Bill Nye in the Detroit Free Press. In the early history of Cummius city, when Calamity and Lengthy Johnston and Tapeworm Charlie were the bon-ton of the new gold camp, there was a man whom we will call Dr. Farrar, who went there partially to assay for the camp and partially to wear out his young life. Dr. Farrar had a pretty uphill job of it from the start, for the mines hadn't boomed very fast at first, and a good many of the boys sent their samples of ore to Salt Lake or Denver for assay, and the rest of them used to salt his flux and get a big showing and then stand him up for his pay. One honest miner gilded the pestie one night in the assay office, and sold his gropher hole on Virginia Hill the next day on an assay of $1,528 to the ton.

After a while Dr. Farrar found that he had to lock up his mortar and flux in his trunk and sleep with his crucibles, or his reputation as an assayist would become a by-word and a stench in the nostrils of the pilgrim with the plug hat, and the tender foot would say "fie upon him," and spit upon him and smite him on the bugle.

On the top of all this an injurious report got out over the camp reflecting upon the morality of Dr. Farrar. Society was in a crude state and most every stove-pipe in town had been bored so full of bullet holes that it wouldn't draw, and there was a general feeling of insecurity.

Most every one said that unless steps were taken to quiet things a little before long, there would be music by the entire

It was generally decided that the vigilanters would have to begin on Dr. Farrar. The town was getting a bad reputation outside, and something must be done. The committee, however, was not in working order, as a part of the number had gone over toward Last Chance on a placer stampede, and a half a dozen more were in Laramie on district court business. However, it was decided that two members of the committee, whom we will call Trustworthy Kersikes and "The Annihilator" were delegated to arm themselves and drive Dr. Farrar out of town or inform him that they would shoot him on sight.

Great care was used to prevent Dr. Farrar from getting any premature notice of this arrangement, because those who knew | package. his very shrinking and gentle disposition were sure that if he were to drop on the programme he would skip the camp, and the amusement would have to be post-

It was therefore decided that Trustworty Kersikes and "The Annihilator" should go down to the assay office armed and prepared to either scare the assayer to death or spatter his quivering flesh all over Pole Cat avenue.

About opposite the palatial dugout occupied by Calamity, the avengers met Dr.

He had just been down to Sam Wood's and hoisted in about six fingers of what gives health and beauty. was known at that time as Vinegar Hill Sheep Dip. It was way-billed over the Union Pacific as "liquid crime."

The avengers stood back a moment to give the fugitive a chance to escape if he wanted to, but he didn't avail himself of

He seemed to court death. He simply walked up to Trustworthy Kersikes and twisted the double barreled shotgun out of his hands like a flash. Then he pulled it on the Annihilator and told him to throw up his hands. Calmly as though he were making an assay on Gilt Edge blossom rock, Dr. Farrar went through the pockets of the avengers. The six-shooters he stowed away in the bust of his pantaloons, and the double-barreled shotgun he broke over a pine log and threw it up on the woodshed.

Then he told the avengers that he would spare their unprofitable lives this trip, but if they ever tried to kill him again there would be a good dea! of hilarity on the Main street. He said he was not of a revengeful disposition, but that if this thing was repeated every evening, with a matince for ladies and children every Saturday afternoon, he would get a repeating hee handle and clean out the entire vigi lance committee.

Doctor Farrar said he had never been looked upon as quarrelsome or deadly man at all; he was just a plain, everyday style of citizen without any consuming ambition to fill the world with funerals and hang a sable pall of mourning over the land, but if the vigilance committee wanted to make an example of him and would give him notice enough so that he could arm himself with an old salt bag full of convalescent eggs and an old pick handle, he would be willing to abide by the result.

The committee turned in silent scorn and left him, and the disagreeable subject was never broached again afterward. -

In order to meet the demand we have

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

In order to meet the demand we have made extensive improvements in our room and otherwise extended our facil ities to present our spring offering of Select and Choice FOREIGN NOVELTIES to arrive about the First or Feetvary. We will be able to please the most arthetic as well as the general class of trade. A great desideratum among our people seems to be a cheap article in Clothing. There is no good in it We have tried it and found it don't pay. We will wager one of our $30 Overcoats will last three seasons hard wear and look genteel, while a $20 Overcoat will hardly be recognized after one season's wear. Where is the economy in buying trash? Few persons are competent judges of fine articles of Clothing done up in first-class style: therefore, we invite special attention to our establishment, where attention to our establishment, where can be found at all times the very best in the market, at prices as reasonable as can be expected. Greene has treated over 3,990 patients since January 1st, 1880, made up largely from those turned away as incurable by other M. D.s. Over 1,500 deaths have occurred under others' practices, and not a half-dozen using his remedies. Most of the 1,500 have died prenaturely. Physicians have lost their wives, brothers and and druggists; their wives and children during this time. Over L000 persons have been cured, and all benefited, by his methods, with a few exceptions, and the citizens will bear him witness that he has never guaranteed to cure any one or forfelt $1 or $1,000; that he has not thrust his pictured face into their houses or on the fences, in the disgusting Pinkham style, so common to quack venders of nostrums. His claim is simply to cure all the various ills of manking by external applications of remedials, and that he does not make a drug shop of the stomach, and he will before leaving miblish a large namplet containing leaving publish a large pamphlet containing hundreds of rames of persons cured in this city and county, many of them very extraor-dinary. Brandy as a Medicine. The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Research Obl. Wine Store, by a prominent practising physichin of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those at-

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victime, With a purely philanthropic motive we pre-sent to the favorable notice of invalids—espe-cially those afficied with that iniscrable di-

A Sovereign Remedy or all their flis and aches. Be ft, however strictly understood that we prescribe and no but one article, and that is REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young friend, H. E. SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as fer as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandle: no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various

A hard-working farmer had been subjected A hard-working farmer had been adviced with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his dict to crackers and state bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Mcthodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against his kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he tooked up with astonishment but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He as the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken be was a sound man, will, a stomach capable of digesting anything which helchose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of year little.
