not see the reason for dragging in the mental condition of people having no blood connection with the prisoner.

Here Mr. Septille asset and asked the barboner, N. J., Dec. 8.—Evering-ham Disbrow, 32 years of age was 'killed near Clarksburg, Menmouth county, yesterday by the discharge of one of the barrels of his gun, while he was blowing the powder out of the other barrel. The top of his head was blown off.

Here Mr. Scoville arose, trembling with excitement, and protested against the meddlesomeness of John Guiteau, saying he (John) was opposed to showing any insanity in the family. Before he could finish, however, his voice was drowned by that of the prisoner, who struck the table violently and shouted "He'd better get back to Boston; he has no business here. Just because he happens to bear the same name he thinks he will get a little notoriety out of this case. I have not known anything of the man for years. That's all there is about him, and I want him to get out of this case."

John Guiteau made no response and quiet was soon restored. Subsequently John Guiteau asked to make a personal explanation, when the prisoner greeted him with "Oh, shut up and sit down," and the judge refused to hear him, saying there was no need for explanation from him. A recess was taken for one hour.
