of all who desire to examine beautiful cods.

The biographical sketches published of the late John W. Forney contain a number of errors in regard to his origin and family. He was born in Lancaster on the pectable parentage, connected with some of the oldest and most respectable amilies of Lancaster county. His father was engaged in an extensive busine s for that period in carriage-building, and was an officer in the old Lancaster Phalanx, a noted military organization that marched to the defense of Baltimore in the last war with England. On the father's side be was connected with the well-known Car penter family; his grandmother was the sister of Christian Carpenter, a leading citizen, and at one time high sheriff of the county. On the maternal side his grandfather, whose name he bore, was John Wien, a highly respectable and esteemed citizen, who held different positions of trust, and acted at one time as private secretary to General Hand of Revolutionary memory. His father dying at the early age of thirtyfive years, leaving a widow with two chil dren, a son and a daughter, in straitened circumstances, it devolved upon the moth er-a most estimable woman-to struggle for the support and education of her children. The praiseworthy manner in which she discharged her duty to her children and herself is well known to many of the older citizens of Lancaster city. She was a woman of great executive ability and of tine intelligence; and in consequence was placed at the head of Lancaster county hospital, the affairs of which she conducted for a number of years to the satisfaction of the public. She was sabsequently in charge of the children's home, in connection with the Episcopal church of Laneaster, and displayed throughout her long and useful life the energy and self-reliance for which her prominent son was charac-

The State Lunatic Hospital. The thirty-first annual report of this institution is at hand. Our esteemed fellowcitizen, Dr. John L. Atlee, is president of its board of trustees and Dr. J. Z. Gerhard is its superintendent, wherefore Lancasterians will be especially glad condition. The average number of inmates everywhere. ms-lydTfh&S&lyw last year was 345-149 males and 196 females. Of those admitted two males and five females were from Lancaster county. The report of the female physician of the hospital is exhaustive and valuable and this sentence from it is full of significance and merits weighty consideration by the faculty and laymen: "Just as soon as inassume the responsibilities of father or motherhood, just so soon will the grand my left lung as big as a balf collar. I expend-work of prevention be begun. That ed over a hundred dollars in doctors and medwould strike at the very root of an immense amount of suffering and even wrong-doing."

Sailsbury Teachers' Institute. The semi-monthly meeting of the Salisbury teachers' institute convened at Millwood, on Saturday, the 10th inst. It was called to order at 1:30 p. m. by the president. Ravages of Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is prevailing to an alarming extend in the neighborhood of Springville. In addition to the death of a child from that disease mentioned in Wednesday's paper, a son of Amos Musser died on Tuesday. Two other children are down with the same disease. A daughter of Mrs. Ellen Mumma died on Tuesday night and two other children have the disease. Children of Jacob Erb and Aaron Kuhns are also down with diphtheria, but no deaths from it have yet occurred in those

Under the Weather.

The many friends of Daniel Trewitz, our efficient street commissioner, will regret to learn that he is prostrated upon a bed of sickness. Several months ago Mr. Trewitz was slightly puralyzed and never recovered entirely from it, though he was able to perform his official duties. On Monday last he was prostrated by something like vertigo, and since that time has not been able to be out of bed. He is entirely conscious and seems to possess his usual strength, but becomes dizzy as soon as he raises his head from his pillow.

The l'ennsylvania's Fast Train. On Monday, and thereafter, the new fast train system of the Pennsylvania road from Chicago, having proved successful by experiment, will be extended to Cincinnati, St. Louis and Indianapolis, the trains from these three cities combining at Columbus and overtaking the limited express from Chicago at Pittsburgh, where those who care to pay the extra charge can take the latter, which consists of dining and sleeping cars only, for New

The Night Schools

Parents of boys and girls who cannot attend the day schools should see to it that their children attend the well-conducted night schools, which are open to all. It would be well, too, for those having such interests to occasionally call, "by chance the usual way" and see that the pupils are there and not playing truant.

Postponed.

The exhibition of sciopticon views, which was to be given by Mr. E. W. McCaskey at Dorwart street mission to-morrow night, has been indefinitely postponed.

