PSYCHOMETRIC BIOGRAPHY.

DR. WM BAKER FAHNESTOCK. HIS CHARACTER READ BY A MEDICAL

What the Doctor Thinks of It. [The following from Miller's Psychometric Circular, Brooklyn, is republished with some corrections and additions which were in the original copy furnished to the Circular, but for some reason suppressed by it. We also add Dr. F's. own views on the readings.—Eds. Intellerner.]

The following is Mrs. Anna Kimball's "reading" of Dr. Wm. B. Falmestock's writing, October, 1881. The reading was recorded as spoken by Mrs. Kimball-the lady knowing nothing whatever of the nature of source of the writing she was psychometrizing:

"We have a character here that corresponds to the stalwart oak, great arching branches that stretch out on every side, making room beneath it for many weaker forms to unfold power and be sheltered crewhile. How woolngly it gathers in all whom it attracts? How tenderly it overshadows, never coercing, ever unfolding from within, strengthening the soul for action, never sustaining the body at the soul's expense or impoverishment.

"This gentleman is a rare spiritualist, all space is peopled with enfranchised spirits, who associate together in his consciousness. He has a powerful will. As I hold his letter in my Land it almost overcomes the power of my spirit inspirers who environ me when giving a soul reading, and co-operately as the soul aura is gathered upon my brain and organism we give the result. His will clouds my mind, his magnetic power is great, it lifts me up into the realm of imponderable matter. He is very radical-self-centred, almost isolated in his thought-so ultra it is to most minds! This is a highly illuminated man, and one who is connected with many spirits who are associated with him a all his investigatious and experiments.

"They are very humanitarian, come here to unfold or reveal ways of alleviating the system.

As it has been proved by thousands that China and Glass Department, human suffering. while in the crucible for retining purposes. " His school is one that gives the man mastery over its human environment where it has been a servant of the crude physical. All of this gentleman's pupils come under spirit influence of soul power in his sphere, through his wondrous magnetic power, and that of the javisibles. He possesses knowledge that comes from the inner spirit circles, that is most important in unlocking secret laboratories in nature, and in giving each individual soul its immortal dower of soul wealth. "The universe is our home, and all worlds our neighbors, there is open combe gleaned, products to be exchanged to enrich our world and its people. The spirit tells me this. "I do not think this gentleman is familiar with the great purposes of spirits I see in close association with him. His real work has but just commenced, only a groundwork or basis has been formed, upon which his school can build, after he moves on in soul-life and unfold-

"He is a most reverent worshiper of the spirit, feels his relationship to the Divine Centre, and yet I think he never sees anything more so than in himself. Sees no God, only as it is revealed in himself, through his personal power. He is no ege-tist, but feels his soul all powerful and rests in its unlimited power to study and interpret other organic structures. I think he is a true worshiper of God, ever looking within for his knowledge of the spirit. He is a soul-ray from the Over-Soul.

"He is not popular, his ideas are often hurled back upon him, so few can accept them or relate them to what they treasure as pure fact. He works against powerful tides, that would overcome one less selfcentred. His soul rises above every tidal wave of antagonism; but they do not touch him.

"He cares as little for popularity and all its trains of evils, as the sun for the ocean's tempest and storm. He is a san in soul form and will break up much old effete thought. Is most iconoclastic, although far from aggressive or self-willed. His atmosphere disintegrates many of our household gods as the sun melts the beautiful frost work of lace upon our windows in winter. I see in him one of the greatest powers that has ever found its way to the front, and much too large a soul for measurement in the personal and physical, such as we usually have to delineate. Spirits call him A Ray from the All Parent, Father and Mother Soul.

Dr. Fahnestock's Views.

With respect to Mrs. Kimball's reading of my character, I have but to say that I can understand the effect that charreter would have upon the sensitive brain and organism-but that "animal magnetism" (or "magnetism" of any kind), or a supposed something, that has no intelligence and no quality that can be seen, heard, tasted, smelt or felt, should have the effect that can only result from mind, intelligence or character I cannot conceive of, and am constrained to ask: Can magnetism give soul readers corrrect ideas of the various characters that are usually presented for delineation? Must they not really get ther information of character from the individual man or woman, and not from magnetism, which has no mental qualities?

Radical, self-centered and isolated in thought I may be, but I insist that all who embrace my views do so by realizing the truths that I may impart, and not from magnetism that is supposed to eliminate from myself or spirit.

Not being clearminded, I know that I and not familiar with the great purposes of Paper Curtains to Dealers at spirits that are seen in close association with me and feel that my work has just commenced.

I see no personal God, because it is impossible for finite minds to conceive of a best. Curtain Poles in assortment. eing in human form, that posse infinite qualities of omniscience, omnipre sense and omnipotence. God surely reigns! for without Him matter and spirit could ccase to exist I certainly feel my relationship to, and my dependance upon the Divine centre for all, although I look within and feel that as an individual soul I must put my shoulder to the wheel and use the power that is given me if I desire to accomplish anything. I am iconoclastic only where truth is held a slave. WM. BAKER FAHNESTOCK.

"I Am All Played Out," is a common complaint. It you feel so, get a package of Kidney-Wort and take it and you will at once feel its tonic power. It renews the healthy action of the kidneys, bowels and liver, and thus restores the natural life and strength to the weary body. It can now be had in either dry or liquid form, and in either way is always prompt and efficient in action.
