C. M. Felton, general superintendent of the Pan Handle railroad, has tendered his resignation, to take effect at once. Mr. Felton will assume the position of general superintendent of the New York & New England railway.

A fight occurred on "the Eastern shore" in Carolina county, between two farmers named James L. Payne and John Blanche, who was a tenant of Payne. The difficulty arose from the non-payment of rent.

The report states that Payne was seriously hurt. The men fought with clubs. Mrs. Elizabeth Haltem, of Philadelphia, twenty-two years old, who was only three weeks a bride, was found dead in bed at No. 1102 Poplar street yesterday morning.

She had complained of pain at her heart and disease of that organ is believed to have caused her death. The hat factory of Cummings, Barry & Co., at Orange, N. J., caught fire and the flames spread to a coal yard and five dwellings opposite, all of which were almost entirely destroyed. Three hundred men were thrown out of employment.

The total loss is about $60,000. The shooting match of Dr. Carver against Messrs. Gordon and Hobson, each staking a hundred pounds, Dr. Carver standing at 32 yards and Messrs. Gordon and Hobson at 24 yards, and both the latter using only one hand, came off. Dr. Carver killed 67 pigeons out of 100, Mr. Gordon killed 56 and Mr. Hobson 52.

E. D. Hopkins, in St. Johnsburg, Va., who has had three former trials and two convictions in transactions as agent for the Fire association of Philadelphia, has been tried for the possession of goods belonging to the Fire association. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The case will go to the supreme court on exceptions.

Joseph Madison, aged 23, of Spragueville, Monroe county, Pa., attempted suicide by shooting himself with a gun. Not succeeding in the attempt, he walked a mile, with blood flowing from the wound, and drowned himself in Brodhead's creek. Giant Powder Blows up a Depot. The handsome new station of the New York, Susquehanna & Western railroad at Washingtonville, Sussex county, N. J., was totally destroyed by an explosion of giant powder, believed to have been the work of parties antagonistic to the new company. Several residences in the vicinity of the destroyed buildings were damaged by the explosion.

A Girl Tortured by Ruffians. The Harrison county, Ind., ruffians, who recently so barbarously beat Philip Borden, returned to his home on Thursday night, took his stepdaughter, aged nineteen years, out and put a rope around her neck to force her to reveal facts about her stepfather. She refused and they hung her up to the limb of a tree, where she hung until unconscious. They repeated the operation and left the girl apparently dead, but she regained consciousness. She will, however, probably die.

reference looking to the overthrow of "boss rule" and the elimination of the pernicious "spoils system" and its kindred evils from the administration of public affairs. This of the utmost importance that those fifty thousand uneducated voters who supported the independent candidacy of Hon. Charles S. Wolfe for the office of state treasurer as a solemn protest against ring domination, together with the scores of thousands of liberty-loving citizens who are ready to join in the next revolt against "bossism," shall be worthily represented at this conference.

L. D. McKee, Chairman. FRANK WILLIAMS LEECH, Secretary. Not Bitten by a Tarantula. The friends of Mr. Alex. R. Shephard disbelieve the story which has been circulated to the effect that he has recently been bitten by a tarantula. They regard the statement as merely a revival of an old story, Governor Shephard having received a letter from an spider who he had taken to Mexico, from which he suffered some inconvenience. His attorney in Washington has received letters from Governor Shephard, written within two weeks, in which the latter said that he was in perfect health.

A Thing Mrs. Garfield Regrets. It is now reported that Mrs. Garfield has frequently spoken of one feature above all others in the president's treatment, that she regretted the most. This was the fact that the president was never allowed to talk about the danger of death, or to speak as he would have done had he been allowed to think that he was going to die. Whenever he approached this subject he was stopped in his talking, and diverted from it by admonitions "not to lose courage." Mrs. Garfield says that often she wanted to talk to the president upon matters which it was almost imperative that there should be conversation before he died, but she restrained herself, and the president passed away without her having that opportunity. In connection with the revival of the quarrel between the doctors who did and the doctors who did not attend the late President Garfield during his sickness it is asserted that he thought all along that Dr. Weaver, of Philadelphia, was the surgeon in charge of the case. His mind was never disabused of that impression, and he carried it with him to the grave. This report would seem, however, to be contradicted by the fact that President Garfield had an opportunity to see by the bulletins published in his daily that Dr. Bliss' name headed the list as the surgeon in charge. Also, he could not help being aware that Dr. Bliss was not only in charge, but that he bore the main burden of the exhausting and unremitting attention the case required night and day.

Marrying People. The "church choir" which produces "Patience" here next Tuesday evening has had a curious history since it started on the road with comic operas. But few of the original party remain in it. There have been 26 weddings and as many couples have retired to make room for others. The marrying infection started early. Couples thrown together, together, under all sorts of circumstances learned to love and almost before the other members discovered the tender attachment had married and announced their intention of settling down. Their places were kept constantly filled and the new people introduced followed the routine of singing, falling in love, hitching and leaving. There are several matches now under way, and the holiday season will no doubt witness the solemnization of the nuptials of one or two couples in the party.

THE HOUSEHOLD MARKET. SATURDAY DEC. 17.—As Christmas approaches the market presents a more attractive appearance. In addition to the usual staples we see on many of the stands of our country cousins baskets of holly, spruce, evergreen, wreaths of laurel and spruce and evergreen, pretty Christmas cards and other designs in prepared grasses and leaves, while in the angles of Centre Square are displayed a fair but not very large supply of Christmas trees—real, spruce, juniper, laurel and other specimens. The trees are sold from 25 cents up and trees greens for 10 to 12 per yard. Crosses, wreaths, etc., were offered at prices ranging from 15¢ to 50¢. The supply of poultry was fair, but superior quality. Ordinary turkeys sold for about 10¢ per pound, live weight, and 12 to 14¢ for canned. Heavy birds brought a few cents more per pound. Butter sold readily at 35¢ to 38¢. Steat and fish were unchanged in price, and fruits and vegetables were a trifle higher.
