WANAMAKER & BRUWN.

Lancaster Entelligencer. THURSDAY EVENING, DEC. 15, 1881.

PASTOR DANKWARDT. POMERANIA, 1807.

'Twas in the Northern German land, Fast by the Baltic sea, When the French emperor sent his troops

To bend the people's knee, And dwell within their houses, Feasting on wine and corn,

Till German hearts should learn to feel The might of foreign scorn. They came to Bodenstede, A hamlet green and still. With fountain in the market-place,

Where maids their pitchers fill. They overran the village street, They overran the inn. They stole the peasants' ripening crops

And strove the maids to win: And up and down throughout the night They sang their ribald song, While hidden evils darted forth To join the lawless torong.

How fair was Bodenstede! But deeds the Frenchmen wrought Among her pleasant summer fields No peaceful harvest brought.

The people seized the soldiers, And bore them to the strand, And shipped them to a barren shore

Within a hostile land, And then returned rejoicing : But he, the nations' fate, Quickly dispatched a mightier corps

To hold the conquered state. Atas for Bodenstede! How sad the sun arose

That day the foreign flags returned Before his golden close! Rode forth Commander Mortier: "Seize all the men," he cried,

"Who rule in Bodenstede. And place them side by side: "And at the signal given, Shoot each man where he stands

They that remain shall live to see Their blazing homes and lands," Then forward stepped the pastor; His eyes were bright as flame:

"It any man is shot, shoot me Mine is the guilt and shame. "I bade the people to revolt, And drag the men away;

I sent them to the Swedish shore;

Twas I urged on the fray. "Hear me, O sire, how innocent These people surely are; I pray thee burn my guilty root

But all these others spare," The stern Commander Mortier Heard what the pastor said, One moment stood irresolute,

Then turned his horse's head;

And putting spurs to flank, they rode Out from the wondering town; And as they passed, the word was given, "These fisher-huts burn down!

A few poor sheds where no man dwelt! No blood that day was spilled. And thus Commander Morrier The Emperor's law fulfilled.

Those battle-fields are overgrown, Dim is their glory now: But Virtue ever wakeful shines The stars are on her brow,

The pastor in his flowing gown, Before the armed host. Joyfully giving life and home It he may save the lost;

Deep in the German father-land This rooted memory grows, And safe within the children's heart The living picture glows. Annie Fields, in Harper's Magazine for Colored Glass.

Colors are usually imparted to glass in the melting-pot; for blue, oxide of cobalt is used—for red or gold, sub-oxid of copper. Glass is stained by painting its surface with a fusible colored glass ground to a fine powder and mixed up with gumwater or turpentine, and, after drying, then heating the painted glass in a furnace until the coating fuses. Collodion snellac, or spirit-copal varnishes, property colored with one of the coal-tar eyes, can in some cases be advantageously employed as a colored wash for white glass.

A Sandwich Island Millionaire. The richest person upon the Sandwich Islands is Claus Spreckles, of Honolulu. A few years ago he was laughed at when he purchased 10,000 acres of land for 10 cents an acre, as the tract was at the foot of an extinct volcano, and covered with a crust on the surface like a flagstone walk. He broke up this crust, mixed the dust with a small quantity of vegetable mould, thoroughly irrigated the soil thus formed and planted sugar-cane. To-day he is a millionaire.

The Shoeblack Plant.

In many parts of Asia there is a plant known as the "shoeblack," which, although it will not grow in our gardens, is not unknowh in hothouses. It possesses brilliant scarlet flowers, which yield a thick, gummy juice, which gives a varnishlike polish to anything to which it may be applied; hence, its use as a substitute for blacking on boots and shoes. The ladies of China are said to use the same plant for dyoing their hair and evebrows.

"I Am All Played Out,"

is a common complaint. It you feel so, get a package of Kidney-Wort and take it and you will at once feel its tonic power. It renews the healthy action of the kidneys, bowels and liver, and thus restores the natural life and strength to the weary body. It can now be had in either dry or liquid form, and in either way is always prompt and efficient in action.

will see, with even but little consideration, that the old house of Wana maker & Brown is in a position to give superior advantages to its patrons

These advantages consist in supplying goods that are:

1st--PROPERLY MADE UP. 2d--MATERIALS SHRUNKEN. 3d--EXCELLENT IN FIT.

The cut and finish of our Men's and Boys' Clothing is of a character to outrank the Ordinary Custom Work.

We found out long ago, by actual experience, that garments bought up from the wholesale stocks are by no means so reliable as those made up under our own personal supervision-neither will the cut and general style (after wearing) bear a comparison to our own careful make.

By making our own goods the

Producer and Consumer

are brought in direct contact, and in consequence the latter reaps no small advantage.

Boys' and Youths' Clothing.

This forms a very considerable portion of our business, and we are satisfied that we can convince any one that we always offer the handsomest and best finished goods known to the trade do not always mean good value! On this head we shall always say that when style and quality are taken into account we are not under any circumstances ever undersold, and seldom are the prices, to which dealers fall, as low as our first and only one fixed price to everybody.

Our Stock is Enormous,

Especially in Overcoats.

Inviting a visit and recommendations of friends, we remain. Very respectfully