Amusements. " Patience." - To-morrow evening E. E Rice's opera comique company will sing Gilbert and Sullivan's latest delightful produc tion "Patience" at Fulton opera house. We see very complimentary notices of this organ ization in our local contemporaries, and in New Yor': the troupe had a favorable season at Booth's theatre. There are a number of familiar and popular names in the cast, among them Miss Verona Jarbeau, Miss Irene Perry, Mr. McCollen, Mr. Henri Laurent, Mr. Shiller and others. Of the opera itself we feel amply justified in pronouncing it one of the most delicious works that the joint authorship of the merry Englishmen has produced, and predict for it a "run" similar to that achieved by "Pinatore."

THE LONG TRIAL.

Episodes of To-day's Proceedings. GUITEAU IN VICIOUS TEMPER.

His Solicitude for the Jury's Health. Washington, Dec. 15.—There were many distinguished men present at the Guiteau trial this morning, among them Gov. Phelps, of Vermont, Courtlandt Parker, Clarkson N. Potter and Senator

As soon as court opened Guiteau made a speech, expressing solicitude for the health of the jury and asking the court to order them to take a walk of four or five miles every morning before breakfast. The judge told him he would attend to the wants of the jury.

Mr. Collier, resuming the witness stand, testified that he had never seen signs of insanity in the prisoner. During the cross examination Guiteau broke out character-

J. M. Justice, of Logansport, was the next witness, and was characterized as a miserable liar by Guiteau. Guiteau distributed his vituperation very evenly among the witnesses—the cranks as he termed them—and the prosecuting attor-Rev. Rush R. Shippen, of Washington, first knew the prisoner a few months pre-vious to the assassination and boarded with him up to July 1st. The prisoner was chatty and polite, but exhibited no marked peculiarities; prisoner frequently referred to the Conkling-Garfield imbroglio. Mrs. Dunmire, Guiteau's divorced wife, took the stand, but her testimony was ob jected to by the defense unless record proof of divorce was shown, and she was withdrawn, to be introduced later. Dr. Noble Young, physician at the jail, thought the prisoner perfectly same. Mrs. Scoville attempted to ask a ques tion, when a colloquy occurred between her and her brother, the prisoner, he asserting that she was no lawyer and should keep quiet. Pending the colloquy Mr. Scoville asked witness if it were possible that by putting something in Guiteau's coffee in the morning they could make him appear brighter or more quiet. This it was understood came from Mrs. Scoville, but during the dispute the witness disap-

Gen. Joseph S. Reynolds, of Chicago, next testified. He knew Guiteau years ago, visited him in jail twelve days after the murder of the president, when Guiteau spoke of it as " the assassination." In subsequent interviews the prisoner refer red to it as "the removal." He was positive as to the language used.

The prisoner, who had received this witness with beaming smiles, soon became enraged and declared witness a spy, and that God would damn Corkhill. Upon allusion being made to something published in the Washington Republican the and others had denounced the crime; that prisoner asked if they (the Stalwarts) knew that he (witness) had said he had no accomplice; that upon being answered in the affirmative, he (prisoner) exclaimed, "Most astounding!" "most astounding!" And that prisoner seemed dazed and said, "What does it mean? I would have staked my life that they would defend me. They knew they wanted Garfield removed, and yet they de nounce me and can only see in it the bloody act." A recess was then taken.

OBITUARY. Death of Thomas J. Barger. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—Thomas J. Barger, a prominent lawyer of this city | May ...

[Mr. Barger was an able young lawyer and active Democratic politician of Philadelphia. He was Sheriff Wright's solicitor, and was an acute member of the legal profession in which, had he lived. he would no doubt, have attained eminence. He was a delegate to the Cincinnati convention and a member of the committee of seven to draft rules for the party in this state, but ill health prevented him from doing any work since early in the summer. He was a genial gentleman Singular and Fatal Accide Near Bowling Green, Va., Mr. Wm. Wright, a young man who had not been married more than six or eight months, was chopping in the woods. About the middle of the day his wife came to bring him a lunch. He had just cut down a large tree which had lodged against another, and called to his wife to run, as it was coming to the ground, but the unfor-tunate woman ran directly in the way of the tree, and it fell upon her, pinning her to the ground. She was not killed, but lay under the tree terribly crushed, but conscious, DENOUNCING WITNESS AND COUNSEL, and shrieking with pain, while her husband, alone and unassisted, set to work with all the energy of despair to cut the tree, two feet in diameter, in two. After what seemed to the couple an age, Mr. Wright severed the trunk of the tree and drew out his mangled, fainting wife. He then was compelled to leave her alone in the woods another long hour while he went for assistance to get her home, but
