The Annual Plunder.

The annual report of the state treasurer, showing how the state collects and disburses some seven million dollars an. nually, is a document of great length and places, and of those who are contested the of more than correspondingly great in terest, though necessarily of not suffiminor expenditures which are classified Besides, experience has shown that dele-"expenses of government," " public grounds and buildings," " House " and " Senate," and that wide-reaching term " miscellaneous." The other leading items of expenditures are explicit enough to at least reveal the character if not the propriety of them, but the sortment of Macks and Killackys, Forgeneral classes we have specified, it is readily to be seen, may cover a multitude of sins. The judges are an expensive luxury and the National Guard likewise; the schools get no more then their share of the public moneys and likely only a small part of the appropriations for charities is ing cost $283,637.29, exclusive of $25,-854.10 spent on the Legislative Record, most of which is a swindle on the state, as the contractor fails to comply with his obligation, and renders his publication worthless by his breach of contract and his claim for pay against the state invalid. $30,000 interest on agricultural college land scrip fund is another healthy item. But it is in the classes of expenditures we have singled out for special animadversion that appear most boldly, the reasons for suspicion of fraud and wrongdoing; and the state treasurer's report is made up in such a wonderful system of classification that it has to be searched all through to find the different jobs which play the harlequin first under one head and then under the other; " sup-Lichty, to whose laborious and wellplies and contracts," "House" and directed efforts is largely due the in-"Senate" are some of the titles in which creasing success of these displays. In general terms they sughas shown what can be done in our comgest the pilfering which has been going on "on the hill" for years, and if the bills on file could be examined in detail they would no doubt strongly loth to believe that a successful general confirm this suspicion. That notorious rooster, Harry Huhn, chief clerk of the House, drew $3,972 compensation, and, besides this, $6,696.27 for " contingent expenses," $187.41 for

" locks, shelving. &c;" $1,605.84 for repairs;" $101.47 for ventilation, locks, &c. ; $2,000 for incidental expenses, $200 for "indexes to journal," and $50 for expert on ventilation. How much of that 'total $10,843.99, draw by Huhn, besides his " compensation," was honestly spent for necessaries, may be inferred by those who know the character of the Slums"-"SheDies of Mania-a-Potu at the man who handled the money. Surely the subject needs " ventilation," and the treasury ought to have "locks" against such raids and such raiders.

Wednesday Morning .- Com'th vs. James Donnelly, of this city. The defendant was charged with having resisted and assaulted Officer Leman, of the city police force, on the night of the 26th of December in Centre square. At this time Officers Creamer and Leman were attempting to arrest Patrick Burns, who was drunk, with the defendant and others. The latter eaught hold of Leaman's throat and refused to let go until other officers assisted, when both men were arrested. The defense was that Donnelly ran into the crowd because he thought there was a tight, and if he did touch Leman he knew nothing about it and had no idea of attempting to rescue Burns. Verdict, guilty ;" sentenced to two months in
